Asks Use of Troops to Curb Arms Strikes

BAR OPENS NEW FIGHT FOR REIN ON BUREAU RULE

U.S. Liberty Periled, Committee Warns.

Warning that the United States is letting liberty slip thru its fingers, the American Bar association launched a new drive here yesterday for a judicial curb on the power of federal agencies to rule the nation by burocratic regulations, decisions, and orders.

The action was taken by the bar's house of delegates, which is composed of representatives from all 48 states, at the opening of a two day meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The delegates approved a report in which the association's committee on administrative law championed limitations on governmental administrative agencies.

This report took issue with President Roosevelt on his veto last December of the Walter-Logan bill, which sought to restrict the powers exercised by more than 120 federal agencies.

Support of New Bill Sought.

It called upon patriotic, professional, business, labor, and farm organizations to support the successor bill, which embodies most of the principles of the Walter-Logan bill. The new measure, now pending in the senate judiciary committee, is known as the Hatch administrative reform bill.

The bar delegates said legislation to halt the dictatorial trend of federal agencies and to establish rule by law instead of rule by men must contain the following principles:

1. Provision for judicial review of agency rules, with independent selection of administrative hearing officers to assure their independent judgment, and with provision for formal hearings before the issuance of rules.

2. Segregation of prosecuting and judicial functions in the administrative process and declared standards of fair and impartial procedure.

3. Limitations on the use of investigatory powers, subpenas, and publicity by administrative agencies.

Report Delves Into History.

The committee's report delved searchingly into the history of America. It cited the work of the framers of the constitution to establish a form of government free of tyranny.

It said a weakening of the nation's constitutional government began in the 1880's, a period corresponding in general with that in which American students returned from European universities to teach in American schools.

In addition to blaming this as a source of infiltration of ideas forming the basis of totalitarianism, the committee said public schools and colleges have failed properly to teach the fundamentals of America's history and government.

Nation Only Oasis, Says Report.

"We are once again the only oasis in the desert of totalitarianism," the report said, "and there are those among us—some willfully and others ignorantly—who are attempting to poison our wells of liberty.

"The task is ours to preserve the republic, as was recognized by Franklin, while the task of the men who labored at Philadelphia in the summer of 1787 was to frame a system of government whereby that republic could be preserved.

"The people of 1776 and 1787 had experienced totalitarianism. They knew its tyranny, its stupidity, its burdens on both body and soul, and it was no mere declaration when Patrick Henry, for example, declared that he knew not what course others may take, but as for him, give him liberty or give him death!

Intent of Founders Cited.

"We would further add that it is asserted by most students of government that a totalitarian government is more efficient than a republican form of government. But this was known to the men of 1776 and 1787 and they aimed at creating a safe government under which liberty for the individual could live."

The delegates refused to approve a proposal for a federal law on election frauds, the vote being tied, 66 to 66, after heated debate. A majority was necessary for passage. Opponents charged the proposal would permit vote snooping by the federal government.

HOFFMAN'S BILL SEEKS TO GUARD RIGHT TO WORK

Loss of Time Told by Manufacturers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—The use of troops to insure operation of strikebound armaments plants whenever it is determined that a majority of the employés oppose a work stoppage was proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.].

At the same time the National Association of Manufacturers, sounding a warning of grave consequences of the strike wave in armaments industries, announced a six point anti-strike program, and Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, declared after a White House conference that President Roosevelt will issue an executive order within the next day or two setting up a special 11 member mediation board to handle labor disputes affecting preparedness production.

Secret Balloting Provided.

Representative Hoffman's measure provides specifically that whenever production of armaments material under H. R. 1776 is stopped, delayed, or interfered with by a strike or picket line the justice department shall hold within 48 hours an election at which the employés would vote by secret ballot on the question of returning to work, leaving the pending disputes to further negotiation.

If the majority of the employés did not favor continuing the strike the bill provides that the Federal Bureau of Investigation would certify this fact to the commanding officer of the army in the district and the army would take all necessary measures to enable employés to work.

Any one interfering could be imprisoned for as much as one year or fined $1,000.

Figures Show Labor Loss.

The antistrike program of the National Association of Manufacturers was prepared by the association's labor committee and will be submitted at the next meeting of the NAM board of directors.

In announcing the program, the association's labor committee warned that if strikes continue at their present rate thruout 1941 there will be an increase of 82 per cent in man days lost over 1940.

During the last half of last year, when the rearmament program, greatest in the nation's peacetime history, was being launched, there were 3,908,922 man days lost as a result of labor disputes. This was approximately 1,500,000 more than in the first half of the year. The total so far this year is almost 1,875,000, records show.

Find Bottlenecks Created.

"Industrial disputes have already seriously threatened production," the committee declared. "In the case of several strikes, bottlenecks have been created which reduce production to a much greater extent than is involved in the particular controversies.

"The National Association of Manufacturers believes it is the function of industry to produce the goods needed for national defense. This requires the full coöperation of both management and labor. Our position is that we favor the widest possible use of all facilities of mediation and conciliation.

"It is recognized that despite mediation and conciliation, many stoppages of production may occur. We do not expect disputes to cease. We believe, however, that the gravity of the crisis demands that a method be set up whereby employers and employés voluntarily settle their disputes without stopping production."

Favor 40 Day "Cool-Off."

Chief basis of the NAM antistrike program is a 40 day cooling off period which would have to be observed by both employers and workers. Other points include the appointment of a mediation board by President Roosevelt, outlawing of jurisdictional disputes between different unions working on rearmament contracts, secret strike vote for all workers, and when all else fails legislative action directed at employers and workers bringing the national labor relations act to bear and permitting the courts to halt rearmament strikes.

U. S. AND BRITISH UNION IS URGED

English Laborite Voices His Hopes on Radio.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 17.—International federation was advocated by two leading British parliamentarians tonight as part of the "now order" after the war.

Broadcasting to America Britain's appreciation of President Roosevelt's lease-lend law, Josiah C. Wedgwood, prominent Labor member of parliament, declared that altho the league of nations failed he hoped a permanent union between America and Britain would be extended to all democratically governed countries, possibly even to postwar Germany.

Suggests India Join.

"India and our colonies—some as states, some as territories under federal rule—might come in," he suggested, "and Holland, Denmark, Iceland, Norway and China might welcome such union. Once the Germans, democratically governed, have exterminated Hitler and his gang why shouldn't they too come in?"

Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare, addressing Czecho-Slovak soldiers in London, said that a "close Polish-Czech union might become the nucleus of a much wider federal structure in central Europe."

Set Up Coördinating Machinery.

The British government, it was disclosed, already is setting up new coördinating machinery to take the fullest advantage of American aid and to tighten British-American ties. Joint economic measures to strengthen the blockade of Germany, development of a common line of wartime propaganda are planned, according to the Daily Telegraph.

Victors in Desert Tank War See More Tanks in Making

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 17. — Two tank officers, just back from Libya, today visited one of Britain's vast tank factories, and told how the tanks produced in the factory were used by Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's army of the Nile to drive the Italians out of Egypt and dash to Bengazi.

They spoke during the lunch hour to workers who included women and young boys. American correspondents were present during the speeches and later toured the factory.

"The Italians used heavy guns and good equipment," one officer said, "but our tanks were the things that did the trick for us. On one occasion we advanced 160 miles across sand in 30 hours."

The other officer told how an Australian tank corps held off a superior Italian force all day until reinforcements arrived. The corps' ammunition ran so low at one time, he said, that an army truck had to run thru fire to replenish it.

24 Hours Inside Tank.

The officers described the experience of remaining inside tanks as long as 24 hours and carrying their blankets tied outside the rear of the tanks because of lack of room inside.

They told of attacking sometimes with a smoke screen protection and sometimes in darkness, but more often in daylight, varying tactics with conditions and sometimes getting artillery, naval, and air force support.

Often overheard in the factory conversations was Gen. Wavell's declaration that superiority of British tanks over Italian tanks was a large factor in the African successes.

Women at Electric Machines.

A number of the workers were women and it was an odd sight to see pretty girls in flowered dresses tending electric camshaft borers. The operator of an electric rivet heater was a 12 year old boy.

Men, women, and boys in the plant work seven days a week. The average shift is 10 working hours with time for eating in the factory restaurant and other relaxation. Concerts and various entertainments are offered nightly in the large auditorium and there are such health safeguards as a weekly sunbath.

This correspondent had visited the factory nine months ago. Now it was greatly expanded and speeded up, its works turning out 6,200 parts and assembling them into cruiser tanks.

The vast tank works—built 11 months ago on what once was a cow pasture—seems to be the answer to the recent plea of Lieut. Gen. Sir Ronald Adam, head of Britain's northern command, that "tanks, tanks, and yet more tanks" are the best defense against invasion, which is Hitler's "only chance of winning."

Improve Production.

Improvements in production methods were obvious on this second visit to the factory. An indication of the precision standard maintained is that the jigs which guide the drills and cutters and hold the armor plate in exact position for welding must be accurate to one one-thousandth of an inch.

Economy also is almost as important, when high grade steel is greatly in demand. Correspondents saw steel shavings collected from each machine tool and sorted to be melted and recast into new parts. The oil used to cool the cutting tools is separated from the shavings by a centrifuge resembling a cream separator. The oil then is filtered for reuse.

Hundreds of Processes.

It would take a book to describe the hundreds of processes by which gear cutters, shapers, drills, and tooth rounding machines fashion the multitudinous parts. More and more work is being done by automatic machines. Cylinders, for instance, are completely bored and shaped without touching human hands.

Tank motors are built completely in this factory and given a six hour running test before being installed

IOWA HOUSE PASSES BILL TO TAKE BLOOD FROM TIPSY DRIVERS

Des Moines, Ia., March 17 (AP).—The Iowa house passed today a bill to permit the forcible extraction of a half teaspoon of blood from a motorist's arm in drunken driving cases.

The bill now goes to the senate. It provides that peace officers may direct a court approved physician to take two samples of blood of an arrested driver, one for use by the prosecution, the other by the defense, with the medical fee to be "a taxable court cost."

The bill does not define degrees of intoxication.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—A sensational tip to the United States government that a German submarine was headed for American waters to disrupt shipping of war materials to Britain was branded tonight by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] as an attempt by the British "to frighten the state department and the American people."

It was learned definitely that information of a long range Nazi submarine capable of operating over an area of thousands of miles, sent to start raiding operations off New York harbor, had been furnished the state department by foreign sources.

Wheeler Names Halifax.

Wheeler, leader of the senate non-interventionists, declared that he had information that Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, had passed along the tip to the state department. None of the executive departments would comment upon the report, which created a stir in Washington and New York, both already feverish with war hysteria.

"Apparently our own army and navy and state department intelligence services had no information regarding this 'warning' of a submarine," said Wheeler. "It looks like another of the many long strides the administration is taking towards war."

The Montana senator, who led the opposition drive in the senate against adoption of the dictator bill, added that Lord Halifax "obviously was interested in stirring up the American people on behalf of his government."

Terms of the Tip.

The British ambassador had called at the state department today. According to reliable information, the tip to this government expressed belief the submarine was to be sent into the American neutrality zone by the Nazis with instructions to disorganize present shipping lanes and sink ships carrying supplies to Britian. No details were given on where the submarine was presently located.

It was stated in noninterventionist circles that the report might have been designed to prompt the United States to launch immediately on a naval convoy system for supply ships.

From the British Embassy.

[By the New York News.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—The British warning that a Nazi submarine is on the way to blockade New York harbor isn't propaganda—because it wasn't released at a press conference. So S. L. Childs, counselor of the British embassy, declared tonight. He added:

"His lordship [Lord Halifax, British ambassador] never assumed for a moment he was speaking for the record. We [members of the embassy staff] did not become disturbed about the publicity, however, until Senator Wheeler tonight denounced the statement of Lord Halifax. It must be obvious to the American people that, were we interested in propaganda, we would have released the story at a press conference."

A NEW COMFORT FOR NAZI ARMY— FELT SLIPPERS

BERLIN, March 17. — Felt slippers have received recognition by military authorities in Germany. It is pointed out that the felt slipper is not, however, an integral part of the soldier's equipment.

REPORT BRITAIN TO LET U. S. SHIP FOOD TO FRENCH

American Red Cross Plan Submitted.

Irish Seek U. S. Wheat

DUBLIN, March 18, Tuesday (AP).—Premier Eamon de Valera, in a broadcast to the United States, reaffirmed today Ireland's determination to let no belligerent use this country as a base of attack, and appealed to America to sell Irishmen wheat and guns.

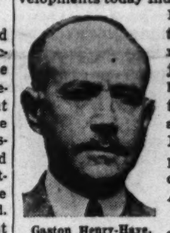
"We are in grave danger of being short in our bread supply, which will work a grievous hardship to children and the poor unless we can import wheat to fill the gap," he said.

De Valera added that Frank Aiken, the minister for coördination of defensive measures, had gone to the United States to get wheat and other essential raw materials and arms, explaining that Ireland's soldiers were "not unarmed, but we want to arm them with the best weapons available."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Developments today indicated that Great Britain, faced by the Vichy government's threat to join forces with Hitler, has agreed to lift the blockade of unoccupied France to permit passage of food cargoes from America.



Gaston Henry-Haye.

In a protracted conference with the President, Gaston Henry-Haye, the ambassador from France, received assurances that Mr. Roosevelt would endeavor to make arrangements with the British to pass food shipments to unoccupied France for distribution under the supervision of the American Red Cross in order to prevent the food from falling into the hands of the Germans. He outlined the plan to reporters upon leaving the White House.

From British quarters came the hint that Britain is willing to reëxamine the French food situation with a view to allowing certain food shipments from the United States to pass the blockade provided France establishes control of distribution satisfactory to the British government.

Welles Issues Statement.

When confirmation of the reports was sought the White House referred reporters to the state department. Thereupon Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles issued the following statement:

"The French ambassador undoubtedly has reference to a request he had submitted for emergency release of food grains for unoccupied France as cargo for two French ships now in New York. He has been informed that the President was entirely willing that this request should be raised with the American Red Cross which now has it under consideration.

"It is, of course, obvious that the American government must assure itself that the final consumption of all food sent takes place within the area of unoccupied France."

Red Cross Ready to Act.

Officials of the Red Cross said tonight that they are prepared and willing to handle distribution of food supplies in unoccupied France when an accord is reached among the United States, British, and French governments for such shipments from the United States.

The Red Cross already has sent two mercy ships to France since the collapse of that nation last summer. The first, carrying clothing, milk and vitamins for children of unoccupied France, docked at Marseilles last Thursday. The value of the cargo was $630,000. The second, the S. S. Exmouth, bearing milk, clothing and medicine, left Jersey City, N. J., today for Marseilles. The cargo was valued at $1,250,000.

The French government also wanted some cereals and grains, but Britain refused to permit this and they were unloaded from the Exmouth. The ship also was delayed until Germany notified submarine commanders to afford safe passage for the vessel.

Britain's recent refusal to lift the blockade to permit shipments of food to Nazi occupied countries, the populations of which are facing starvation, was based on the contention of the British that there would be no safeguards against seizure by the Germans.

Threaten to Convoy Ships.

Thereupon the Vichy government announced that if the British government would not lift the blockade to permit the feeding of the famishing French, the French fleet would be employed to convoy cargoes from America. Admiral Darlan in making the threat also praised the Germans for a more generous attitude than the British in regard to relief for unoccupied France. There was a clear implication that the use of the French fleet to break the British blockade would lead to a permanent alignment of what is left of the French navy with Hitler's forces.

"I was glad to find the President very much concerned about our needs," said Ambassador Henry-Haye, "and from what I have heard I expect some sort of relief to start thru the American Red Cross soon.

Agrees to Controls.

"It is not definite yet, but the President realizes we have attained a limit of physical endurance. I agreed with him that in order that nobody should be suspicious there should be controls regarding the arrival, the unloading, and distribution of food supplies.

"The French are absolutely open to any suggestions that the controls may be as direct as is necessary because we feel certain that the better informed the American public is, they will have no reason to fear about the final destination of any food supplies."

Asked what types of food supplies would be shipped, Ambassador Haye said: "We are expecting wheat because the bread ration is diminishing every day and when the slice is getting thinner every day the danger for health is getting worse and worse."

Amount Not Fixed.

He said that the amount of food supplies to be sent to France had not been fixed because, he explained, "We believe that what is shipped will be so efficiently handled that nobody will have anything to fear about the consequences of such help.

"We are expecting the greatest tonnage possible, but I have no means of giving you today any definite information about the amount. I am sure that it will prove successful and if it is successful and properly handled, it will be renewed because the needs are beyond imagination."

The ambassador said that he was not asking for the food as a gift. "We are asking for the privilege of paying for the food," he said, and added, "We want to use a part of our frozen funds to pay for it. I feel certain from what the President said that something will be worked out."

Senator Pleads for Relief.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] made an impassioned plea in the senate for action by the United States to procure lifting of the blockade for relief of starvation in Europe.

"Within its [the dictator act's] broad scope there is ample opportunity given the President for saving these helpless people," he said. "We respectfully express the hope that he will use the great power granted him in the lease-lend act to alleviate suffering among the helpless of the invaded lands.

"It must never be said of congress that the bill which they passed by a 2 to 1 vote can aid only by destruction. We believe the President can and will interest himself in working out a formula thru which food can reach those who, without his compassionate interest in their plight, must surely die of slow starvation or succumb to the ravages of pestilential disease. With great power come great responsibilities!

CLAIM 2 BRITISH BATTLESHIPS HIT BY AIR TORPEDOES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 17.—DNB, the official news agency, reported tonight that German torpedo bombers scored hits on two British battleships 25 miles west of Cape Krio on the western tip of Crete, in the Mediterranean. German pilots reported that "for a long time the two battleships were enveloped in dark smoke clouds" after the torpedoes hit their marks.

The battleships were accompanied by six cruisers and several destroyers, the pilots said. The attack was stated to have taken place yesterday afternoon.

This was the first time the existence of German torpedo planes was mentioned officially. Heretofore the Germans had specialized in Stukas [dive bombers], neglecting torpedo bombers which had been developed by their Italian allies and also by the British.

WHEAT! FRENCH READ FUTURE IN THAT ONE WORD

Fight to Make Supply Meet Bread Needs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 17.—Has France enough wheat to bake its daily bread until the 1941 crop can be harvested five months from now?

This is the grave question confronting government economic and agricultural experts. They avoid answering it by a direct yes or no, but they admit that for a great bread eating country like France the coming months will be critical ones.

In normal times, France's wheat requirements are 344,980,000 bushels. Official estimates of last fall's crop are between 146,800,000 and 164,350,000 bushels.

Supply Cut More Than Half.

Of the total wheat available each year about 36,700,000 bushels are needed for sowing and 14,680,000 bushels more are ordinarily employed by specialized industries, leaving 293,600,000 bushels for consumption. This year, the consumers' total will be slashed to less than half the usual figure. In other words, whereas every man, woman and child in France formerly ate an average of 19 ounces of wheat daily, they will now have to get along on eight ounces, and probably considerably less, a day.

The latter figure, the most optimistic one that may be given, is based only on official forecasts. What is worrying the experts is the possibility that it may be much smaller. They will not know definitely until a final checkup is made after the peasants turn over the last of their wheat stocks to government agencies at the end of March.

The bread now sold in France has only an 82 per cent wheat content, the remainder being composed of substitutes.

New Slash Feared Near.

At the first of the year, bread rations were reduced from 350 grams daily [about 12½ ounces] to 300 grams. It is understood that a new cut to 250 grams [8.8 ounces] is imminent, and that even further reductions are probable.

In order to keep consumption down, bakeries are authorized to sell only stale bread and there are heavy penalties for waste. Pastry and noodles have been abolished.

Already the bread restrictions are causing privation among the hundreds of thousands of jobless and poorly paid urban employés.

Should two or more reductions become necessary, will the great mass of Frenchmen, whose principal diet is bread, accept them without protest? This is a question that is disturbing the sleep of officials.

Many Factors Cut Crop.

The alarming wheat situation in France comes from several causes. Last fall's harvest was exceptionally low, both in quantity and quality. Bad weather, added to a farm labor shortage, war damage, and threshing difficulties, resulted in one of the worst domestic crops since the world war. To make matters worse, the Algerian wheat crop was below that of the disastrous year of 1920.

Even when the domestic wheat crop is normal, France is obliged to import an average of 36,700,000 bushels a year. Between 1920 and 1924, when the postwar harvest dropped to between 146,800,000 and 220,200,000 els a year. Now she is unable to import what she needs.

Everything Goes "Wrong."

Everything went wrong with the 1940 crop. Autumn wheat froze in the ground and had to be resown in the spring in fields that were not properly prepared. A fortnight of torrential rainfalls coincided with the harvesting season and caused serious damage thru rust in the west of France, while torrid heat burned up the wheat in the southwest. North of Paris the fields were plundered during the military debacle or harvested too late. In all parts of the country it was found after threshing that the kernels had a low specific gravity, thus curtailing the flour yields.

Threshing itself presented unprecedented difficulties. In many regions threshing machines remained idle from lack of fuel and man power. The only solution was the use of flails or primitive rollers drawn by horses or cows. Last of all, lack of transportation facilities hampered distribution.

The one thing that probably saved France from immediate disaster was a surplus from the bumper crop of two years ago, which left nearly 55,050,000 bushels on hand.

Striving to make ends meet, France is encouraging peasants, thru a good price, to turn over their stocks before March 31; acting to speed the harvest of the southern France and North African crops in June and July, and working to increase the domestic crop.

Move to Make Ends Meet.

A cheerful factor is that winter sowings were far greater than a year ago while, due to government insistence, some 2,500,000 additional acres are being planted with spring wheat. France normally plants 13,750,000 acres to wheat. If the acreage can be increased to 14,500,000, with a yield of 40 bushels to the acre, it is believed France can meet her needs.

NIEMOELLER, GERMAN U-BOAT PASTOR, DENIES HE'LL TURN CATHOLIC

The Rev. Martin Niemoeller.

BERLIN, March 17 (AP).—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller has authorized an announcement from Protestant pulpits that he does not intend to join the Catholic church, the authoritative commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, said today.

The commentary said that the Lutheran pastor, who has been in a concentration camp since 1937, requested that the world be informed he never had intended to change his religious faith.

Protestant circles in Berlin reported Feb. 4 that Niemoeller, a submarine commander in the world war, had been converted to Catholicism. Several of his friends denied the reports, as did Mrs. Niemoeller. Niemoeller has been in prison or concentration camp at Sachsenhausen for 44 months. In March, 1937, he was convicted on a charge of vilification of the Nazi state.

MEN WHO FIGHT IN TANKS MEET TANK WORKERS

The parts of the tank body are joined by welding or rivets which are heated by a heavy electrical current passing thru the rivets one after another as each is ready.

The cost of a cruiser tank is approximately $80,000. The accurate fitting required of the heavily armored parts and the cutting of the extremely hard bulletproof steel alloys, such as in the visors thru which the driver and gunners look, are among the reasons for the high cost of the tanks.

Correspondents saw these land cruisers maneuvered around a testground. They handled so well a demonstrator turned one completely around in its own length.

Two Handed Controls.

There are four gears and the tank can climb a slope of about 45 degrees. The turret of the tank mounts cannon for two pound shells and the whole turns on a hydraulic control operated by the gunner, while the tank is moving if necessary. In odd places in the turret, such as under the seats, the shells are stored. Other apparatus makes the inside appear as bewildering as the cockpit of a bombing plane.

The cruiser tank has very efficient springs and knee action for all bogie wheels. This makes the ride smooth enough to enable the gunner to use his gunsights while moving.

Combat Weaknesses.

In the office portion of the factory is the blue print and planning room where engineers devise ways to eliminate tank weaknesses. Weaknesses give the attacker advantages. One of these advantages is for the attacker to hide until the opposing tank comes close, then suddenly dash toward it from a blind angle and attack with incendiary or explosive bombs or even to jam obstructions into the tracks of the tank to immobilize it.

Another tank weakness is the difficulty of standing off attacks from several sides at once. The weight limit of tanks, of course, makes it impossible to protect all parts of the tank with armor heavy enough to withstand antitank guns or other forms of attack.

The rear and belly of the tank generally are vulnerable spots. The favorite method of wrecking a tank is to place large logs or mounds in its path. When it rears up to crawl over the obstruction, its belly becomes exposed. Gunners seek to pierce the floor plates and damage the motor.

Flame Throwers a Peril.

Mines or bombs made to explode beneath the tank will do the same thing and almost certainly put the tank out of commission.

Incendiary attacks upon tanks often are directed at the air vents necessary for carburetor and crew. Oil soaked sacking set aflame, blazing liquid, or flame throwers can put flames thru the vents to fire the interior of the tank. The rubber rims of the bogie wheels also are vulnerable to flame throwers and may be melted off, immobilizing the tank.

The thinner rear plating of the tank turret is a point often aimed at by attacking airplanes. Concentrated artillery fire can halt tanks. Many kinds of barriers, moats, ditches and other traps will prevent their advance unless the tanks have the full coöperation of their own artillery and air force.

Need Proper Support.

In general, the successful use of tanks depends greatly on complete coördination of the tanks with artillery and bombers which must prepare the way by blasting out barriers and antitank guns. Tanks also must be followed closely by infantry and supply vehicles to occupy and hold territory because tanks alone cannot actually occupy ground any more than airplanes can.

The success of German tank attacks and the failure of most allied tank counterattacks in the battle of France last spring illustrates the point.

Like an airplane crew, the tank crew also must be highly trained men of individual initiative and imagination. The German high command trained the spearhead of their war machine to do the dangerous job of infiltrating and forging the way for the hordes of less imaginative infantry behind.

LEGION LEADERS' O. K. ON AID FOR BRITAIN ACCLAIMED BY LUCAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17 [Special.]—The resolution adopted at Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday by the executive committee of the American Legion urging all practicable aid to Britain with the utmost speed was acclaimed in the senate today by Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.].

Lucas especially commended Hanford MacNider, one of the five former American Legion national commanders who comprised the subcommittee that drafted the resolution. MacNider, Lucas recalled, testified against the war dictatorship bill at a senate committee hearing.

"It is especially important to find a great patriot and distinguished citizen like Hanford MacNider on this subcommittee adopting an important resolution dealing with the defense of this country and with all possible aid to England as speedily as possible," Lucas said. "I wish especially to commend Mr. MacNider for his patriotism and loyalty in attempting to cement unity of thought and action in this crisis by being one of the committee which gave to the nation this resolution."

MATSUOKA TO SEE SOVIET LEADERS ON WAY TO BERLIN

TOKIO, Japan, March 18, Tuesday (AP).—An announcement that Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese foreign minister, would make a two day stop in Moscow en route to Berlin and Rome for a conference with axis leaders was deemed highly significant by observers here today. The train bearing the minister crossed the Siberian frontier yesterday.

Before making any further moves to the south or collaborating more actively with her axis partners, Japan was believed to be seeking two assurances—a guarantee of harmony with soviet Russia on her western flank and a settlement of the conflict with China.

From an axis standpoint the success of the forthcoming conversations was believed to pivot on what Matsuoka learns in Moscow.

BRITISH TROOPS REGAIN PORT THEY LOST TO ITALIANS

Navy and Air Force Aid in Victory in Somaliland.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 17 (AP).—The recapture of Berbera, capital of British Somaliland, by troops landed from the sea under the protection of the fleet's guns and supported by armored cars attached to the air force was announced today by the British command.

The British thus went back into Somaliland from the same coastal door thru which a small force had evacuated it last summer, and the port's capture was declared to have returned practical control of the colony to the British.

Moreover, British informants said, it would permit speeding up supplies to a British column marching against Jijiga and Harrar in Ethiopia.

Armored Cars Storm Town.

The landing at Berbera was ushered in by heavy air raids on Italian positions. Then the air force's armored cars, designed primarily to supplement air operations on land in special cases, were landed with the army and took part in storming the town. About 100 Italians already were counted as prisoners. British casualties were said to be negligible.

The air offensive included a particularly heavy attack on the Italian airport at Diredawa, in Ethiopia, and was designed to keep the skies free of Italian planes during the British landing at Berbera.

The Italians hailed their occupation of Berbera seven months ago as a great victory, suggesting the disintegration of the British empire. The British tonight could point conversely to a strategic triumph valuable in their campaign against Ethiopia and Eritrea, the last areas of the Italian East African empire still in Italian control.

British Approach Jijiga.

Already British troops moving northwestward from Mogadiscio captured capital of Italian Somaliland, are reported to have penetrated nearly to Jijiga, where the road turns 50 miles westward to Harrar. Harrar is 150 miles southwest of Berbera.

Almost simultaneous with the seizure of Berbera, the British increased their pressure on Keren, mountain stronghold where Italian resistance still is stalling the drive toward Asmara, Eritrean capital, and the Red sea port of Massaua. The British communique claimed capture of important heights about Keren.

'Aid Allies' Asks Men, Convoys; Flynn Warns of Aims for War

A Plea for Warriors

New York, March 17 [Special].—The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, propaganda organization that frequently has been accused of working to get the United States into the European war, tonight declared itself in favor of utilizing American naval vessels to convoy ships carrying war materials to Britain.

The committee recommended that congress revise existing legislation so as to permit recruiting of Americans who wish to serve "voluntarily in the armed or civilian forces of those nations whose defense is necessary for American security."

The statement on the committee's aims was drafted by the national policy board of the organization whose chairman is Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget and once vice chancellor of McGill university in Toronto. He now is president of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York.

Backed by Rich Donors.

Other members of the board include Ernest W. Gibson of Brattleboro, Vt., who succeeded William Allen White as national chairman of the committee. The Emporia [Kas.] editor resigned, charging war mongering activity by members of the New York and Washington chapters.

A recent analysis of the list of financial contributors of the committee shows they are composed mostly of numerous social registerites, wealthy interventionists, international bankers, avowed Anglophiles, and Broadway and Hollywood actors and actresses.

Tonight's statement was described as the new basic policy of the committee. Our slogan, the statement said, will be "deliver the goods to Britain now."

Other Committee Aims.

The committee also advocated:

"Freezing of all foreign assets in the United States under the license system to prevent further withdrawal of axis balances.

"A firm policy in the Pacific, including: increase of American naval strength in the far east; increased aid to China; extension of embargoes on war materials to Japan; clear indication of our determination to prevent the conquest of Singapore and the Dutch East Indies; opening by the United States and Great Britain of far eastern naval bases to each other's fleets.

"Strenuous efforts to combat Nazi and totalitarian propaganda in the Americas with care to preserve civil liberties and the good neighbor policy."

The committee appealed, too, for "the full mobilization of American economic life for greater production with whatever sacrifices are necessary on the part of business, labor, agriculture, and the consumer."

'America First' Replies

New York, March 17 [Special].—John T. Flynn, outstanding economist and author and chairman of the New York chapter of the America First committee declared here tonight that it must "now be perfectly plain to the American people" that the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies is trying to get the United States into the war.

Flynn's remarks followed the announcement of a new basic policy adopted by the aid the allies committee, which advocates the convoying of ships carrying war material to Great Britain "if need be" and the enlistment of Americans in the British forces.

"Why," Flynn asked, "is this movement being fomented now? We have been told up to now that England does not need men. Winston Churchill himself told us: 'Give us the tools and we will finish the job.'

"By the passage of the lend-lease [dictatorship] bill," Mr. Flynn pointed out, "we have given him the tools. Now we are being told, 'Give us the men.'"

Recalls Other Warnings.

The text of Mr. Flynn's statement follows:

"William Allen White who organized the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies declared in January that convoying ships meant war and that he was opposed to it because it meant war.

"Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the foreign relations committee of the United States senate, who piloted the lend-lease bill thru the senate, declared in the debate that convoying ships meant war.

"So when the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies advocates convoying ships it is advocating war.

Move to Spill Blood.

"On the second point namely the enlistment of Americans in the British forces, in the last war, Winston Churchill wrote to Earl Gray, then the British secretary of state for foreign affairs, that steps be taken to induce more Americans to enlist in the British army or the Canadian army. He declared that nothing would bring Americans into the war quicker than some American blood spilled in Europe.

"Churchill reprints the letter to Gray in his book 'The World Crisis.'

"Convoying and enlistment will serve the same purpose. American seamen killed at sea. American soldiers killed on land.

"Is it not now finally and perfectly plain to the American people that this committee is trying to get us, ships, guns and men, into war?"

240,000 GERMAN TROOPS MOVE UP TO GREEK BORDER

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 17 (AP).—Germany has moved 16 divisions—perhaps 240,000 fighters—up to or within striking distance of Bulgaria's Greek frontier, a military expert reported tonight.

The 16 divisions were part of long columns of German troops which this expert said were continuing to pour toward Greece thru Hungary and Rumania to counterbalance the landing of a British expeditionary force in Greece. Nearly a third of a British force of 300,000 was reported Saturday to have been landed in Greece, with convoys still on the way.

The Bulgarian government ordered all direct contact with German troops in Bulgaria suspended to eliminate possible spying on German military contingents. The decree applied to any trader, private person, society, or organization. It was issued in connection with a new plan for feeding the German army thru the Bulgarian food ministry out of surpluses which have been accumulating for months to Germany's credit.

Bulgaria, with Rumania, also adopted new rules to reduce nonmilitary traveling to a minimum by suspending the issuance of all visas by consulates except on specific telegraphic instructions from the Bucharest and Sofia foreign offices.

THANK YOU! KING OF GREECE TELLS HIS FIGHTING MEN

Cheers 'Smashing Blow' to Italian Offensive.

ATHENS, March 17 (AP).—King George II. of Greece tonight sent his personal thanks to the Greek army for what he termed a smashing blow dealt to a week long Italian offensive which the Greeks say was personally directed by Premier Mussolini in Albania.

"You gave him [the enemy] the proper answer and taught him yet another lesson in Greek gallantry," said the message from the monarch to Greek troops.

[Military observers at Bitolj, Jugo-Slavia, said at least 15,000 Italians faced encirclement at Tepeleni.]

Dealt a Smashing Blow.

"When a week ago the enemy after long and careful preparations thought he was ready to overcome you and attempted his violent offensive in which he placed so many hopes," King George's message said, "you not only stopped him, but you dealt him a smashing blow."

The king told the army that the "whole civilized world follows with astonishment Greek feats of arms."

"You won because in your veins flows the blood of those who fought at Marathon and Thermopylae," he said. "I thank you in the name of the fatherland and you may be assured every Greek has unshakeable faith that at all costs the honor and liberty of Greece will be defended."

A government spokesman said the Italian forces showed no disposition to renew the attack on more than a minor scale today, and that their light thrusts were declared thrown back.

"Our artillery caused heavy losses to the enemy," the spokesman said.

Threat to Bomb Rome.

ROME, March 17 (AP).—The British have warned the axis that any bombing of Athens will bring a retaliatory bombing of Rome, so far unscathed in the air war, reliable quarters said today.

The British threat was said to have been conveyed to the Italian and German governments thru Vatican channels, but nothing could be learned from Vatican circles concerning the matter.

[Neither Rome nor Athens, with their monuments to rival ancient civilizations, has been bombed in the nine months that Italy has been in the war or in the four and a half months she has been at war with Greece.]

Auhagen Pleads Innocent to Alien Registry Charge

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—Friedrich Ernst Auhagen, indicted recently by a federal grand jury here on charges of failing to register as an agent for the German government, pleaded innocent today at arraignment in District court. Justice F. Dickinson Letts, at Auhagen's request, reduced his bond from $5,000 to $3,000. It was explained, on behalf of Auhagen, that he could not obtain the higher bond because of publicity given his case. His attorney was allowed 10 days to file any desired motions.

Clydeside Raid Victims Buried in Common Grave

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 17 (AP).—The unidentified dead of last week's Nazi raids on the Clydeside, shipbuilding center on the River Clyde, were buried today in a common grave in a cemetery scarred by bombs. Bits of incendiary bombs lay among the headstones in the cemetery and cases of artificial flowers were in splinters.

GERMANS DIRECT NEW BLITZ RAIDS AT BRITISH PORTS

Aim to Aid Air and Sea 'Battle of Atlantic.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 17.—The German air force is continuing its new tactic of concentrating its "blitz" raids on British ports and shipyards in an effort to supplement the spring offensive of the German U-boat fleet against British shipping.

After last week's mass air raids on Glasgow and Liverpool, today's German war communique reported air raids against the south England ports of Portsmouth, Bristol, and Avonmouth.

German long distance bombers resumed their activities in the Atlantic waters west of Ireland. The Germans declared that two armed British merchantmen displacing 4,000 tons were sunk by aerial bombs.

Assess American Aid.

German experts tell the public that the combined attacks on British shipping by U-boats, surface raiders, long distance bombers, and the simultaneous mass air raids against British ports and shipping centers will paralyze British shipping before American aid in this field can become effective. According to German naval experts, American help will be ineffective for the following reasons:

FIRST—The American merchant marine cannot afford to lend or sell any tonnage worth speaking of to England since it lacks sufficient ships for its own use.

SECOND—As a result of the United States naval building plans and because of a shortage of skilled dock yard laborers America will be unable to build new ships for England for some time to come.

THIRD—According to the German experts the ships of wood and concrete built in the world war proved a failure.

American plans to ship goods bound for England via Iceland would mean, according to the Germans, a "tremendous loss of time." In addition, the Nazis say the port of Reykjavik is unable to handle big traffic.

Renew Raids on Germany.

LONDON, March 18, Tuesday (AP).—RAF bombers renewed their assault on northwest Germany objectives last night after a one night lull due to fog, while the Nazis gave England a quiet night. Soon after dark and again just before daylight today, there was small scale German activity over widely separated districts near the east coasts of England and Scotland, but no casualties were reported. London was without an air alarm for the first time in 10 nights.

[Berlin sources said several civilians were killed and injured in German north coast areas.]

BAFFLED BY U. S. RULE ON CREDITS, HUNGARY CLAIMS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 17 (AP).—The Hungarian news agency, in what was described as an authorized comment on the blocking of Hungarian credits by the United States, said today Hungary would "take measures to defend her interests." This was not further explained. Countering American explanations that Hungarian credits were blocked because the country was under German domination, the agency declared:

"This has baffled every person with normal judgment living in Hungary. Germany has never tried to touch Hungary's sovereignty."

Friendship between Germany and Hungary, the agency said, is based "on geographic community and political and economic coöperation."

G. O. P. LEADERS IN HOUSE BACK 7 BILLION BILL

Quick Passage by Large Vote Expected.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—House passage of the seven billion dollar British arsenal bill by an overwhelming vote was predicted tonight after Republican leaders told a special conference of minority members that they expected to support the measure.

Rep. Knutson.

Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts and Representative John Taber of New York, ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, told their colleagues that congress had set a policy of supplying guns, tanks, planes, and food "to fight Hitler." They would vote, they said, to approve the staggering sum asked by President Roosevelt.

Democrats Are Busy.

With the Democratic steering committee meeting at the same time to lay plans for mustering every majority vote for the legislation, there were forecasts that not more than 55 or 60 votes would be cast against the bill as compared with an approximate 350 or more in its favor.

The house will begin debate on the measure tomorrow and is scheduled to vote by Wednesday night at the latest. Quick passage is also expected in the senate and the record-breaking appropriation may be laid on the President's desk before the end of next week.

The Republican conference heard a vociferous antiwar group, led by Representative Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], clamor for a reduction in the seven billion fund which will be spent by the President under the dictatorial powers granted him in H. R. 1776.

Amendments to Be Offered.

Amendments to be offered to the bill by Republicans included the following:

1. Reduction of the amount by several billions.

2. Elimination of the $200,000,000 item for repair of foreign warships.

3. Specific requirement that the President shall demand whatever security he can get for materials transferred to Great Britain and other nations opposing the axis countries.

4. Requirement that all materials transferred be manufactured in the United States.

In general, Republican representatives from the midwestern and northwestern states called for a searching examination of the need for the great sum requested by the President, noting that it would be a gigantic blank check given to him by cor ress. They planned to fight for limiting amendments altho most conceded defeat in view of the large Democratic majority in both houses and the division in their own ranks.

Report on Planning Board.

The President today submitted to congress a report of the national resources planning board, which looks ahead to postwar problems.

The board estimated the cost of new construction built or financed by the federal government during the 1942 fiscal year [beginning July 1] at $3,664,468,000. Projects proposed for construction in the five succeeding years amounted to approximately $2,346,013,000. Water use and control, public land development, transportation, and government plant projects were listed.

Peru to Pay Indemnity of $16,000 for Anti-Jap Riots

TOKIO, March 17 (AP).—The cabinet information bureau announced today that the Peruvian government had informed Tokio it was prepared to pay 100,000 soles [about $16,000] as partial indemnity for anti-Japanese riots last year in Peru. Further indemnities are expected when the Peruvian government completes its investigation.

Canada Discloses 15 U. S. Yachts Are Serving in War

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17 (AP).—The 15 privately owned American yachts acquired by Canada early in the war have been armed and equipped and are in service in various parts of the world, Navy Minister Angus MacDonald told the house of commons tonight. Munitions Minister C. D. Howe said the yachts cost about $1,500,000.

German Liner Bremen Burning

The liner Bremen, which was in flames yesterday, according to German announcement. The fire, of undetermined origin, was described as "big" and "continuing."

Harbor Kept Secret

BERLIN, March 17 (AP).—A big fire raged on late today aboard the $20,000,000 German liner Bremen, idle pride of Germany's merchant fleet and one-time holder of the blue ribbon speed record of the Atlantic. Late today, authorities said, the fire was "big" and was "still continuing." They declined to give further details.

The whereabouts of the 51,731 ton liner were not disclosed in so many words and the cause of the flames was not revealed, but a DNB, German official news agency, account of the fire was carried here under a Bremen dateline. The liner completed a spectacular hide-and-seek dash across the Atlantic to a home port soon after the war began.

[The British Broadcasting corporation hinted that the Bremen was the victim of a British air raid. The announcer said in a broadcast heard in America: "It will be recalled that the RAF last Thursday night carried out a particularly heavy raid on the German docks and shipyards at Hamburg and Bremen."]

AMERICA FIRST REPORTS 2,800 NEW MEMBERS

The Chicago chapter of the America First committee has enrolled 2,800 new members in the last two days in its intensified campaign to keep the United States out of war, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman, said yesterday.

Volunteer workers at headquarters of the Chicago chapter continued addressing 700,000 letters to indorsers of the America First movement with requests that they become active members. Each of the chapter's 66,000 members is being asked to enroll 10 members as part of the state goal for a membership of 1 million.

America First speakers will address two community meetings today. Dr. Anton J. Carlson, professor at the University of Chicago, will discuss the dangers of the dictator law at the noon luncheon of the Cicero Lions' club, 5736 22d street, Cicero. Mrs. Gertrude Gardner, an attorney, will address the Evanston chapter of the America First committee tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the State Bank building, Evanston.

John R. Robinson, past commander of McKinley camp, United Spanish War Veterans, will speak for the committee at a luncheon of the Chicago Engineers club, 314 South Federal street, at 12:15 p. m. Thursday.

Protests against American intervention in the war were heard at a meeting last night of the Oak Park chapter of the America First committee at 736 Lake street, Oak Park. Urban G. Willis, principal of the Pullman Technical High school, was the speaker. More than 200 persons from Oak Park and River Forest attended.

JAPANESE CLAIM CAPTURE OF RIVER TOWN IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, March 18, Tuesday (AP).—Blasting thru Chinese pillboxes, Japanese forces have captured the strategic Chin river town of Kaoan, 40 miles southwest of Nanchang in northern Kiangsi province, the Japanese news agency, Domei, reported today. The Japanese launched an offensive from Nanchang at dawn last Saturday in an effort to smash a Chinese army of 80,000 troops. Foreign military observers said the advance did not indicate the Japanese contemplated a general offensive. Rather, they said, the Japanese apparently are attempting to forestall a Chinese offensive.

Crowds of New Zealanders Cheer Visit of U.S. Warships

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, March 17 (AP).—The United States cruisers Brooklyn and Savannah and the destroyers Case, Cummings, Shaw, and Tucker, arriving today for a three day visit, were greeted by thousands of New Zealanders who lined the waterfront. The ships are on a training cruise.

JAPAN TO TIGHTEN RICE RATIONING AS BLOW TO SPECULATORS

TOKIO, March 17 (AP).—Japanese rice rationing will be tightened on April 1, the government announced today, as a further effort to eliminate illegal speculation in the food.

Amounts of rice to be allowed will vary, with laborers, for example, getting more than office workers, but the amounts will be much less than the Japanese are accustomed to eating. Rice now comes mostly from Indo-China—with oats added, which the Japanese do not like.

Agree on New Shipment.

SAIGON, French Indo-China, March 17 (AP).—Authoritative circles said today that Indo-China and Japan had agreed on shipment of 770,000 tons of the colony's rice to Japan in return for large yen credits and cash. Japan recently mediated the border warfare between Indo-China and Thailand [Siam].

Navy Shifts Its Rookies Away from Measles Zone

Newport, R. I., March 17 (AP).—The navy announced today that recruits from the northeastern states usually assigned to the training station here would be sent temporarily to bases at Norfolk, Va., and Great Lakes, Ill., because of a "mild outbreak" of measles and scarlet fever at the Newport station. Navy officials did not elaborate on the announcement, nor could it be learned how many were ill at the station, oldest in the country.

ROOSEVELT TRIES TO RULE WORLD, JAPANESE CLAIM

President Is Attacked by Tokio Press.

BY KIMPEI SHEBBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 18, Tuesday.—President Roosevelt was attacked on all sides this morning. Japanese expressed indignation over his Saturday night speech after a day of silence. The general trend of comment was conveyed in the charge that the President aspires to rule the world.

"In his latest vituperation, Mr. Roosevelt has merely become more venomous than before," the newspaper Asahi said. "The speech is full of exaggerations."

Fear was expressed in most quarters that increased American aid to China may force Japan to adopt a strong stand against the United States in which event it was predicted war may follow.

Says Japan Is on Guard.

The newspaper Kokumin charged that Mr. Roosevelt, as the sovereign of one state, has openly classed Japan as a despotic country and attacked Japan's new order in east Asia. It warned that Japan will be on strict guard and fully determined to cope with the worst.

Nichi Nichi questioned whether Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that the strong nations are oppressing the weaker ones coincides with what he is doing. It charged that Britain has been oppressing the weaker races for generations. Nevertheless, it said the President wants the United States to save Britain. The paper added that he puts France and the Netherlands in the same category as Britain so far as oppressing weaker races is concerned.

"For the President to assist Britain and other so-called democracies means nothing outside enabling these countries to continue a policy of plunder and exploitation," Nichi Nichi concluded.

Nazis Pick Talk to Pieces.

BERLIN, March 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt occupied the front pages of the German press today, which with one accord set itself to pick to pieces his Saturday night broadcast calling for a total effort to help Britain.

The theme was that Mr. Roosevelt had sounded a "dangerous" note of intervention in the European conflict which would be met with "most vigorous measures."

The Frankfurter Zeitung, however, declared the President regarded the aid law as a personal mandate also to "meddle provocatively" in the far east.

"Roosevelt is evidently working for a break with Japan," this paper said. "Ambition is the motive force behind this program which endangers the entire world."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE HEARS SEN. PEPPER, 'AMERICAN COUSIN'

TORONTO, Ont., March 17 (AP).—Precedents were broken when Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] today addressed members of Ontario's legislature from the floor of the chamber. Following his speech, in which the senator said democracy "has shown it can meet the threat to its very existence," he and Mrs. Pepper met the legislators individually, a recess being called. Premier Mitchell Hepburn, who introduced Pepper, referred to him as "one of our American cousins" and stressed his support of the bill to aid Britain.

Reveals U. S. Science Aids British Air Raid Defense

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17 (AP).—Canadian and American scientists "played no mean part" in developing the antinight bombing devices now being used against German raiders over Great Britain, Air Minister C. G. Power told the Canadian house of commons tonight.

BRITAIN REVEALS SHIP LOSS HIGHER THAN IN LAST WAR

Totals Five Million Tons; Foe's Two Million.

LONDON, March 17 (AP).—The world's authority on shipping, Lloyd's of London, declared today that British, allied and neutral maritime losses in the first 18 months of the war were one-seventh greater than those of the first 30 months of the world war. Lloyd's said British, allied, and neutral merchant tonnage sent to the bottom was 4,962,257, over 600,000 tons greater than in the first two and a half years of the world war.

[The listed British losses compared with 2,241 ships of 4,316,000 tons in the 30 months of the world war up to Feb. 1, 1917, just before the German submarine campaign of 1917 which nearly brought England to her knees.]

Losses of Axis Powers.

On the other side German, Italian, and axis controled shipping losses were placed at 2,028,140 tons.

The losses represented to the British, her allies, and neutrals 1,245 ships; to the axis, 422 ships.

[On March 13 the authorized German commentary Dienst aus Deutschland asserted that German forces had sunk more than 9,000,000 tons of British and allied or neutral shipping. This figure would be over 1,000,000 greater than the total allied losses of the world war.]

The British themselves, the Lloyd's breakdown showed, have lost 757 ships of 3,171,273 tons in the present conflict; allied nations 193 ships totaling 875,202 tons, and neutrals 295 ships of 915,782 tons.

Include Dunkirk Totals.

Included for the first time were losses in the Dunkirk retreat, in June, 1940, when the British lost 72 ships totaling 280,556 tons and her allies 39 ships totaling 169,348 tons. These did not include numerous small pleasure and fishing craft.

[At the start of the war Lloyd's listed total British tonnage at 21,001,925, representing 8,377 steamships and motorships of 100 gross tons or more. In addition, the British obtained an undisclosed number of vessels of total tonnage of 12,320,685 under the flags of Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, and France.]

German losses known by name, Lloyd's said, were 60 ships of 268,542 tons captured and 77 ships of 420,947 tons sunk since the outbreak of the war. In addition Lloyd's estimated 129 German ships of 645,000 tons have been sunk. Of formerly neutral ships which came under German control, Lloyd's said, 34, of 61,000 tons, had been lost.

Italian losses since Italy's entry into the war on June 10, 1940, were placed at 38 ships of 179,619 tons captured and 21 ships of 137,932 tons sunk. An additional toll of 63 ships totaling 315,000 tons, with names and exact tonnages unknown, were estimated.

War's Ship Losses Revealed

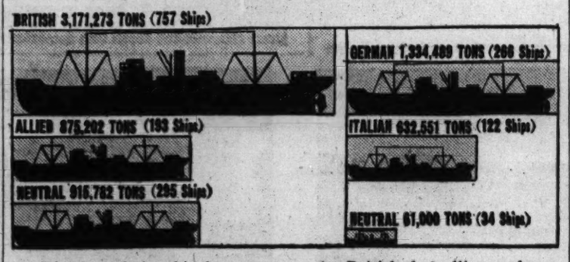
British, Allied and Neutral TOTAL 4,962,257 TONS

German, Italian and Neutral TOTAL 2,028,040 TONS

Total ship losses on the allied and the axis sides in the first 18 months of the present war, according to Lloyd's estimates.



BRITISH 3,171,273 TONS (757 Ships)
GERMAN 1,394,489 TONS (266 Ships)
ALLIED 875,202 TONS (193 Ships)
ITALIAN 632,551 TONS (122 Ships)
NEUTRAL 915,782 TONS (295 Ships)

Division of the ship losses among the British, her allies, and neutrals, and the Germans, Italians, and axis controled neutrals, according to Lloyd's figures.

WILLKIE MAY GO OUT TO ANSWER ANTIWAR GROUP

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, determined to fight against what he calls American "isolationism," is considering following Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] from city to city if the senator conducts a country-wide speaking campaign in opposition to administration foreign policy.

Wheeler has said he would travel from "Boston to San Francisco" to speak against American involvement in war and against the administration's conduct of foreign policy. He has predicted that other senators would join him in such a "crusade," as he terms it.

Friends of Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential nominee, said today that if Wheeler and like minded colleagues should make such a campaign, Willkie would like to "speak in rebuttal." Willkie, it was said, would like to arrange his personal affairs so that he could travel a few days behind the senate noninterventionists and address meetings in every city where they had appeared.

GERMANY FINES 2 FIRMS IN DRIVE ON PROFITEERING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 17.—The recently announced campaign against excess profits and high prices is in full swing. The first punishments reported come from the province of Silesia. A textile factory in the district of Reichenbach has been ordered by the provincial governor to pay a fine of $16,000 for an unspecified offense against price regulations. This punishment is described as a "disciplinary fine." The same term is used of a fine of $800 imposed on two women owners of a toy firm at Hoyerswerda for "willful violation of the laws against high prices."

CHARGES BRITISH PROPAGANDA IS PUT IN SCHOOLS

Los Angeles Business Man Asks Inquiry.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17 [Special].—Charges were made by a business man at a meeting of the board of education today that tax money for public education was being used "to further British propaganda in our schools."

The charges, directed against Sam Evans, a current events lecturer, and "other school personnel," precipitated an uproar in which Evans was hooted and booed.

The business man who caused the furor was B. Tarkington Dowden, operator of a package freight firm. Nearly 100 persons were at the school board meeting. Dowden addressed the board and President R. Vincent Askey. He quoted Evans, an instructor in Los Angeles schools for four years, as saying during a class meeting that "Hitler's favorite invasion of propaganda has started here with a vengeance."

No Need for Courses.

"Tax money allocated to the cause of public education is being used to further British propaganda in our schools," Dowden went on. "I am sure that neither the taxpayers nor this board ever have felt the need of offering courses in fifth column activities or in the fine art of spreading propaganda of war.

"I do not blame Mr. Evans for doing his bit for England whenever he can. I do not blame his superiors in the adult education department. I blame you, the school board!"

Then Dowden made a demand for an immediate inquiry into the activities of Evans, of Grace McAlmon, a central district nurse, and "many others of your personnel, for British propaganda going on under your very noses."

Evans Booed by Crowd.

When Dowden had finished Evans rose to answer his charges. More than 75 of the 100 persons present booed him. Evans heatedly shouted he had come to the meeting in "spite of threats and intimidations" because he had learned of the nature of the meeting at a gathering last week of "Nazis, fifth columnists, and traitors." This, he declared, was "merely the beginning of Mr. Hitler's trying to reach his long arm into Los Angeles."

Much of his talk was lost in the shouts and calling of "liar" and other invectives. Groups of spectators gathered in the school board halls and outside the building after the meeting. In the evening Evans went to a night class in Hollywood with a police escort. "I'm not taking any chances," he said.

Dowden asserted that unless the board takes action against Evans he will file an injunction suit in court to prevent him from lecturing further.

SCHUSCHNIGG, FORMER LEADER OF AUSTRIA, IS MOVED TO BAVARIA

BERLIN, March 17 (AP).—Kurt Schuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria, who has been a prisoner of the Nazis since just before the anschluss [union with Germany] was proclaimed on March 13, 1938, has been moved to Bavaria, according to Vienna information.

There, in an undisclosed village, the former chancellor lives with his wife, still in the custody of the Germans, it has been disclosed by Baldur von Schirach, Nazi governor of annexed Austria.

For more than a year after his imprisonment Schuschnigg was under guard in the Metropole hotel in Vienna, headquarters of the Gestapo, the German secret police. There had been subsequent reports, however, that he had been moved elsewhere in Germany. He married the former Countess Vera Fugger von Babenhausen in a ceremony he could not even attend June 3, 1938.

SAYS TEACHER INSPIRED BOY TO GO AWAY TO WAR

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17 [Special].—William Lutter of Wauwatosa appealed to the federal district attorney here today for help to keep William Jr., 18 years old, from enlisting in the Canadian army. At the direction of E. J. Koelzer, assistant district attorney, Lutter asked the British consul at Chicago to communicate with the Canadian authorities.

Lutter said one of his son's teachers at Wauwatosa High school had told the class it would be "a noble thing" to enlist in the Canadian army, and the boy had been aroused ever since. He left home, taking the birth certificate of an older friend, his father said.

"It was unfitting and improper for a teacher to say the things to a class," Koelzer said. "We are not at war."

Plan Impracticable, Says Union Leader.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 17.—The British government's plan to nationalize dock labor hit a snag today when 850 Glasgow dockers unanimously decided at a special meeting to reject proposals that would make them state employés. The scheme has been applied thus far only to the Mersey area [around Liverpool], where 18,000 dockers have accepted it.

It was announced last week that the 4,000 dockers in Glasgow have until Saturday to register under the scheme. The decision to reject the plan was announced by J. C. MacLean, secretary of the Scottish transport and general workers' union. He said the dockers were ready to "do everything" to see that ships are cleared with all possible speed, but branded the government's plan impracticable.

The steps the government may take to swing the dockers into line were not disclosed.

Ship Labor Registers.

Efforts of Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, to increase the number of shipyard workers in Britain began to bear fruit when the first batch of men who left the industry for other jobs during the last 15 years began to register at employment bureaus. Bevin expects to get at least 50,000 workers back into the shipyards.

The labor minister disclosed new details of a scheme for compulsory registration of men and women for war work. Compulsory registration, he said, may be applied to every woman more than 19 years old and every man more than 40. No top age limit has been fixed. There will be no exemption on conscientious grounds, but Bevin declared mothers with young children or heavy domestic responsibilities will not be compelled to take work.

Look After "Newcomers."

Everything possible will be done, the labor minister said, to smooth the industrial path of newcomers such as the "Mayfair Miss"—girls who have never worked. Welfare workers will look after them.

Girls for war factories, Bevin said, will be recruited first from among those who have lost their jobs in industrial districts because of compulsory curtailment of production.

He appealed to businessmen and office workers to take up heavy jobs, saying, "We are short of the heavy type labor. Work won't do black-coated workers with the necessary physique any harm."

Under the new scheme of training in government centers, men 21 years old and over will receive about $12.10 a week and women about $7.60.

KIN OF SUSPECT BEFORE JURY TO TELL OF KILLING

Herbert Schultz of Stewardson, in Shelby county, is reported to have told the grand jury yesterday that his cousin, Walter Appelt, confessed to him the fatal shooting March 10 of his estranged wife's suitor, Joseph R. Lorenz. Schultz was taken before the jury by Emmett Moynihan, assistant state's attorney, so that he might return home. Other witnesses will not be heard until Thursday.

Moynihan said Schultz told him Appelt came to Stewardson after the shooting and said:

"I've killed the man who broke up my home."

Lorenz was killed near his home at 4521 Malden street by a man who shot him nine times. Mrs. Appelt, who is suing for divorce, had planned to marry Lorenz.

LOYOLA U.'S HEAD TERMS FEDERAL UNION RIDICULOUS

Educator Raps Catholic Writer's Appeal.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Advocates of a federal union of nations met rebuff yesterday from the Rev. Samuel Knox Wilson, S. J., president of Loyola university, who labeled the program ridiculous and un-American. Father Wilson said he canvassed the Loyola history faculty and that his statement was representative of their views.

The Rev. S. K. Wilson.

His statement was made in reply to an article by Patrick Welch, "A Catholic Looks at Union Now," in The Federal Union World. The article, which argued that a world-wide federal union is the historic program of the Catholic church, was termed by the educator as "in completely bad taste" and "harmful to the church in that he [Welch] is attempting to use the religion for political purposes."

Circulated as Propaganda.

The article has been circulated widely by Federal Union, Inc., a propaganda organization formed recently to spread favor for the idea of a federal union of the United States, Great Britain, and other democratic countries.

"The idea," Father Wilson said, "is as old as the hills. I think I remember having read about it in medieval philosophies. The difference was that instead of a 'federal union' it was a 'Catholic union' with the pope at the top of the pyramid.

"It is the much mulled idea of collective security for international security. Welch evidently has some faint but very inaccurate notion of the old Holy Roman empire as an ideal. The fundamental principle there, as I see it, was not an empire of nations but a family of peoples. In that day there were no nations as we know them now."

Opposes Ending of Patriotism.

"If we give up the idea of a rational spirit of patriotism," said Father Wilson, "we are not only confessing that the American people have been wrong for more than a century and a half but we are also exposing ourselves to the danger that a super government will be based on class antagonisms.

"I said the program is ridiculous; nationals of no state would fight the present war for the ultimate purpose of a nonnational union."

Father Wilson described the scheme as un-American because, he said, it would put our political lives at the mercy of a world conglomerate which would be suicidal for our national character and institutions.

FARM EQUIPMENT WORKERS VOTE ON STRIKE TODAY

Members of the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee in Richmond, Ind., will vote today on proposals offered by the International Harvester company in connection with the halt in production at the company's Richmond plant. Altho the nature of the proposals has not been disclosed, it is understood there will be no surrender to the CIO union of exclusive bargaining rights or elimination of piece work. The company, it is reported, may reopen the plant even if the union rejects the proposal.

Leo Paulsen, chairman of the Tri-Cities Organizing committee of the AFL, estimated at 10,000 the AFL membership in three Harvester plants in the Davenport-Rock Island-Moline area—Farmall, East Moline, and John Deere.

Each plant employs about 5,000, Paulsen said, adding that the AFL membership is "fairly evenly" divided among the three plants. Officials of independent locals at all three plants have made no statements regarding reported plans for dissolution.

MORGAN LOSES COURT FIGHT TO REGAIN TVA JOB

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—The Supreme court refused today to review President Roosevelt's dismissal of Arthur E. Morgan as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Back of the case was the issue, raised by Morgan, of whether the President had the power to remove him under the circumstances or whether this could be done only by congress. A federal Circuit court at Cincinnati held that the President did have such authority and it was this ruling that the Supreme court declined to review.

Morgan, appointed in 1933 for a nine-year term, was ousted for "contumacy" in 1938 after he charged the other two directors with maladministration and then declined to participate in a hearing before President Roosevelt on the ground that the investigation should have been made by congress.

CLERKS DIGGING OUT OF INCOME TAX AVALANCHE

The taxpayer's worries are over until next March 15—or until his next instalment is due—but the March 15 just past was only another day to several hundred clerks in the office of Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, where work hasn't slacked.

It will be several days, Harrison said, before the clerks dig out from under the thousands of returns filed or mailed in during the hours before the Saturday night deadline. As a result, no final figures on returns filed and money received will be available until March 20, he said. Estimates late Saturday showed, however, that both will be approximately double last year's totals.

Nigel Campbell, chief office deputy, said yesterday that the returns he had seen indicate fewer incomes in the $500,000 and more bracket, but more in the $250,000 class this year. The largest corporate income shown in returns he has seen, Campbell said, was one of $5,000,000, and the largest individual income one of $500,000.

THREE ROMEOS RACE TRAIN 2,000 MILES TO MEET THREE JULIETS

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17 (AP).—Three University of Missouri Romeos raced their motor car 2,000 miles against a train to keep a date—they hope.

The train carried 700 Stephens college girls from Columbia, Mo., on a western tour. Among the 700 were Hallie Ladd of Mobile, Ala., Elizabeth McGeorge of Memphis, Tenn., and Jackie Hamilton of St. Paul, Minn.—Juliets of Tony Webster and William Hein of St. Louis and Merrill Gassert of New York.

Departures were on the same day. So were arrivals, the girls having made two stopovers en route. The date depends upon chaperon approval. So far, the boys' only reward has been a half hour's talk in—of all places—a crowded railroad station.

CITY EMPLOYE HURT AS TRAIN WRECKS TRUCK

George Streb, 46 years old, an employé of the city water extension division, was injured yesterday when his truck was demolished by the Baltimore and Ohio road's Shenandoah, New York to Chicago express, at 71st street and Bell avenue. At Holy Cross hospital Streb's condition was described as "very serious." His home is at 7618 Green street.

Police sought the driver of a hit and run car which struck and killed Sebastian Spiewak, 45, of 12354 South Green street, Calumet Park, Sunday night at 123d and Halsted streets. He was a laborer.

Gunnard Okerjelm, 73, a retired cabinet maker, died of injuries suffered Saturday when struck by an automobile near his home at 89 East 34th street, Steger. The driver was Lester Eggenno of Crete.

George G. Traver, manager of the Greater Chicago Safety council, said yesterday that 994 accidents which occurred in Chicago in February were caused by law violations by motorists and 319 by pedestrian law breakers. He said 31 of the 39 deaths could have been avoided thru law observance.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 169 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 126 died in Chicago, where 4,423 were injured during the same period.

Four Motorists Get Jail Terms in Safety Court

Four motorists were sent to the county jail yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Safety court. They were Don Steinhaus, 26 years old, 2210 North Kildare avenue, and Edward Baranski, 37, of Willow Springs, each sentenced to five days and the loss of driving privilege for 60 days for reckless driving, and Gust Gustafson, 35, of 10463 Corliss avenue, and Oliver Matthews, 42, colored, of Waukegan, 10 days and 60 days suspension each for driving while intoxicated.

WATCHMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Herman Johnson, 54 years old, 2144 Washington boulevard, a watchman at the Central Die Casting and Manufacturing company, 2936 47th street, died yesterday in Southtown hospital of burns suffered earlier in the day when his clothing caught fire as he was preparing a company furnace for the day's work.

CALLS ON ALL CIO UNIONS TO FIGHT BRIDGES' OUSTER

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—President Philip Murray of the CIO today called upon all affiliated unions to help defend Harry Bridges against deportation to Australia on a charge of having been a communist. Bridges is head of the CIO Longshoremen's union.

"Organized labor cannot stand idly by and witness the persecution of any of its leaders or members," Murray wrote union officials. "It is my considered judgment that our affiliated unions and members should lend every practical support in defending Bridges in this case."

Murray disclosed that a committee of two—Sherman Dalrymple, head of the Rubber Workers union, and David J. McDonald, secretary of the Steel Workers union—would set up headquarters in Washington to publicize the case.

The justice department will hold a hearing tomorrow on Bridges' request for a postponement of the deportation hearing scheduled for March 31 at San Francisco.

Experienced in the methods of those who seek to dominate the news, Chicago Tribune correspondents in Washington and thruout the world gather the facts from all sides and write their dispatches from the American viewpoint.

No, Mr. Hitler—you just don't talk our language!

This advertisement is one of a series studying our democratic American way of life.

FROM ACROSS THE SEAS, the Leader's voice screams, "The purpose of education is to create the political soldier . . . in the case of female education, the main stress should be last of all on development of the intellect!"

As the logical fruit of such a creed, great books are burned, great teachers hounded into the grave or exile. The mass of German youth is taught not to think but to obey. Special schools train a few in the use of ruthless violence, deliberate dishonesty, and quack racial dogma so that they shall constitute an "elite" Fuehrer class—masters of the many in the Nazi plan of things to come.

No, Mr. Hitler!

America, of course, rejects such a creed as barbarous and perverted.

We believe in the democratic definition of education—education as the process of stimulating free minds and preparing vigorous intellects for living effectively and co-operatively in a commonwealth of free persons. And as evidence of our faith in this creed, American education today is more vigorous, more important than ever before in our history.

Actually, our educational effort now is bigger than any single U. S. business enterprise!

Our Investment In The Future

Education in this country employs more than 1,000,000 people. It spends some $2,000,000,000 a year. Its capital, invested in buildings and equipment, totals more than $12,300,000,000. By any such measure, it tops all major public as well as private undertakings!

More resources and a larger share of our national income than ever before go for the support of education and the maintenance of school facilities. The Federal Government has given the States an area larger than all of Italy in land grants for schools.

The highest proportion of our nation's population in history is in the schools today. More than 30,000,000 Americans—about one out of four—are full-time students in schools or colleges; more than 90% of them in public institutions. Today the number of students attending college is more than three times what it was in 1920. Enrollment in our high schools has quadrupled since 1920, doubled since 1930.

We're Never Too Old To Learn

And that's by no means all. Beyond the regular school years, there are more than 29,000,000 people engaged in adult education. Their classes now run the whole gamut of both cultural and vocational subjects. In hundreds of towns, on the evenings when adult classes meet, high school halls are crowded with grown men and women—enjoying together the sympathetic companionship, the stimulus, the enlightening adventure of democratic group study.

Democratic American education is not perfect. But undeniably it is a living, adventurous, advancing force. Our fund of knowledge, both in subjects to be taught and in ways of teaching them, is constantly increasing!

We Learn Outside The Classroom, Too

American education now extends far beyond school halls. For example, on the radio, the "Town Hall" forums of open, lusty, controversial debate on urgent political, social, and economic issues, reach a week-by-week audience of 3,000,000 set-owners. The major radio networks regularly devote up to 20% of their total broadcasting time to genuinely educational programs—reaching each week an aggregate number of homes estimated at 15,000,000.

The great periodicals of this nation, too—as "living text books"—play an invaluable part in helping to inform, enlighten, and stimulate American minds, both young and old.

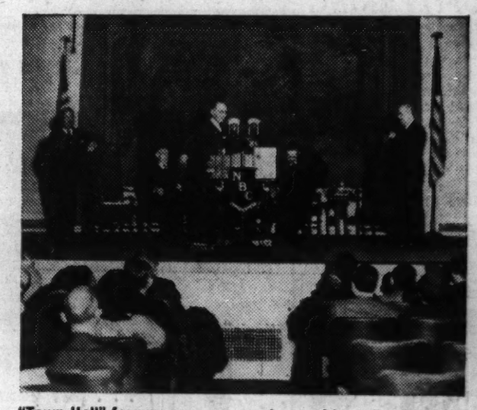
LIFE Magazine, for instance, offers to a weekly audience of more than 20,000,000 readers vividly presented facts, truth, reality concerning this complex world—the world they must understand if their way of life is to endure, to flourish, and to inspire all men of good will throughout the earth.

LIFE is proud of the contribution it is making in these crucial times toward the successful functioning of democracy. And, as "America's Most Potent Editorial Force," LIFE is dedicated to continuing this contribution both now and after these times of crisis have passed.

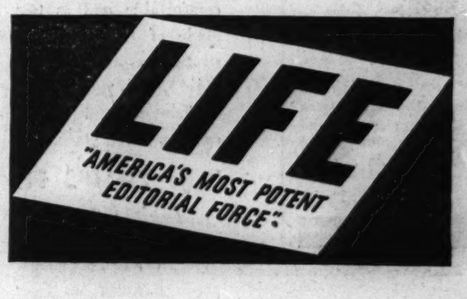
American children learn to meet democratic life by actually seeing it in action, by doing, making, sharing, discussing.

In the classic tradition, students at St. John's of Annapolis discover the circulatory system just as Harvey discovered it.

Adult education is now being absorbed by more than 29,000,000 people in the U. S. beyond regular school years.



"Town Hall" forums attract a regular weekly radio audience of 3,000,000 set owners—typical of how new techniques are employed to further enlightenment in our democracy.



MR. ROOSEVELT DEDICATES U. S. GALLERY OF ART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—President Roosevelt tonight dedicated to the American people the new National Gallery of Art. It is the gift to the nation from the late Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, financier, and art collector.

An estimated audience of approximately 7,000 high government officials, diplomats, and persons prominent in art packed the spacious new gallery for the official opening and dedication. Among those present were many persons who are not officially on speaking terms. These included Hans Thomsen, the German chargé d'affaires; Prince Colonna, ambassador from Italy; Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador, and Lady Halifax, Gaston Henri-Haye, the minister from Vichy, and Cimon P. Diamentopoulos, the envoy from Greece. Also present were officials of art centers and museums of North and South America and members of the Mellon, Kress, and Widener families.

"Symbol of Aspirations."

First they heard Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, chairman of the gallery's trustees, say that the new structure takes "it's place as one of the world's great galleries, this palace of art becomes a symbol of the cultural aspirations of the people." He commended Mellon's modesty in presenting to the nation a $15,000,000 gallery which does not bear his name in the hope that others would feel free to contribute their art treasures for the enjoyment of the public.

Samuel Kress, donor of 418 paintings and 40 sculptures, in presenting his collection stated that he, like Mellon, "felt the need of a national gallery shared by all the people and containing only the finest works of art, contributed by those who wished to give their greatest treasures to the nation that has done so much for all of us."

"Human, Eager, Alive."

Mr. Roosevelt in his dedicatory speech referred to the much criticized WPA art projects when he declared that within the last few years the American people have seen in their towns, schools, and postoffices paintings by Americans—"some of it good, some of it not good, but all of it native, human, eager, and alive."

Today, he said, these art works are "symbols of the human spirit and of the world the freedom of the human spirit has made—a world against which armies now are raised and countries overrun and men imprisoned and their work destroyed.

"To accept today the work of German painters such as Holbein and Dürer and of Italians like Botticelli and Raphael is to assert the belief of the people of this nation in a human spirit which now is everywhere endangered and which, in many countries where it first found form and meaning, has been rooted out and broken and destroyed."

Cherubs and Acacias.

The ceremonies were held in the east end of the great central hall of the new building designed by the late John Russell Pope. Behind the speakers' platform were banked hundreds of flowering acacias in a great garden court where bubbled a lead fountain of playful cherubs brought from the gardens of Versailles palace.

Joseph Widener of Philadelphia, Pa., presented his acacia collection, considered the finest in the world, to the gallery and has announced that his great art collection will be added later.

The entire Mellon and Kress collections of 544 paintings and 66 sculptures in addition to 300 etchings and engravings donated by Ellen T. Bullard and three anonymous donors and 11 American paintings loaned by Chester Dale comprise what is probably the finest art collection visible today. They represent an investment of considerably over $130,000,000.

One of the Biggest.

With 200,000 square feet of exhibition area, the structure is 785 feet long, 305 feet wide, and is outranked in size among the galleries of the world only by the Louvre in Paris which now is closed and its treasures hidden.

The masterpieces which seemed to draw the most attention were the million dollar "Alba Madonna" by Raphael, the small Cowper Madonna, also by Raphael; "Adoration of the Magi" by Botticelli, Vermeer's "Lacemaker," El Greco's "St. Martin and the Beggar," Rembrandt's self-portrait as well as the eight other portraits in the Rembrandt gallery, Reynold's "Lady Delme with Her Children," and Gilbert Stuart's "George Washington" and "Mrs. Yates."

Lassoed in Water

New York, March 17 [Special].—A young buck deer marooned on an ice cake in the Hudson river off Poughkeepsie is back roaming the woods of the Catskills only thru the combined efforts of rescue boats, a ferry, and men on shore.

The deer was sighted alone in midstream Saturday, and a rescue squad was formed at once. Tide and the ice floes defeated the rescue boats until, finally, a passing ferry boat offered to play its part. It nudged the young buck's private ice cake almost to shore. There the little animal slid off into shallow water, where he was lassoed and saved by men on shore.

PICK BORGLUM'S SON TO COMPLETE SCULPTURE WORK

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—The Mount Rushmore Memorial commission decided today that Lincoln Borglum should succeed his father, the late Gutzon Borglum, as sculptor-superintendent of the Mount Rushmore memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The younger Borglum was second in charge of the project when his father died in a Chicago hospital recently.

Members of the commission and representatives of the national park service said that the elder Borglum received as compensation 25 per cent of all expenditures for models and construction, but that Lincoln Borglum would receive "not more than half" of that percentage.

Russell Arundel, secretary of the commission, said the four heroic figures—those of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt—were complete except for some rough work that would be completed by next June 30.

OFFICIALS PROBE TRUCKING FIRM FIRE AND BLASTS

Earle Downes, assistant corporation counsel, yesterday was investigating the cause of an early morning fire which swept the plant of the Monark Motor Freight System, Inc., 2263 Lumber street, and caused damage estimated at $200,000. Zero weather hampered the firemen.

Workmen said they heard an explosion and saw a sheet of flame shoot from an office in the center of the building. Lesser explosions followed and fed the flames.

More than 25 persons were driven into the cold yesterday by a fire in a three story store and apartment building at 6843 Halsted street.

Another fire routed 18 employés in the storage room of the Termo Chemical company, 754 West Adams street. The company makes cosmetics.

MRS. A. R. MIZZY IS PLAIN GYPSY ROSE LEE AGAIN

Gypsy Rose Lee, who peeled her way to fame, yesterday was granted a divorce by Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court from Arnold R. Mizzy, New York City dental supply manufacturer.

Miss Lee, whose married name was Mrs. Rose Louise Hovick Mizzy, married Mizzy in a water taxi in the ocean off the California shore on Oct. 13, 1937. The strip tease dancer charged her husband with cruelty and proved her legal right to an Illinois decree to Judge Desort's satisfaction.

Her attorney, Henry K. Kalcheim, said the couple separated Nov. 13, 1938.

8,500 DRAFTEES TO BRING 33D TO FULL STRENGTH

All from Illinois, Guard Division Assured.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., March 17 [Special].—A total of 8,500 selective service draftees from Illinois will be sent to Camp Forrest before the end of June to expand the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, to its authorized war strength of 17,945 enlisted men and about 1,200 officers. This was revealed today by Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the division.

Gen. Lawton said that he has been assured by the war department that the division will be reënforced with draftees from its home state, and from no other. The last of these draftees will arrive in camp about June 25, just before the division begins summer maneuvers.

Thirty-five hundred draftees will reach camp between May 5 and 15, Gen. Lawton said. Beginning about June 10, after this first group has been assimilated by the regiments, the remainder will arrive.

Must Have More Officers.

To command the expanded division, its officers will be increased from the current total of 794 to approximately 1,200. Gen. Lawton said the 400 new officers will be commissioned from the ranks of the division's present noncommissioned officers.

The 8,500 draftees will not be raw recruits. They will come to the 33d from the army's new training centers, where they will have spent several weeks learning the basic principles of military training, as infantrymen, artillery men, or members of other units.

At the time the division was inducted into federal service on March 5 its total strength was 10,841 enlisted men and 794 officers. Since then, physical examinations have weeded out 909, or 8.39 per cent, of the enlisted men. Officers were examined before the induction.

After the 400 noncommissioned officers are promoted, the enlisted strength of the division will be reduced to about 9,500 men. Army orders state that the division will receive enough draftees to bring its enlisted strength to 13,000 by May 15, and to 17,945 by the end of June.

Cold Wave Hits Camp.

Camp Forrest shivered today in a cold wave which sent the thermometer down to the low twenties. Ice froze on the camp's many puddles. The ground, muddy yesterday, was iron hard this morning. The Illinois Guardsmen have not yet figured out the intricacies of their barrack furnaces, and many of the buildings resembled efficient, wooden ice boxes.

Two troop trains and three truck convoys arrived today from Illinois. The trains carried 600 men of the 124th field artillery. The convoys were those of the 122d field artillery, 123d field artillery, and 129th infantry, carrying a total of 321 men.

1,000 Draftees Start on Training at Camp Grant

Rockford, Ill., March 17 [Special].—Classes were begun today for 1,000 draftees in the Camp Grant medical replacement center, the first of 5,000 men expected to arrive at the center for training by mid-April. The first two weeks of classwork is to be devoted to conditioning and instructions in the care and handling of equipment. The 1,000 draftees included 221 who arrived from Fort Benjamin Harrison [Ind.] Saturday night and 336 who arrived this morning from Fort Sill, Okla. Construction work at the camp was reported 92 per cent completed today by Maj. Howard O. Graham, construction quartermaster. Approximately 300 of the 365 buildings planned for the camp have been finished.

STRITCH WARNS WE MUST UNITE TO SAVE LIBERTY

Calls for Defense Against Aggressor Forces.

Free men of the western world must unite in defense against aggression of false ideas and philosophies as well as of might, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Catholic archbishop of Chicago, declared last night.

The archbishop, making one of his rare public appearances, spoke before 1,000 members of the Irish Fellowship club gathered in the Civic theater for the club's 40th annual St. Patrick's day program. Other speakers were the Rev. Michael J. O'Connell, president of De Paul university, and James B. McCahey, president of the Chicago board of education.

Tells Patriotism's Demands.

Quoting from the teachings of St. Thomas Aquinas that there is no genuine charity without patriotism, Archbishop Stritch said that patriotism demands an adequate defense of liberties and institutions against aggression. In many of its reaches, he added, patriotism is sheer justice.

"Who would say," he asked, "that justice does not impose on us the duty of adequately defending our country, our institutions, our liberties, against every unjust aggressor, who with whatever shibboleth on his lips seeks to lay hands on our freedom, to stop our orderly, friendly living with peoples, to do mortal injury to our rights to full national livelihood?

"We must stand prepared and ready against all foes from whatever quarter. It is the duty of our strategists and leaders to build with our loyal support adequate national defense.

Warns of Danger in Our Midst.

"We are living at a great critical period in history. Danger lurks in our midst, and wondrous opportunity. If before it is too late we defend ourselves against false materialism and devastating naturalism, then indeed we may look forward to a happy day.

"But if we allow these forces of destruction to drive the Christian truth back into the catacombs the world will pass thru dreary days and days until once again some one signs an Edict of Milan."

[Constantine, Roman emperor, issued the Edict of Milan in 313, officially establishing religious toleration for the first time in history.]

Affirms His Faith in Free Men.

"I, with you," the archbishop continued, "believe that the Christian soul of the West still has life in it, still has the power to display new social creations, still is stronger than ignorance and error and false philosophies.

"I, with you, believe that we must defend our liberties against all aggression, against the aggression of might and the aggression of false ideas, philosophies, and theories, which in guarded rhetoric offer shackles to man for his freedom, mechanization for his power to build, and only bread for the sustenance of his life."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY FUN IN IRELAND DAMPENED BY DEFENSE EFFORT

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 17 (AP).—It was a dull St. Patrick's day in the Irish capital today — all drinking houses closed, no parade, and, to make matters worse, 36,000 sober Irishmen watched a Northern Ireland football team hand Ireland an 8 to 3 lacing. A feature of other St. Patrick's days, the military parade, was canceled because it might have interrupted the training of this neutral country's largest army in history. The Irish who wished to "drown the shamrock" and didn't do it at home went to Northern Ireland, where there was no prohibition. Because of the foot and mouth disease the St. Patrick's day dog show was canceled for the first time in 25 years.

TEAMSTERS WIN COURT DECISION IN BREWERY CASE

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, ruling on an old jurisdictional battle between the teamsters and the Brewery Workers' unions of the American Federation of Labor, declared today that a 1933 AFL convention acted within its rights in giving the teamsters authority to organize beer truck drivers.

The brewery workers' union, one of the AFL founding organizations, objected to the 1933 convention action and contended that the transfer of organizing jurisdiction from the BWU to the teamsters was a violation of the BWU's certification of affiliation.

The court also dissolved a lower court injunction obtained by the Brewery Workers' union to prohibit the AFL high command or the teamsters' union from using the 1933 convention action as an organizational weapon.

The decision was regarded by AFL officials as a major victory for the federation, since the case involved an important test of the authority of an AFL convention to determine the organizing jurisdictions of its affiliated unions.

Man, 105, Forced to Miss St. Patrick Day Festivity

EDMONTON, Alta, March 17 (AP).—For the first time in many years Edmonton's oldest citizen—Joseph Haire—was unable to take an active part today in the celebration of his 105th birthday and the day of St. Patrick. He passed the day at home talking to friends.

IRELAND IS SET ON PEACE, SAYS REV. DR. O'BRIEN

Determined to Be Neutral, Educator Reports.

Madison, Wis., March 17 [Special].—Ireland is determined to remain an island of peace, maintain neutrality, defend her independence, and when the peace conference table is reached at the end of the European war demand removal of the Ulster partition that she may become a united nation, the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame university said here tonight.

"Upon the feast of St. Patrick," said the Rev. Dr. O'Brien, "it is appropriate for America to pay tribute to the contributions made by the men and women of Irish descent to her greatness. The culture of America is cosmopolitan. We are proud of all of them because the blending of the genius of all the nations has given to American civilization a breadth and a richness which no single social group could attain."

Talk with De Valera.

Addressing the annual St. Patrick's dinner of the Madison Catholic Women's club in the Memorial Union building of the University of Wisconsin, the Rev. Dr. O'Brien said he learned of Ireland's determination to maintain her neutrality and to defend her independence against aggressors when he talked last summer with Premier Eamon de Valera and other leaders of the nation.

Americans, he said, who cable De Valera asking him to abandon neutrality and put his nation between the millstones of the British and German military machines to be ground to pieces, show a strange lack of sympathy with Ireland. They are willing, he charged, to see Ireland again reduced to a shambles, her civilization ruined, and her people killed in the wars of other nations, while they bask in the comforts of peace in America.

"Giving Greatest Service."

"By remaining at peace," the speaker said, "Ireland is giving the greatest service to the warring nations of Europe. Like Pope Pius, Ireland proclaims the utter futility of mass slaughter to solve any problem. She entreats the warring leaders to settle their controversies at the conference table, where alone can be worked out the basis for a just and lasting peace."

Ireland withstood the tyranny of Britain for seven centuries, the Rev. Dr. O' Brien told the women's club, then forgave the oppressor and sacrificed a larger percentage of her men than any other nation in the world war.

"Bled Long Enough."

"Ireland feels no bitterness today," he concluded. "She is ever willing to forgive and even to aid her oppressor. But today, as a nation, she insists upon the right to peace. She has bled long enough. She refuses to permit either belligerent to pull her under any pretext into the flames of the European war.

"She has a perfect right to that aloofness from the European strife which we Americans demand for ourselves. Ireland knows that the nation which enters the war loses more than she ever can gain, and is determined to hold fast to her neutrality and her peace."

AMERICAN REPORTER ARRESTED BY NAZI ARMY AUTHORITIES

BERLIN, March 17 (AP).—A DNB, official German news agency, dispatch from Paris today said that Jay Allen, correspondent for the North American Newspaper alliance, a news agency, had been arrested by German military officials.

[A. P. Wirephoto.]

The agency, without giving the date of the arrest, said the charge was that he attempted to recross the demarcation line between Paris and unoccupied France without correct papers. An unidentified American was reported arrested with him.

DNB said that an official of the United States embassy at Paris, after investigating the case, decided not to take diplomatic steps.

[Richard C. Hottelet, an employé of the United Press, was arrested in Berlin on Saturday on "strong suspicions of espionage."]

DROP ANTITRUST SUIT AGAINST 7 IN MOVIE CHAIN

Buffalo, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Federal antitrust suits against seven motion picture distributors in the Schine chain theater case were dismissed today by Federal Judge John Knight on the government's recommendation.

The action dropped proceedings against Loew's, Inc.; RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.; Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation; Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.; Vitagraph Inc.; Paramount Pictures, Inc., and Paramount Film Distributing corporation.

Dismissal of the "distributor defendants" leaves the Schine company, which operates nearly 200 movie houses in New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Delaware, and Maryland, and three independent distributors — Universal, Inc.; United Artists, Inc., and Columbia Pictures, Inc.—as the remaining defendants in the suit.

The government alleges the Schine circuit and its affiliates, thru operation of a string of theaters, had established an illegal monopoly. The government asks the chain be prohibited from acquiring any more theaters and requests an order dissolving the corporation.

GREEN PLACATES CHIEF OPPONENT TO NOMINATIONS

Expects O. K. on Normal Appointments.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 17 [Special].—Gov. Dwight Green appeared tonight to have paved the way for senate confirmation tomorrow of the six member state Normal school board which he nominated last week and thereby brought on what appeared at the time like a serious mutiny among Republican senators.

Senator T. Mac Downing.

By apologizing to Senator T. Mac Downing [R., Macomb] for overlooking his suggestions for board appointments, the governor seemed to have made a good start toward placating the revolters, who were potent enough to hold the nominations in the senate executive committee without action.

Tomorrow they likely will be approved both in committee and on the senate floor. Not as much confidence is felt regarding confirmation of the nomination of Attorney Robert L. Hunter of Chicago for the presidency of the civil service commission, which has angered some Chicago Democrats, but this storm also may blow away.

Green Issues Statement.

The governor's seeming conciliation of Downing was made public in a statement Green issued following a conference with the senator. It read:

"Senator Downing and I had a friendly and very satisfactory discussion. I am sure he understands that any apparent misunderstanding over appointments to the Normal school board was not created deliberately. I assured Senator Downing that western Illinois shall have representation on the board at such a time as a vacancy is created by a resignation, or by expiration of a term. I value any suggestions from Senator Downing very highly."

Hunter's Situation Different.

Hunter's situation is a little different. Some Chicago Democrats resent the fact that he headed the Better Government association's anti-vote fraud campaign in the 16 big Democratic wards, but if their opposition develops it may take the form of criticism of the inclusion of a certain question, allegedly on an association questionnaire sent legislative candidates. The query was regarded as an invasion of personal rights.

Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the house said that two amendments he suggested be adopted to the pending Cook county toll highway bill had been approved by the county engineers who drafted the measure.

One of the amendments would require that the highways be designed to feed their high volume of traffic from the country towns in the Chicago streets adequate to handle masses of vehicles. The second change would eliminate the special toll highway police force that the bill, as now written, would create.

BARRETT NAMES 8 AIDS; 3 IN CITY, FIVE DOWNSTATE

Appointment of eight new assistant attorneys general was announced yesterday by Attorney General George F. Barrett. Five of the appointees are downstate attorneys and three are Chicagoans. They include Grenville Beardsley, a law partner of Senator Wayland Brooks. Beardsley will be a special assistant attorney general.

The other Chicagoans are Albert E. Hallet Jr., lecturer on Illinois appellate practice at Northwestern university, and H. Clary Calhoun Jr., director of the Illinois Farmers' institute for the last six years. Both will be assigned to the Chicago office.

The others named are Samuel G Harrod Jr. of Eureka, Woodford county; Robert M. Egan of Galesburg, Knox county; Clinton J. Ahearn Jr. of Dwight, Livingston county; Walter Ackerman of Belleville, Saint Clair county, and Harry Arnold of Rockford, Winnebago county. All will be field assistant attorneys general in their respective districts.

POLICE QUESTION TWO MEMBERS OF BANDIT GANG

Central police last night were questioning two members of a bandit gang which has preyed on gasoline stations and beauty shops for several months. They are Henry Russo, 29 years old, who gave his address as 1318 Fillmore street, and Edwin Prichard, 16, of 2448 Roosevelt road. Russo is believed by police to be an ex-convict. Prichard, according to police, said he had been in Juvenile court several times. Both were arrested several days ago by Sergt. Walter Paradowski of the robbery detail. They admitted participating in several robberies. Other members of the gang still are being sought.

Collier's War Bird Flies his Fifth War

This painting of Courtney is the work of Harry Morse Meyers, famous modern artist whose illustrations appear regularly in Collier's.

BILL COURTNEY knows the war birds—both men and machines—as a mother hen knows her chicks. He's just gone back to his fifth war for Collier's.

He lives in the air. He writes of the air with vigor and veracity. He's flown both oceans by clipper and he was aboard the Hindenburg on what was to prove her last round trip. He has flown both hemispheres. Starting as a commissioned officer in France with the A. E. F. in the last world conflict, Courtney has followed air warfare through Ethiopia, Spain, China—right down to the present war which found him in Germany.

He has watched the air lords flush their winged monsters into the skies in every major country that fights aloft. Small wonder that airmen the world around hang on his words—that the Badoglios, the Chiang-Kai-sheks, the Konoyes "take their hair down" in his presence!

As Aviation Editor of Collier's, Bill Courtney has "broken" more important news stories about aviation—military and commercial—than any other man or medium. Of the 587 aviation articles that have run in Collier's, 145 have been written by Courtney himself.

In the factories, with the ground crews, with the flyers—and with his own hands, feet and eyes on the controls—Courtney gets facts.

Courtney fits Collier's. Experienced writing-realists like Courtney make up the staff that combs the world firsthand so that Collier's readers may have each week the dependable information an informed people seek—and have it while it is still hot.

★ ★ ★ ★

Peacetime or wartime, cover to cover each week, Collier's teems with the content that active, thinking, fact-hungry Americans want. They reach for it. They respond to it.

This Reader Response is money in the bank for advertisers.

We believe that no other multimillion weekly magazine keeps as close to its readers as Collier's does—and they're the busy, earning, spending millions who need a lot of what you have to sell.

EXTRA! ADVERTISERS HAVE MADE THIS THE BIGGEST MARCH IN COLLIER'S HISTORY!

NOTE TO ADVERTISERS!

This multimillion market of responsive buyers that Collier's has planned and built for you can be reached quickly because of Collier's faster copy-closing dates.

No combination of the other multimillion weekly magazines can reach more than 34.4% of this market.

Read what Mr. H. R. Medici, Vice President of The Visking Corporation, says:

"Because of the excellent results from our initial advertising in Collier's last year, it is our pleasure to tell you that we will use Collier's exclusively in the weekly magazine field in 1941. Our experience proved that Collier's is generally recognized by our customers and dealers as a medium that lends itself particularly to point-of-sale merchandising, which is tremendously important in our type of business.

"Our Visking-cased products and SKINLESS Frankfurters have special appeal to the younger-minded housewives, and it is with this vast group that Collier's does such a swell job of selling."

RESCUED, 19 TELL OF HARDSHIPS ON STORMSWEPT ICE

Fate of Man and His Wife Remains Uncertain.

L'Anse, Mich., March 17 [Special].—Stories of severe hardship in zero weather, while floating about in Lake Superior on crumbling ice floes before a 45 mile wind, were told today by 19 persons after they were cast ashore. Two others, a man and his wife, are unaccounted for.

Nineteen men and two women were fishing thru the ice off L'Anse yesterday when the storm struck. A large field of ice broke away from the shore pack to drift before the wind, carrying the 21 persons with it. Waves 25 feet high prevented coast guards from launching surfboats to attempt their rescue.

Members of the fishing group were scattered over a square mile of ice when the floe broke away. As the day wore on and the storm increased the floe broke into pieces, separating the fishermen into small groups. Fortunately, some had taken pieces of canvas to shelter them from the wind while they fished. All carried lunches.

Without Fuel for a Fire.

The temperature fell from freezing to near zero and their food froze. They were without fuel to build a fire. Realizing they might drift for hours, each group erected walls of ice to shelter them from the wind, using their canvas to form a roof.

In telling of their suffering, many members of the group admitted they had abandoned hope of rescue. They believed the ice floe would be blown far out into the lake before rescuers could reach them. They feared the ice would break into small pieces, plunging them to their death in the waters of Lake Superior.

After the wind lulled somewhat toward dawn, their hopes rose. When daylight came they could see solid shore ice.

One Woman Reaches Safety.

Donald Koski told how he and four companions reached the mainland and walked seven hours until they came to the Sirard brothers lumber camp near Skanee.

A large floe carried 10 other persons, including Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koivanen of Baraga, to the mainland at a spot near Pine Point.

Three others were blown against Huron mountain and made their way to safety. Arnie Passanen, who had passed the night alone on a small cake of ice, was blown ashore near L'Anse.

The whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Karmanin of Pelkie are uncertain, but it is believed they are safe on Huron Island.

Circus Queen

JOAN MONROE.

WIND THAT BLEW ZERO IN BLOWS IT BACK OUT AGAIN

A welcome letup from the severe cold and strong winds of the last two days is predicted for today. Temperatures are expected to climb to 22 degrees by this afternoon, and to 32 or higher by tomorrow. And the wind will taper off.

Not since March 17, 1900, when the temperature registered 1 degree below zero, has Chicago experienced so cold a St. Patrick's day. At 7 a. m. yesterday the mercury dropped to 1 above.

Chicagoans suffered more from the wind than the cold, however. From Sunday afternoon until yesterday afternoon they were buffeted by gusts that at times reached an official velocity of 46 miles an hour.

The present cold wave, Forecaster Gordon E. Dunn said, was brought in by the high wind and is being carried out in the same way.

30 Workmen Rescued After Tunnel Caves In

Andrews, N. C., March 17 (AP).—Thirty workmen on the Nantahala Light & Power company's hydroelectric project near here were rescued today after being entombed for nine hours by the cave-in of stone at the entrance of a tunnel they were digging. Some were hospitalized, altho seriousness of the accident was alleviated by the fact that air conditioning apparatus and light wires into the tunnel were not broken. The men are employés of the Utah Construction company.

HERO LIST KEEPS PACE WITH DEATH TOLL IN BLIZZARD

Storm Victims Die Trying to Rescue Others.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 17 [Special].—As known deaths in the North Dakota and Minnesota blizzard mounted steadily to 66 late tonight, stories of heroism—sometimes in vain—kept pace with tales of suffering, privation, and want.

Thirty-eight of the dead were residents of North Dakota and 28 lived in Minnesota. Twenty-one bodies were found today.

Vernon Jacobsen, member of a searching party, told how a dying boy, 10 years old, saved his twin.

Jacobsen saw a small hand waving from a snowdrift. He dug into the snow and found Richard Taylor clasping the body of his brother, Robert. Two other brothers—Leo, 17, and Donald, 15—were dead. Richard died a short time later. Robert is in a hospital in a serious condition.

Conductor Joseph Nelson and Engineer H. A. Nelson of the Great Northern railroad's Winnipeg Limited saved the lives of eight persons Sunday morning.

Three Mercy Stops.

Near Euclid, Minn., they saw a man waving from a stalled automobile. They stopped the train and took four men aboard.

Near Shirley, Minn., two men walking on a highway signaled. The train was stopped again. The men said their automoble was stalled on ahead of the train. A few miles farther down the track a third emergency stop was made to rescue a man and woman.

Sid Boniame, Great Northern station agent at Tilden, Minn., gave his life early Sunday in an effort to save his wife and their small child. When their car was blown off a highway near Crookston, Minn., Boniame wrapped his wife and child in blankets and set out afoot for aid. He never returned. His widow and child were saved. Today his frozen body was found on a highway.

More than 20 persons are in hospitals in the area bounded by Grand Forks, Fargo, and Crookston. They are suffering from frostbite and exhaustion. Some are reported in a serious condition.

Battle Highway Drifts.

Working in temperatures 7 to 10 degrees below zero, highway crews continued to fight snow drifts on main highways today. Side roads remained blocked for the most part and none would hazard a guess on how many more victims may be found when these roads are opened.

Most of the storm victims froze to death after falling from exhaustion, or from suffocation. Little snow fell during the blizzard, but wind which at times reached 85 miles an hour—and for hour upon hour blew at 70 miles—whipped up dry snow, reduced visibility to a few feet, and choked those who tried to breast it.

Many victims were found only short distances from their homes or from shelters they had tried to reach. Others lost their way, missed their homes, and then perished.

FBI JOINS SEARCH FOR SABOTEURS IN PENNSY WRECK

Only Three Aboard Train Escape Unhurt; 5 Dead.

Baden, Pa., March 17 (AP).—A determined hunt for saboteurs blamed for the Pennsylvania railroad passenger train wreck last night in which five were killed and 114 injured, was started today by federal, state, and railroad agencies.

The Cleveland to Pittsburgh express, roaring thru a blinding snowstorm at a mile-a-minute speed, struck a loosened rail a mile from this Ohio river community and hurtled from the tracks.

The locomotive and tender overturned and the five cars plunged down a 50 foot embankment. Two of the cars, a baggage car and a day coach, splashed into six feet of water in the Ohio river and the others rolled to the river's edge.

Only 3 of the 111 passengers and 11 crew men escaped injury or death.

Road Offers $5,000 Reward.

E. W. Smith, vice president of the railroad, asserted "definite evidence of sabotage" had been discovered and announced a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible.

"That the train was wrecked deliberately was established upon inspection of the track," he said. "All spikes on both sides had been pulled from the outside rail, next to the river. One end of the rail, the end facing the oncoming locomotive, was moved 22 inches. The bolts had been removed from the splice bars."

Samuel McKee, agent in charge of the FBI in Pittsburgh, promised "a complete and exhaustive investigation," but declined further comment.

Disgruntled Worker Blamed.

Veteran railroaders expressed belief a disgruntled railroad employé or a former railroad worker tampered with the rail because it was skilfully done, without breaking the signal "bond" wire attached to the rail.

A track foreman said it "looks like two men were responsible and they knew what they were doing. They were old railroad men." A claw bar "bright with recent use," which apparently had been employed to pry out the spikes, was found near the tracks.

PARENTS CHARGE REDS TRY TO RULE SCHOOL ACTIVITY

Grand Jury Inquires Into Possibility of Perjury.

New York, March 17 [Special].—Charges that communists have tried to seize control of the United Parents association, a federation of 240 local organizations with 100,000 members thruout New York, were made by U. P. A. leaders today. At the same time District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office started a grand jury investigation of possible perjury by witnesses before a legislative committee investigating subversive activities in city schools.

"A small communist influenced minority, by disorderly tactics, has been making every attempt to bore from within and establish dominance over this organization," said a statement signed by Mrs. Jacob Schechter, president of the U. P. A.; Samuel Orr, treasurer, and 30 leaders of local parent-teacher associations.

One method by which the communist dominated group has been aiming at control was thru election of its special slate of candidates on May 5, according to the statement.

Follows U. P. A. "Civil War."

The statement said a long internal battle has been fought within the U. P. A. and that the leaders finally decided the proper method of combatting the subversive influence was to expose it fully.

The legislative investigation of city schools was approved by the U. P. A. by a margin of only four votes and Mrs. Schechter admonished members to shake off the lethargy that had permitted the red group to assume a rôle out of proportion to its strength in the organization.

Saul Gelb, an assistant district attorney, spent the week-end with investigators for the legislative committee studying testimony of witnesses concerning their past or present membership in the communist party. Several cases of perjury were reported to have been disclosed.

The committee has heard testimony that 50 or more past or present faculty members of the tax supported College of the City of New York were members of the communist party.

Denies Teaching Communism.

Morris U. Shappes, an English instructor and an admitted former communist, who was suspended Saturday, issued a statement today denying that he taught his students communistic principles or persuaded other teachers to engage in subversive activities.

Shappes' testimony before the committee to the effect that he knew only four communists on the City College faculty will be studied by the grand jury. Other faculty members have contradicted this testimony.

Dewey's assistants also will delve into reports that certain persons were instructed to deny membership in the communist party when called before the legislative committee.

Sues Announcer

MYRA BRATTON BRADLEY.

Hollywood, Cal., March 17 [Special].—For the second time in their little more than a year of married life, Myra Bratton Bradley, screen actress, today filed a suit for divorce in Los Angeles county Superior court against Truman Bradley, radio announcer.

The complaint is cruelty. It states that the couple was married in Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 12, 1940, and parted last March 7. Last summer, according to Mrs. Bradley's attorney, she filed a similar action but dismissed it when a reconciliation was effected. Since their last separation the actress and the announcer have signed a property settlement agreement, her lawyer said.

DEPUTY BAILIFF'S ACTS AS WITNESS PROBED BY HORAN

Al Horan, chief bailiff of the Municipal court, last night said that he was investigating the conduct of Abraham Margolis, one of his deputies, who appeared yesterday in the South State Street court to plead for two men who were charged with violation of state conservation laws.

Horan said it is against the rules of his office for his deputies to make such an appearance in court or to practice law. He said Margolis, a Democratic precinct captain, will be questioned today. Margolis could not be reached last night for comment.

In court Judge Joseph J. Drucker continued until Sept. 17 hearing on charges against Dan Shapiro and Milton Sax after Margolis had pleaded for dismissal of the case. The two men are accused of having in their possession carp which were shorter than the legal length of 16 inches.

STEEL WORKERS QUIT IN PROTEST ON UNION VOTING

Several Hundred in Move at Bethlehem Plant.

Johnstown, Pa., March 17 (AP).—A "protest" walkout called by the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee at the seven mile long Bethlehem Steel corporation's plant here, slowed down production today and tonight. The plant has several million dollars in government orders.

There was disagreement on the number of men involved. The management intimated only "several hundred" workers were out.

Report 5,000 Men Out.

Walter Anderson, union organizer, declared 5,000 of the 15,000 employés failed to report in protest against the placing of ballot boxes inside the mill by the Employés Representation Plan for nomination of 47 candidates.

Anderson said there had been a tentative agreement with the management to call off the walkout at 11 p. m. Pickets, however, appeared at the principal gates before the 11 o'clock shift was to have reported and Anderson said this had been done because the ballot boxes had not been withdrawn.

Warns of Shutdown.

Anderson said also that the union had warned the company it would bring about a "complete shutdown of the whole works" if the ERP attempts to hold an election March 26.

James Gent, subregional director of the SWOC, said the company was permitting the ERP to operate in defiance of a National Labor Relations board order in August, 1939, directing it be disbanded on grounds it was company dominated. The company appealed this decision to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Other Labor Developments.

Labor developments in other parts of the country today were as follows:

BOSTON, Mass.—A Shipbuilding Workers' union announced today that it had notified federal officials that failure of negotiations with officials of the Bethlehem Steel company's east Boston shipyard had caused the union to authorize its executive board "to take any action it may deem necessary to bring about a successful conclusion." The yard employs 700 men on ship repairs.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Strikers at the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting corporation plant, described as a bottleneck in Pacific coast aircraft manufacturing, withdrew their proposals and said new demands would be submitted Thursday. They placed negotiations in the hands of international representatives of the CIO United Automobile Workers, aircraft division. The union demands wage increases and a closed shop.

DAYTON, O. (AP).—Isaac Penner, New York electrical contractor, tonight asserted that a United States army officer had asked him to discharge a crew of CIO laborers whose employment precipitated a strike of AFL building trades employés at Wright field. At the same time officials of the Office of Production Management said in Washington, D. C., they looked for an early settlement of the strike that has tied up a $5,900,000 expansion program at Wright field since early this month. Penner said recently his firm had a contract with the CIO and he had no choice but to use its men. The strike was the second here; a two day shutdown in January called by the AFL because Penner used CIO men, ended when the war department suspended the Penner contract. Later the project was ordered resumed and the AFL called the second walkout.

Steel Products Plant Shut.

VALPARAISO, Ind.—AFL and CIO representatives were negotiating tonight in an effort to settle a strike which closed the Indiana Steel Products company plant here early today, throwing 200 men employed on armaments orders out of work. A jurisdictional dispute between the unions was said to have caused the strike.

PEORIA, Ill.—The Illinois State Employés union said today that 100 of its members in the state highway department had struck in protest against the discharge of fellow members by the Republican administration. Most of the strikers were maintenance men, the union reported. The union claimed department officials had promised to reinstate the discharged workers seven weeks ago, but had not done so.

Purse and $4,225 in Gems Seized by Thief in Loop

Mrs. Elizabeth LaMotte, 2737 Ridge avenue, Evanston, reported to police yesterday a thief had stolen her purse last Wednesday at State and Monroe streets. The purse contained $60 and jewelry valued at $4,225. Mrs. LaMote, who is 50 years old, and head of a loop dramatic school, said she had delayed reporting the theft to police until her insurance company had advised her to do so.

FEATHERING A NEST AT HOUSTON.

Houston and Washington far outran all the other big cities in population growth during the last 10 years. As for Washington, everybody knows why. It was due to the enlargement of the public crib. Doubling of the federal pay rolls since early 1933 has made Washington a boom town. What about Houston? What caused it to jump from 26th place among American cities to 21st place in just 10 years?

The answer is that Houston's first citizen has become a mighty power at Washington, and in a line of work which enables him to cause new industries to choose Houston for their operations. Mr. Jesse Jones of Houston was formerly chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and now is the director of all federal loan agencies. He can approve of a loan for a plant at X and refuse money for a similar operation at Y.

It appears that so long as Mr. Jones runs the federal lending agencies X equals Houston. Industries hitherto unknown in the cotton and oil country round about that city have been constructing plants there, financed by loans from the agencies administered by Mr. Jones of Houston.

Nor has the development ceased. Last summer Mr. Jones was interested in the nation's tin supply. An order for a good year's supply was finally placed by the RFC with the tin monopoly. Again in recent weeks the RFC took action with respect to tin. This time it was to make a loan to a Dutch company to build a tin smelter near Houston. This is an especially nice enterprise for Mr. Jones to fetch home, because when the war is over and other communities are wondering what is to happen to their smokeless powder plants and airplane engine factories, the smelting of tin near Houston will go on without interruption.

The Sheffield Steel company with its principal plant at Kansas City is building a 17 million dollar plant at Houston, largely financed with federal funds supplied by Mr. Jones' RFC. There are three shipyards involving new plants or the expansion of old ones, with government orders of over 100 million dollars, all financed by government money. There are other plants for the neighborhood to produce chemicals for the government and synthetic rubber.

The old economic history books used to point out that a local supply of capital was one of the most important influences in determining the location of new factories. The stock illustration was New Bedford, Mass. About 1850 the whaling industry set free a considerable amount of local capital there, and this was available to finance some cotton mill operators who at this time were seeking a new location. Future economic historians will point out that in this era Washington pull far outweighed all of the factors which used to determine industrial localization, and will recite how well Houston did on RFC money.

THE GRAVY TRAIN IN THE SUBWAY.

Ald. John S. Boyle wants the city council finance committee to hold public hearings on how the city has spent nearly $3,500,000 out of the traction fund in the last three years. The fund, accumulated from street car fares paid by Chicago citizens, has become a "sweet spot for high salaried experts," he suspects vocally.

As we had occasion to remark recently, it's the construction funds that provide the real political gravy. The routine operations of government, to alter the metaphor, furnished the bread and butter, but the jam comes when a city, state or nation starts building something.

Chicago is getting little enough for the millions it is sinking in the subway. It has no assurance at present that when the tubes are finished they can be used for anything more than mushroom culture. The expenditures that Ald. Boyle wants to investigate have not even been used for actual subway building. They have gone for planning and legal talent.

Of course, any large engineering project involves heavy expenses for design and supervision. But those are also favorite spots for loading the gravy train. The people of Chicago do not have to strain their memories much to recall the expert fee scandals of the early '20s. If everything is sweet and lovely in the traction fund expenditures, the best way to prove it is to hold a comprehensive public investigation of the manner of the spending and its recipients.

A PRACTICAL PROPOSAL.

One house of the New York legislature a few days ago passed a resolution condemning the St. Lawrence seaway and power development proposal. The other house is expected to support the resolution also. The legislators say "it would seem an act of national folly to dissipate labor and resources on a project not vitally necessary and which could not be placed in operation before 1948. The United States should concentrate now upon construction of airplanes, ships, guns, tanks, and other munitions."

So far as the seaway is concerned, it will provide an unneeded and nonself-supporting transportation facility. Only 5 per cent of the ships which could use the waterway are American owned.

The real purpose behind the project, the purpose which enables the President to classify it as needed for national defense, is the electrical power which it is expected to develop. This power is supposed to be marketed and distributed thru some such agency of state socialism as TVA.

New York, the one state in the Union which might be expected to use the power, is strongly opposed to the scheme. It has already been rejected twice by the United States senate. If the state of New York, thru its elected representatives, says the expenditure would be an act of national folly, the conclusion should be accepted by the federal congress if it is asked once again to approve the proposal.

The Office of Production Management has just recommended action by the secretary of state to obtain from Canada the right to divert more water into the generators at Niagara Falls, N. Y. The Niagara Falls Power company has several generators not in use at present. If there is a shortage of electrical energy in the region this proposal seems to offer a sensible method of relieving it. What the real merits of the plan may be we do not venture to say, but it can be said definitely that if additional power is needed for armament factories in western New York this appears to be a way to obtain it before the war is over. The St. Lawrence scheme offers no such advantage.

THE TAX ON GROSS INCOME.

The ways and means committee is starting work on the 1941 tax bill. And some of the details have leaked out. Among the reported changes in the present income tax is a cut in the exemption for single persons to $400 per year and for married persons to $1,600 per year. The tax rate has been progressively increased and now runs to 83 per cent on the highest incomes. But the government has never before found it necessary to collect anything from people getting just above $8 per week.

How much would be yielded by tapping these low incomes has not been revealed. But in any event the largest revenue yield is expected from another and additional tax—a 5 per cent levy on salaries and wages above $30 per week. This 5 per cent bite would be deducted for the government by the employer the way social security taxes are collected now. From the gross income tax there would be no deductions or credits or allowances. The amount you are paid would be your taxable income, no matter how much it cost you to earn your income or how many children you have.

The gross income tax collected by a checkoff is simple and effective. No figuring to do on complicated forms. No explanations to citizens who don't understand. No petty delinquencies. An ideal system of taxation from the standpoint of the tax gatherer, with the obligation to pay the tax not placed upon the recipient of the income, but upon one who pays the recipient. It's quite painless to pay taxes when it's not your money.

Once applied to salaries and wages, the checkoff method will no doubt be extended to other kinds of income. The house renter will be asked to take something out of the rent and remit to the collector of internal revenue. The corporation treasury will make a deduction from dividends and bond interest and the mortgagor will take out the tax before paying interest to the mortgagee.

But, altho a gross income tax docked at the source is admirable from the standpoint of the treasury, it may be most disastrous in its effect upon the taxed. The government in the past has levied upon net income, recognizing that the total amount passing thru the hands of a taxpayer in a year was not an unfailing measure of his ability to pay taxes. Moreover, exemptions heretofore have been granted on the theory that the taxed should have a minimum of subsistence free from assessment. If the government adopts a gross income tax it will be evident that it is so hard up that it can no longer allow people even to have the bare cost of living to go untaxed. It wants some of the income even of those who now are barely getting by. As the President said Saturday night, he expects sacrifices from all.

If the government adopts the 5 per cent tax on gross income it will do so not alone to raise income. The other objective is to drain off in taxes income that would be used for family purposes. This would result in diverting some plants from peacetime products to war materials.

In the warring countries a civilian may not buy an automobile, a radio, or many other things which help to make life enjoyable. And he may have only his ration of other things which we regard as the necessities of life. The reduction of the standard of living makes possible the production of more of the instruments of war. Here the citizen apparently is not going to be told that he may not buy an automobile or new furniture or some luxury. The same purpose will be accomplished by systematically reducing the buying power of consumers. Rationing seemingly is to be reserved for use later.

BATTING AVERAGE, .500.

Mrs. Lue R. Burns of East St. Louis is not the first lady to have had four husbands, nor is that her chief distinction. Her fame rests upon the fact that she has shot and killed two of them, which is unusual even in this jurisdiction. In 1931 she disposed of a Mr. Clay. The coroner's jury promptly exonerated her. Within a year Mr. Burns chose to live dangerously. He did until January of this year when she dispatched him. This time she went to trial, but a jury of six men and six women has just acquitted her.

It is to be hoped—but not too confidently—that this acquittal will not put notions in pretty little heads. There was a time when self-made widows were common in these parts. Juries refused to convict them. Finally came the day when one of them was convicted and from that moment the life expectancy of married men began to lengthen. It would be a pity if the process were to be reversed.

The jury which did the acquitting was not allowed to hear about Mr. Clay. That is the law, and it has its justifications. Still it might be a good idea to require that a widow about to remarry inform her prospective husband of the cause of his predecessor's death. Perhaps Mr. Burns knew about Mr. Clay and perhaps he didn't. It may be argued that if Mr. Burns didn't know, he was guilty of negligence, but a death sentence seems to be a pretty stiff sort of a penalty for the offense.

NOTE THE DIFFERENCE.

[Daily Oklahoman.]

When the underbrush caught fire during the battle of Kenesaw mountain and wounded soldiers of the Union army were in danger of being burned to death, a Confederate brigadier commanded his men to cease firing, and leaping upon the breastworks he appealed to the Union troops to save their wounded comrades and assured them that there would be no firing until the wounded had been removed. But when Greeks were removing the wounded from the earthquake riddled city of Larissa, they were bombed by Italian air raiders. What wouldn't Sherman have said if he had ever served in a European war!

The Duke's Opinion of Women's Clubs.

Dear Mr. Linemaster: Was it a poet or some other non-eating species that invented tha saying, "A woman's place is in tha home"? Whoever it was, why didn't they say whether it was the home for feeble-minded or a 2nd choice like mebbe a home fer stray eats. Ennyway how can women stray from home till past 6 o'clock when they know a guy's waiting to put on the feed-bag?

Last night she pops in all outa breath at ½ past six. Her opening number I calls the "Can-Can," but instead of fans she uses can-openers. I'm sporting a meat an potatoe puss an whadda I get? Canned soup, canned salmon and canned applesauce. Even our pups got their grub out of a can. Between dainty morsels of my tid-bits, I asks her in a very gentlemanly manner as to where tha hell she's been and heres tha lowdown:

Ten women in tha block started a club which they're gonna call the W. W. W. society. Fer a minute I thought I'd go nutz cause I got visions of them reserecting the "We want Willkie" farce, but she says it stands for "Why want war?" They went so far as to ask tha mama if she wood be secretary, but she didn't accept an I think I know why, cause if ya asked her what a secretary was she'd tell ya it was a hunk of furniture.

Fat Mrs. Feigenholtz says as how she was willing to hold her end up as seargent at arms. If she did that she woodn't need a sword. Tha mama says she was glad she went cause Mrs. Goodman, who's smart like everything, explained what tha "Lend-Lease" bill was all about. Her version is that if you wood lend somebody somethin tha lease they cood do wood be to bring it back [maybe I'm nutz].

Miss Chalmers, who is still going steady with Doc. Specter the dentist on account he aint quite finished with her bridge work, closed tha meeting by asking tha girls to sing tha Star Spangled Banner, but cause nobody knew tha words they settled on "The Old Oaken Bucket." When I'm told that tha next meeting is gonna be at our house I says, "Over my dead body," and whadda ya think happened? Duke Bakrak.

Who tears the smoke from the tall smokestack,
Twisting and roping it, hither and back?

DO WE NEED THE SPLEEN?

MOST of us are aware that the spleen lies on the left side of the body, within the abdominal cavity. It is in much the same relative position as the liver, altho far smaller. In a normal adult its weight is approximately seven ounces and, in appearance, it is flattened, oblong, and purplish in shade. It belongs to the ductless glands, which means that it possesses no outlet. One of its jobs is to destroy old red blood cells, saving the hemoglobin [red coloring matter], which is made available for reuse by newly formed corpuscles.

Occasionally, however, this organ will misbehave. For example, in Banti's disease [splenic anemia], it becomes tender and greatly enlarged. In consequence, the individual may become a bleeder. Quite apart from this tendency, the victim may complain of weakness and exhibit marked pallor. Sometimes fluid will collect within the abdomen. The increase in size of the structure may reach 10 times normal. The liver may be damaged reflexly and—if something is not done, and that speedily—the patient may start on a downhill course.

The remedy lies in getting rid of the overactive spleen, if possible, before the liver likewise begins to thicken. Care should be taken to maintain the blood in a fluid state following surgery, otherwise clotting in important vessels may present a serious complication.

One of our most dramatic medical victories has to do with hemolytic jaundice. This, too, is related to the spleen. The malady causes a rapid breakdown of the red cells, with the result that a tremendous amount of hemoglobin is set free within a short time. As a matter of defense, the body utilizes this substance to manufacture bile pigments [colors] which are sent wherever the circulation can reach. The characteristic symptom, then, is jaundice.

Some individuals appear to be born with the condition, which may show fluctuation—improving or becoming worse at intervals. Here the spleen proper is only slightly swollen, but it pours out enough chemicals to demolish the red cells far too rapidly.

If a blood check is made it will usually record the corpuscles numbering between one and two millions less than the proper requirement. After a time the ailment settles down into a chronic state with the whites of the eyes becoming yellowish, as well as the skin. In severe cases the disorder can become dangerous enough to threaten life—that is, the anemia may be quite too profound to be withstood.

Here, again, removal of the organ offers relief only when the red cells are spherical in shape. It is the presence of the rounded type that tells us that extirpating the offending gland will bring recovery. The operation should be performed at a time when there is no need for transfusions.

Finally there is another illness—termed "Gaucher's disease"—which disturbs children particularly. It comes on slowly and the abdomen becomes larger because of the overgrowth of the spleen. The added bulk is a common source of discomfort. These patients, too, may suffer from numerous hemorrhages. Dark areas on the skin are common and they may occur irregularly on exposed parts of the body with a deposit of yellow brown patches, which are not true jaundice. The bones also show a motheaten, or punched out, appearance which is definitely weakening.

It may be difficult to distinguish this affliction from Banti's disease but the treatment is the same—namely, an early surgical attack on the spleen. Every now and then recovery will prove spectacular.

We need the organ—but when its antics threaten life we can get along without it. It is never wise to resort to surgery until the patient is in what—to him—is top physical trim. While the procedure presents some risks, it is the lesser of two evils. In the hands of experts the hazard is not great.

COUGH AFTER COLD.

Miss S. J. K. writes: What is the best treatment for a persistent cough resulting from a severe cold?

REPLY.

Assuming that tuberculosis is not present, the usual treatment for bronchitis is suggested. This includes breathing medicated steam and the use of drugs to liquefy the secretions and allay the irritation. Every effort should be made to raise resistance, with good food, plenty of rest, fresh air, and possibly a tonic. If fever is detected—even a degree—confinement to bed is imperative.

SENSITIVE TO MICE.

H. G. writes: I am allergic to mice. These animals inhabit my place of business and cause eczema. How can I immunize myself?

REPLY.

If you are not allergic to cat fur, an ambitious and healthy young "Thomas" may be the answer. A multitude of enticingly baited traps will help decrease the cause. In addition, metal covers may be provided for all articles of food. This will oblige the "varmints" to transfer their affections to the neighbors.

NOT THE SAME.

B. N. writes: Are gout and inflammatory rheumatism the same?

REPLY.

Quite different. Gout is a disease wherein too much uric acid is stored within the body. Rheumatism, on the other hand, may be an infection, or a metabolic disorder unrelated to uric acid.

NOT HARMFUL.

R. T. writes: Is it safe for a person with high blood pressure to take tablets containing all the vitamins?

REPLY.

A COSTLY COMPROMISE.

Chicago, March 14.—A resolution was presented to one of the subcommittees of the platform committee of the Illinois Republican convention last summer which said among other things, that "the party of internationalism and war is the New Deal Democratic party. The Republican party is the party of peace and Americanism." This was adopted with modification of form by the Republican state convention. This plank was presented to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia, but the platform or resolutions committee refused to accept it.

Senator Brooks reported to the caucus of the Illinois delegates that his fight against the interventionists for the Illinois plank had reached a point in the committee where he could do no more. Then a member of the Illinois delegation suggested that in order to preserve unity in the party and prevent an open fight on the convention floor, the Illinois delegates ought to accept the decision of the resolutions committee with its innocuous and pretended antiwar plank and that Senator Brooks make an explanatory statement to the convention, attempting to give the Illinois plank character to the national plank. At that moment an important battle in the fight for American freedom and liberty was lost.

Hindsight is always better than foresight. But this much is sure: If the Illinois delegation had remained adamant in its fight for the Illinois plank, a fight on the floor would have developed with some likelihood of being won. The majority of the delegates were antiwar like the majority of Americans, and a vote would have brought out a division between the peace group and the war group. The war group were against the party and the people anyhow. They would only be for Roosevelt or a Roosevelt Republican for President. And even tho the rupture might have given appearance of weakness to the party, it couldn't have done any more than what subsequently happened. It would have been better for the party to have gone down in defeat flying the flag of Americanism than to be hypocritical about its position. The open rupture on the war issue would probably have stopped the nomination of Willkie.

From this incident, Republicans or Democrats or people in any organization can learn a lesson: "Never compromise on a fundamental principle." The Illinois plank was a fundamental principle. The moment you compromise on this kind of situation you have lost, and the Republican party and the country lost when Illinois compromised upon the only issue which could get the support of the majority of American people—the antiwar issue. William J. Grace.

TITLE TO LAND.

Chicago, March 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought and paid for some lots in an undeveloped part of the city several years ago. Due to the depression the area was not developed and I stopped paying taxes about 10 years ago when I transferred the title of the property to my mother who has been deceased six years and whose will has been probated. The property is not listed in her will but in looking up the title with the idea of selling or using the property as a homesite I find the deed is recorded in my mother's name and the property belongs to her estate. However, no taxes have been paid.

1. How should I proceed in order to get the title transferred to my name so that I can give a clear title in case I wish to sell the property?

2. Will it be necessary to employ an attorney?

If so [3] what is considered a minimum fee for such work?

4. Will it be necessary to get each member of the family to sign a quitclaim deed?

If so [5] where can I secure the necessary forms? M. L.

1. Additional probate proceedings would be necessary in order to produce a technically salable title. Your chances of finding a purchaser who would waive probate depend on the amount involved, on whether all of the heirs would join in the deed and on other facts that are not before us.
2. Probably yes.
3. See 1.
4. Probably yes.
5. There are no standard forms for such an exceptional situation.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

HOMESPUN ECONOMICS.

New Hampton, Ia., March 13.—Now the farmers are crying that industry and labor are getting rich out of the defense program while the farmer is getting nothing, and they want the government to raise the loan ratio of several products.

Suppose the government should do that and later should have to foreclose and sell the stuff for what it would bring. In such a case the government would be selling in competition with the farmers' new crop, and that action would cause lower prices again. In the meantime, encouraged by the larger loan, the farmers would have been trying harder than ever to raise large crops, thus adding another threat to the stability of prices.

The best thing to do for the farmer is to take the tax load off him. Taxation is not easily dodged by the farmer. His property stands out in front of the assessor's eyes like tobacco juice on a hillbilly's whiskers.

The farmer is out there battling many natural obstacles, taking the first gamble, and asking how much "they" will give him for his and how much "they" will take for theirs. All that the farmer has been able to do about these things is to look around in a bewildered manner like a lost rooster after dark.

In all the ages nothing effective has been done toward getting a square deal for the farmer. Once in a while he gets a new deal, but that is not saying he gets a square one. It seems that farmers are inexorably held to a disadvantageous position like a foolish boy's tongue on a frosty wagon tire.

Every once in a while the vote hunters hold out hopes to the farmer and he gets all heated up. In a little while, tho, owing to natural laws and thru the realization that the politicians have fooled him once more, he cools off like hot tallow on a cold boot.

Maybe the farmer should just be satisfied with being his own boss if "they" will let him. Walter N. Crawford.

TOWARD A NAZI AMERICA.

Chicago, March 14.—There has been a tentative suggestion that a 5% tax be assessed against wages in the United States to help defray armament costs.

Under ordinary conditions I certainly would be among the last to agree to such a program, but living under the conditions that the New Deal has brought upon us I certainly favor such a tax, altho it might better be 10% in order to make a dent upon the cost.

It is time that all wage earners come to realize that the cost of "spending to prosperity" must be met some time and should be met partially by this generation and not all handed over to our children.

Six years ago a friend of our family spent several months in Germany on business and upon her return she informed us that earners were being assessed 20% of their wages to pay for Hitler's armament program. This wage tax would be only one more of our steps toward Hitler's system of operating a country.

I predict the next step will be a curtailment of union activities which are adverse to the plans of the New Deal administration. Mark K. Christy.

LA GUARDIA DEFENDED.

Madison, Wis., March 13.—As a native New Yorker I believe that your most unfair criticism of our own mayor "Butch" La Guardia is most unjustified.

My father happens to be one of those employers in the garment center upon whom you have stated many injustices have been heaped by the mayor's labor policies. I'd like you to stand corrected. Were it not for that policy of quick and fair settlement of any differences existing between capital and labor New York would have had those riots which you mentioned but except in a few cases never happened.

It may also surprise you to note that the great majority of New York's employers are well satisfied with the mayor and his policies as shown by the election returns which were not machine returns of the type for which your most unfair and sooty city of Chicago is noted.

You also mention nothing about the mayor's efforts in obtaining housing developments, slum clearance, belt parkways, recreational facilities, many new schools [especially of the vocational type], the reduction of crime, and the further guaranteeing the rights of its citizens to meet happily.

Don't try to pin the word "Red" on me. I am the son of a middle-class capitalist and have every desire to follow along the same lines of my predecessors.

Samuel D. Ehrenpreis.

SAVE OUR REPUBLIC.

St. Louis, Mo., March 13.—Your latest platform doesn't contain many words, but believe me those three words mean a great deal to the American people.

The Chicago Tribune and the America First committee also mean a great deal to those of us who love America. Thank God that we have them! I called at the newsstands of three of the leading hotels here this morning before I was able to get a Tribune, as the first two had sold out and that was 9:30. W. G.

WHERE CHARITY BEGINS.

Berwyn, Ill., March 11.—In doing our share for Red Cross and Bundles for Britain let's not forget the many thousand unfortunate people in our own back yard. Family welfare groups are found in almost every city and are glad to accept donations of clothing, canned goods, toys for nurseries, money for milk fund, etc. Hines hospital, Cook county hospital, Oak Forest, and Dunning are some of the many institutions we may help in Chicagoland. H. Noble.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Chicago, March 12.—Answering L. S.: Why shouldn't the older men go into the army? They are the ones who have had the privilege of voting and are responsible for our present status. The young men who have just become 21 have had no voice in shaping our destiny. Let those responsible shoulder the burden!

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 27.

1. You should expect to find a singletree on a Bicycle Wagon Automobile Perambulator.
2. Legally, the minimum number of persons necessary for a riot is 1 2 3 11.
3. If a hunter killed a shoat, he would be able to dine upon
Pork Venison Beef Mutton.
4. If a farmer said he had lost money because of the roup, his statement would indicate that death had overtaken many of his Hogs Chickens Horses Sheep.
5. Which of the following pencils has the hardest lead?
No. 1 No. 2 No. 3 No. 4.
6. Here's a problem for those of you with a fondness for arithmetic. The world's record for the fastest baseball pitched is 139 feet per second. Since we are more accustomed to thinking in terms of miles per hour I want you to translate this speed into miles per hour, thus contrasting it with such common speeds as a racing horse, a passenger automobile, or an airplane. You are entitled to five points if you can solve this problem without looking up the number of feet in a mile, and three points if you can obtain the solution after having obtained the latter information from a friend or a book.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8 superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—the last question counts five points.]

Turning out well-groomed men is a fetish with us. Because of our intense interest in good appearance we have enlisted science's newest device for recording the reactions of human eyes as they appraise appearance—the unique Visual Research Eye-Camera.

THEIR EYES MADE 4 TRIPS OVER HIM IN JUST 16.15 SECONDS

Gentlemen—these tests made exclusively for us show that you can expect searching scrutiny when a woman looks at you. Not just the well-known "once over," but four times over—complete coverage of your clothes. Follow the path of those feminine eyes on the chart from the point where they looked first (figure 1) through to figure 24.

SWEARS SCHENCK SANK $403,000 IN MEXICAN RESORT

U. S. Questions Deal as Tax Evasion.

New York, March 17 (AP).—The collapse of a $403,000 investment which Joseph M. Schenck, film magnate, made in the Compania Mexicana del Agua Caliente's vast hotel and casino properties was described by a witness today at Schneck's trial on income tax evasion charges.

Enrique S. Neidhart, who managed the properties until the Mexican government expropriated them in 1938, testified that Schenck paid $403,000 for 67,700 shares of the company's common stock, and sold them to a friend, Roland West, for $50,000 in 1935 after the Mexican government issued a decree prohibiting gambling.

Neidhart said assets of the hotel property are carried on the company's books as worth $3,862,000. "That amount is just carried on the books—just figures," he said.

It is the government's contention that Schenck sold the stock for the purpose of establishing a loss and that he deducted $170,000 from his 1935 income as a result.

—Charges It's Not Bona Fide Sale.

Such sales are permitted under law, but United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa contends that the sale to West was not a bona fide transaction because Schenck allegedly retained control of the stock after its sale. Neidhart testified that at no time after Schenck sold the stock did he vote it.

Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, and Joseph H. Moskowitz, eastern representative, are charged with evading $413,000 income taxes in connection with Schenck's tax returns for 1935, 1936 and 1937. Schenck contends that instead of owing the government money he overpaid his income taxes during those years by $165,000.

Following the Mexican government's decree forbidding gambling, the company suspended its various businesses including a large hotel, gambling casino, numerous bars and grills, clubhouse, golf course, dog racing track, and other concessions, but later reopened and operated until the properties were expropriated.

Suit Pending in Mexican Court.

Neidhart said that a suit now is pending in the Mexican courts for recovery of the value of the Agua Caliente properties.

Books produced by the witness showed that Schenck, a director and vice president, resigned his connection in 1935, when he sold his stock. The books also showed that the witness later voted the stock at meetings on behalf of Roland West, and that Al Gilmore, a physical trainer frequently employed by Schenck, once had voted the stock for West.

Neidhart said that under Mexican law physical presentation of stock is necessary in order to vote it. He said he did not recall the circumstances under which he received the stock for voting purposes, but added that it was customary for various stockholders to send their stock to him for that purpose.

The company, Neidhart said, filed a claim with the United States department of state for recovery of the value of the properties seized by the Mexican government, but the claim—$4,084,000—was denied.

12 MORE HIRED TO BRING ORDER AT ST. CHARLES

Twelve new employés were called from the civil service list yesterday for duty at St. Charles School for Boys in the campaign to halt the scandals which have marked operation of the school in recent years.

Latest in a long series of outbursts occurred last week when two tough inmates, armed with knives, went on a rampage. They slashed another boy and threatened inmates and officials before they were subdued.

Three house fathers, three house mothers, and six custodians of boys were called to service at the school. Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, said they were put to work to bring the operating personnel to normal strength.

Brandon previously had transferred six experienced guards from Joliet penitentiary to St. Charles.

Assignment of the 12 employés was the second step in Brandon's plan to bring order to the school. He previously had transferred six experienced guards from Joliet penitentiary to St. Charles.

Speaks for James

ROMELLE SCHNEIDER.

Hollywood, Cal., March 17 [Special].—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President and a captain of marines, was in the Naval hospital at San Diego today recuperating from what was described as a minor operation.

Attendants were reluctant to discuss Capt. Roosevelt's illness, but in Washington, D. C., White House attachés said the operation was for varicose veins. To telephone inquiries Miss Romelle Schneider, the nurse who helped James back to health at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., replied that the patient will be back at his marine post within several days.

The question of marriage was popped to Miss Schneider while she was on the telephone, and she said:

"Who ever said we were going to get married?"

This Climate's Wonderful, Says Joan Blondell on Visit

Joan Blondell and her husband, Dick Powell, arrived from Hollywood yesterday on the Santa Fe Chief. The two film stars were on their way east. Miss Blondell was wearing a fur coat. But her teeth chattered in the near zero weather. "It's cold," she said. "But I love Chicago. You have a wonderful climate."

FORMER PRISON CHIEF TO PROBE ALIEN ACTIVITY

Ragen Gets Federal Job as Investigator.

Joseph E. Ragen, former state superintendent of prisons and warden of Joliet and Stateville penitentiaries, has been appointed associate supervisor of special investigations for the alien registration department in the Chicago district, it was announced last night by the immigration and naturalization service in Washington, D. C.

Ragen will head investigators supervising more than 253,000 aliens who have registered in Chicago, checking up on those who may have evaded registration, and investigating activities by aliens which might obstruct the national preparedness program.

Expected to Work with Director.

It is expected that he will work in coöperation with Fred J. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration and naturalization.

In Washington Ragen said, "I am going to do my very best in Chicago just like I did at Joliet."

Ragen, a native of Carlyle, Clinton county, enlisted in the navy during the world war and was deputy sheriff and sheriff of Clinton county for four years and county treasurer for two years.

Appointee of Horner.

In 1933 he was named by Gov. Horner as warden of the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard. Two years later he was made acting superintendent of prisons, and, after being confirmed as superintendent, was appointed to the dual wardenship in October, 1935.

Last November Ragen was succeeded as superintendent by L. Fred O'Brien, an appointee of John Stelle, interim governor, but remained as warden of the prisons until March 3.

WARNS BAR UNION AGAINST SLIPPING UNDER GANG RULE

Judge Tells Reports on Bad Practices.

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne gave the new officers of the Bartenders' union stern warning yesterday against returning to the practices which first brought the union under control of Capone gangsters headed by Frank Nitti.

The judge said it has been reported that the officers are acting against the best interests of the members and admonished the officers against practices which he said tend to foster disorder.

"If reports are true," he said, "future litigation will follow."

Court Appointed Aids Ousted.

Judge Dunne appointed Roy D. Keehn receiver to save the union from the mobsters last Aug. 16. Aids appointed by the court served under Keehn. President Louis Romano, termed Nitti's stooge by one faction, resigned. He was replaced by James Crowley, Romano's right hand man, in an election supervised by the court.

The receivership was terminated March 3, and the union was turned over to the new officers. Two days later, Crowley ousted the court appointed aids and rehired men who had been fired by the court. Yesterday's action followed.

Must Pay $16,400 More in Bills.

The judge ordered the officers yesterday to pay $16,400 more in bills resulting from the receivership. They included a final payment of $8,000 on Keehn's $1,750 a month fee; $3,200 to Charles E. McGuire, Keehn's counsel; $2,500 to A. C. Lewis, attorney for George B. McLane, former business agent who brought the gangster charges, and $2,500 to Raymond F. Hayes, an attorney who intervened for one faction of the local, 278.

The union is to be asked later to pay the lawyers who defended Gangster Nitti and his régime.

It will be displayed publicly for the first time at the Chicago Flower show at Navy pier from March 28 to April 5.

Suburbanites Start Move to New Addresses

BY JUDITH CASS.

AS SOON as the first robin chirps in the suburbs moving vans start lumbering up and down the streets, carrying families and their possessions to new homes. The annual tangle of addresses will be at its worst by May 1.

The Woolsey M. Pollocks have purchased the house on Maplewood road in Lake Forest that is known as the old Rogers house, it having once belonged to the late Bernard R. Rogers Jr. The Pollocks will move into their new home as soon as the John P. Wilsons move out and into the Siason Thompson house around the corner which they have bought. Mr. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II. have given up their residence in Libertyville and are moving into the Henry P. Ishams' house in College road, Lake Forest. The Ishams have bought part of the Clayton Mark property.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oates Jr., who have been in Mrs. Edward Hasler's house all winter while remodeling their own, will be back in their residence on Church road next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bischoff are moving to Lake Forest from the near north side on May 1. They have taken the Harold Bodmans' house.

Mrs. Julian A. Soames Is Building Small House.

Mrs. Julian A. Soames is building an attractive small house on a ravine side just inside the main gates of Walden, the Lake Forest estate of the late Cyrus H. McCormick. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Martin Jr. are building a colonial house in Crescent drive in Lake Bluff into which they hope to move in August.

The Arlindo S. Cates [Nancy Knode] will move from Evanston to the Sherman Aldrich house in Oakley avenue, Winnetka, on May 1.

Altho their new home in Barrington still is in the blueprint stage, the Nathaniel Duvals are planning to make a real farm of their property. They are tearing down or remodeling most of the buildings on their land and will erect an entirely new main building.

The junior Henry T. Stantons gave up their trip south this winter in favor of supervising plans for their new home in Wayne. The house will be built near the senior Stantons' home, White Thorns. Work will be started late this month.

Caroline Bullard Howland Returns Here to Reside.

Caroline Bullard Howland's friends are welcoming her back to Chicago after an absence of several years. Mrs. Howland, who has been living in New York, will be with her father, Sellar Bullard, at the Palmer House, until Mr. Bullard returns to his Santa Barbara, Cal., home next week, and then she will find a place to live near her sister, Mrs. John Russell Holmes, and Mr. Holmes, on the near north side.

Mrs. Bullard came west with a former Wells classmate, Mrs. James Slattery, whose husband has been transferred here on business. The Slatterys also are apartment hunting.

Miss Evelyn Calkins and Lieut. Albert William Fletcher were married yesterday afternoon in Montgomery, Ala. Present were the bride's mother, Mrs. George Burnham Calkins, formerly of Hubbard Woods, and the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Fred Schoellkopf IV. of Buffalo. Lieut. Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fletcher of Scarsdale, N. Y. The bride's sister, Mrs. Leonard Dewes Burgweger of Winnetka, departed yesterday for Northampton, Mass., to visit friends.

Indianapolis Symphony Wins City's Acclaim

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Indianapolis Symphony orchestra, which is only four years old as a fully professional group and which rates, therefore, as the precocious youngster among major American orchestras, played its second Chicago concert in Orchestra hall last night under Fabien Sevitzky's direction.

In the Sibelius Second Symphony Mr. Sevitzky threw caution to the winds, treated his young orchestra as if it were the seasoned Vienna Philharmonic—and got some wonderful results! The big theme of the finale had a sweep and passion and breadth that categorically denied the youth of the orchestra. And there was an unhurried, exalted ritardando that was executed without any fussy preparation. It simply happened as naturally and easily as it does in intelligent speech when an important point is about to be made.

The conductor was not quite so bold in Debussy's "The Sea." Here, where the difficulties are immense because of the lack of short, easily apprehended rhythmic groups and because of the necessity of turning mere written notes into the musical equivalent of light and spray, he was content to turn in a pleasant, workmanlike performance.

The sheer tonal beauty of the Indianapolis orchestra was heard to good advantage in Harl McDonald's Poems on Aramaic Themes. The sound was somber and yet translucent at the same time—if you can imagine such a thing. The extreme clarity which Mr. Sevitzky insists on was responsible for this seeming miracle.

The concert began, says this consistently backward running review, with Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla" overture. A good sized audience grew more and more enthusiastic as the evening wore on.

ILLINOIS SYMPHONY

Rather than busy itself with the cultivation of unfamiliar music the Illinois Symphony orchestra stuck close to familiar, acknowledged masterpieces at its concert in the Great Northern theater last night. In so doing it turned out some better than average performances.

Izler Solomon conducted, choosing as the program's feature Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. In a carefully conceived presentation, happily devoid of any pretense or a straining after an original interpretation, he gave a thoroly enjoyable rendition of the work.

An admirable choice of tempo, well sustained, was largely responsible for this. In addition the thematic material was easily and naturally delineated. The difficult sections which lead into and out of the development in the first movement were distinguished by an expert control of the shifting rhythms.

Prior to the symphony Mr. Solomon gave a similarly fine account of Gluck's Overture to "Iphigenia in Aulis," endowing the conclusion with a particularly beautiful expressiveness.

The orchestra's principal cellist, Jenska Siebos, was the soloist, playing Haydn's D Major Concerto. Altho Miss Siebos performed with her usual excellence, her playing last night seemed to have gained in sensitivity and interest over her previous work.

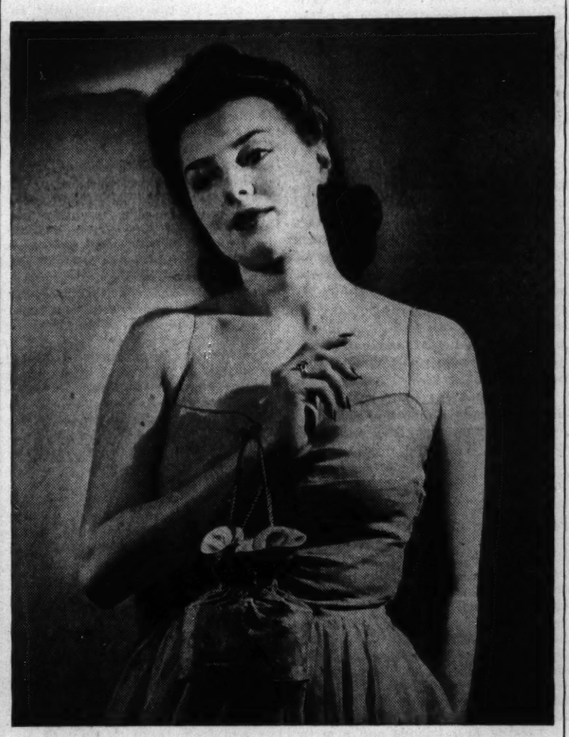
Thru the LOOKING GLASS



A new makeup, keyed to a gay, springlike pink, gives a lift to mood as well as face. Lipstick, rouge and powder are sold separately, but if you like lovely bags you'll take yours assembled in a poke bag of brocade or a slim pochette to carry in your purse.

This is the time to whip your weary winter wardrobe out of its doldrums with lingerie touches. The freshest, frilliest, most demure collars, cuffs, and jabots will make you look and feel properly bedecked for spring.

Maybe you've noticed that overtone of demureness that's creeping into clothes. It's pretty, and what's more, it has a classic trick of being flattering. Streamlined chic is effective, but for day-in and day-out attractiveness most women profit more by costume accents and makeup and manner that emphasize their femininity.

Right in line with this demure fashion is a new makeup. It's keyed to a lovely, lively, and pretty pink. Like lingerie touches on a dark dress, this gives your familiar face a fresh youthful look that's a nice change.

There is rouge to match—either dry or cream—and a heavenly sheer powder in a fragile kind of shade that sets off the youthful brightness of the lipstick perfectly. The whole makeup is of the flower-fresh school, just what you want when you're tired of your face.

The makeup items are available singly, but there are also two beautiful cosmetic bags in which it is assembled. One, most inexpensive, is a pink pochette with gay black lace edging. The other is an adorable poke bag of imported brocade with pink lining. It's the kind of a bag that is useful for evening; in it are rouge, lipstick, powder compact, miror, comb, and change purse.

Dante and His Audience Both Have Lot of Fun

"SIM SALA BIM."

THE PERFORMERS.

Dante [Harry A. Jansen], Moi-Yo Miller, and 35 assistants.

BY CECIL SMITH.

If it's an evening of bafflement and bewilderment you are after, Dante is your man. For two hours and a half the stage of the Erlanger theater is devoted to the dual principle that what is, isn't, and that what isn't, is. If you are absolutely certain that Moi-Yo Miller is in the big box at the right, you may be absolutely certain that she is in the big box at the left, instead.

If you think a completely empty barrel cannot produce an endless stream of fresh, foamy beer, you are a babe in the woods. If you believe that the force of gravity invariably pulls things downward, or that the human body is necessarily three-dimensional, just let Dante show you the uselessness and inaccuracy of every physical fact you ever learned in school.

When Dante advertises that he crushes women to bits, saws them in half, and causes them to disappear without a trace, he gives the impression that his activity is largely of a sadistic nature. Perhaps the most agreeable surprise of this highly entertaining show, then, is its constant good humor, which at times borders on genuine hilarity.

For Dante is not only the deftest and the best equipped illusionist in the business; he is an old time vaudevillian who loves his audience, makes friends with everybody in it instantly, and never for a moment loses hold of the affection and interest of every person in the theater. When the cap of his revolver steadfastly refused to pop last night, he turned a professional tragedy into a display of complete poise and charm.

In the case of a practitioner whose main commodity is surprise it is hardly fair to reveal in detail the content of his repertory. Suffice it to say that things happen in trunks and boxes and curtained cages, and that other equally mystifying things take place out in the open, without the aid of such deceptive properties. People and objects appear and disappear with increasing defiance and improbability thruout the evening, and the very best teasers are right at the last.

An attractive air of informality invests the show. The assistants are of polyglot nationality and varied skin pigment. The handsome and statuesque Australian, Moi-Yo Miller, is a decorative asset. Perhaps you may feel that an entire evening of magic is a considerable dose. I had supposed that it would be, and I can report honestly that I sat on the edge of my chair during every moment of "Sim Sala Bim."

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., March 17.—Robert Montgomery, one of the best paid and most highly valued actors in the business, will quit the movies a year and a half from now—which, I surmise, is the time his present MGM contract expires. With Elliott Nugent, who wrote and acted in the Montgomery backed "The Male Animal," he will establish a firm for the production of Broadway plays. And there probably will be others in on this new stage combination.

Montgomery is currently engaged in Gregory La Cava's film, "Unfinished Business." His next appearance on loan from his home studio will be in Columbia's production of "Heaven Can Wait." His financial association with Nugent began when he became a principal stockholder in "The Male Animal," and continued when they both acquired a piece of another Broadway hit, "The Corn Is Green." It will next be in evidence in the fall with a Broadway production of a new play by Nugent which is now being written.

This surely should be something: Columbia will star Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom in a flicker titled "Harvard, Here I Come." . . . And it will also star Lupe Velez in "Honolulu Lu"—a title which bartenders will never hear straight. . . . Lois Andrews joins Jinx Falkenberg in "Girls from Panama." . . . Mark Hellinger, who enrolled with 20th Century-Fox as an independent producer after his break with Warners, reported for work yesterday on his new lot. He took only Sunday off between jobs. "Most people," he says, "go away for a month or two before taking on a new assignment so they can get rested up and start fresh. I think that's a certain amount of malarkey. I want to make good on the new job first—and then I'll take a vacation." . . . Mark has the same independent status as have two other distinguished newcomers to the Zanuck zoo—Ernst Lubitsch and William Le Baron. Speaking of Le Baron: the last picture he made at Paramount before the recent parting of the ways was a Bert Wheeler musical, "Las Vegas Nights." Plans had been to give this flicker a big buildup, with a world premiere in Las Vegas. The world premiere and extra buildup idea was dropped along with Le Baron, and now the picture

SYNOPSIS.

Don Barron, young American newspaper man, is sent to rescue Paul Darmal, financier and opponent of the Nazis. His plan is to let Darmal take his place on a Swedish boat and flee Germany, but Barron's plan is learned by the Nazis, and he is left in Germany to figure some other way of getting Darmal out. Managing to escape from the secret service agents who have been shadowing him, Barron reaches Darmal's hiding place only to find that Darmal has had to flee to another refuge. But he meets Twysden, the local agent in charge of the rescue, and Darmal's stepdaughter, Hertha, and granddaughter, Sigi. He mistrusts Sigi, as he has previously seen her with Putteamus, local Nazi official, but he is forced to accept her offer to take him and the others to Darmal's new hiding place. The hiding place turns out to be a lodge on Putteamus' estate on the Baltic, and her plan is to have Barron, Twysden, and Hertha, make a getaway with Darmal to Denmark in Putteamus' yacht, while she is attending a party with Putteamus.

INSTALMENT XIV.

NAZI INFLUX.

With the first light they started again and all morning they skirted the green and homey shores of this model kingdom of peace. They encountered very little traffic until they came to the Great Belt that pushes up between the islands of the Kattegat.

Here freighters, small craft, and ferries scurrying across from Germany or between the islands were fairly numerous, and yet there was far less shipping than usual in these busy waters. Twysden was worried by it, and pointed to an increase of guard ships strung across Kiel bay.

"There's something in the air," he muttered. "I don't like it."

Only after creeping into the little red and white harbor of Hjammerborg were they challenged, and it was the mildest affair. An official said with a genial Danish smile: "There is some one here expecting your cruiser."

"A lady?" Don Barron asked.

"No, a German. He was in a large party that came over by an early ferry," the man said.

"And—and he wanted us?" Don Barron asked, expecting arrest.

"Well—he asked if the cruiser had arrived yet, that is all," the man smiled, and plainly that was all.

"I like it less and less," Twysden scowled. "Who was this chap? How did he know about our coming here? I never did like fixing a definite rendezvous, it gives them a chance of getting at us."

"As how?" Don Barron scoffed. "We and Darmal are on safe soil now. They can't cause us any trouble that we and Sturgis Shrady can't beat. And we had to have some place to meet Sigi, anyhow."

"Sigi!" Twysden said with venom. "Then why the hell isn't she here to meet us—as arranged?"

It was true. There was no sign of Sigi anywhere, nor of known or friendly face. Don Barron, a little uneasy, muttered:

"She didn't say she'd be on the quay—just that she'd join us here. She may have had difficulties to face. And this fellow who asked about us, he might be from her. It might even be Knust."

"Ysh, and who and what exactly is Knust?" Twysden growled.

"If you don't know—where am I?" Don Barron asked.

"He may be a Gestapo agent stringing us along."

"Maybe, but he's proved a very useful weapon to beat 'em with, anyhow," Don Barron shrugged.

They went up nattily clean cobbled streets between quaint houses towards the center of the town. The place was thronged. Innumerable cyclists going home for their midday meal flitted by. Strolling people cluttered the sidewalks. Barron commented on there being so much liveliness in so small a place.

"I've never known it like this before," Twysden said. "And they aren't Danes by half. All these little groups and parties, I'll swear they're Germans. What are they doing here?"

"Coming to taste paradise after ersatz meals," Don Barron grunted. Twysden's gloom was beginning to tire him. "We'll follow their example."

They came out into the big central square where the Raadhuset stood. There were more bicycles than automobiles parked in it, and more people strolling round. Some looked like part of a hiker brigade with their kitbags and striding shorts. They crossed this square to the principal hotel—as being the place most likely for Sigi to find them.

It was a bright, attractive looking place called the "Gefion" after Denmark's favorite demon, who plowed thru the mainland to separate Denmark from Sweden. It had a porter who was friendly but worried. He doubted whether they'd find room in the restaurant, it was so crowded. He advised them to take a room for the day, when they would be admitted to the inner restaurant where only guests and privileged visitors were allowed.

"Is there something special happening in your town then?" Don Barron asked.

"That's the queerness of it, there's nothing," the porter said. "They've been coming in for the last two or three days, altho not in such numbers as today, but why, nobody knows."

"And they're all Germans," Twysden said.

"A lot are, but a lot of them are Danes, too. Danes we don't like. Swastika-Danes. Looks as if they have some secret congress."

"You're being invaded, that's what it is," Don Barron said, watching the porter carefully. But the man only thought that a joke.

"No fear of that," he chuckled. "We Danes fight nobody. Even Adolf knows that we're the most peaceful race on earth."

They took the porter's advice and booked rooms. Hertha felt it was an especially good idea, for if they had to wait long for Sigi it would give her grandfather and herself an opportunity to rest. And they might even have to stop at night before taking the train to Esbjerg. Now that they were safe there was no hurry.

It was not easy to find a table even in the privileged restaurant when they made their way to it later. The invasion of tourists had taken it by storm. Extra tables had been put in the aisles, but these, too, were filled. Facing that sardine pack of humanity amid the din of voices and knife clatter, Twysden and Hertha despaired of finding as much as a chair. But Don Barron showed his odd quality. Inconspicuous and lost as he looked drifting among those gorged tables, he yet proved himself one of those rare natures who find things in a crisis.

In no time he was beckoning across the sea of masticating heads. In a minute he had them all sitting round an empty table in an alcove while something in the palm of his hand was persuading a very worried waiter that this was no occasion for reserving a table for any one.

"You must have a magic," Hertha said, as she settled with a sigh of relief into her chair, "for he looked more frightened than agreeable."

"A universal magic." Don Barron said, slipping his note case back into his pocket. "Let us begin with these smorgasbord things and go straight on thru the libretto. Until this good food winked at me I never realized how hungry I was."

They were all, in fact, ready for their meal, and they were busy dispatching it when Don Barron, looking up, said cheerfully:

"These must be the original reservers of the table. I don't wonder at the waiter's qualms—a smeary piece of work."

The others glanced up and saw a long, narrow man with a white, flaccid face glaring at them as he snarled at their waiter. He was a bitter and unpleasant creature, with eyes set so close together that their pits seemed actually gouged out of his long, cold, owl's nose.

"Hell!" Twysden muttered. "Schmarz!" He's Putteamus' jackal and rival. . . . The beast responsible for all his dirty work, especially his secret dirty work."

"His face says so, too," Barron muttered. "But what's he doing in an alien land?"

"Something ugly," Twysden growled. "I told you I didn't like this plan."

Again he was hinting at the duplicity of Sigi, Don Barron said: "How did they ever let the Gestapo in . . ."

"The Danes won't know what he is, few do—he's here for secret work, on secret information."

"Not so secret," Don Barron said. A strange thing had happened. As Otto Schmarz stood and glared, a party of people eating at a table near him rose, offered him their table, bowed, and went away. Their behavior was odd because they were of the tourist type swarming into the town and because they were plainly only half thru their meal. More, as they bowed they plainly had to repress a desire to raise their right hands and cry "Heil!" While the way Otto Schmarz took the offer of their table for granted and with scarce a muttered thanks was significant.

"I wonder whether we are the sole reason for his unhallowed presence," Barron muttered. "Isn't he part of this strange gathering of the Swastikas? . . ." He stopped because Trysden was saying:

"My dear—did I frighten you? What I fool I am. I thought you might know of him——"

Don Barron turned to see Hertha looking very white, her hands pressing against the table, as tho she feared she would fall.

"Know—who?" she asked weakly. "I'm afraid I was not listening. . . . It's so terribly hot in here. I feel—felt quite faint for a moment."

Polish Countess Tells Experience in German Prison

Countess Helen Chlapowski, who was held prisoner for 19 weeks in a civil prison outside Posen after the Germans invaded Poland, spoke last night at a meeting held in the College club under aspices of the American Friends of Poland. She stressed the fact that Polish people, as under past partitions, will retain their unity of spirit in the present crisis.

She said the Poles will keep alive the culture of Mme. Curie, Copernicus, Chopin, Mme. Modjeska, and Paderewski until their country is again intact.

The American Friends of Poland, formed three months ago to perpetuate the culture of Poland, has five chapters in the process of formation besides the mother chapter in Chicago.

Persons who let their hearts rule their heads seldom find a happy pathway in life. There's the case of "Has-Been," for instance. A funny nom de plume, isn't it? But she feels she is a "has-been," and as that's the way she signed her letter, we'll refer to her in that manner.

Briefly, her story is that a man in her office, who showed her a great deal of attention, married another girl. "Has-Been," in love with the man, is tortured every time she sees him. She says her heart is broken to think that he threw her over for another woman. In her distressed state of mind she is contemplating the advisability of trying to win him from his bride. "If I can, Miss Blake, then it's proof that she can't hold him, and that he really doesn't love her, but me."

What a thought to cherish! The man she loved didn't love her, and she "can't take it." She refuses to be a good sport and accept defeat with her chin up and eyes front, looking for another man. She wants to ruin the happiness of the new bride, a really unforgivable sin.

With such a determination she might be the means of breaking up the marriage. Who knows? But she can't be happy in doing it. No one can be happy by making others unhappy, even a love rival. What "Has-Been" needs is a good spanking, even tho she probably feels she is too old for one. She'd be better off if she'd use her head instead of her heart, and forget about her lost love completely by seeking new friends and new interests even a new job, if that could be managed.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

"Man must be a rebel to succeed," declared Dean Chester B. Emmerson of Trinity cathedral, Cleveland, O., yesterday in his address at Kimball hall.

"There is no meaning to life except a man's big chance to be somebody and do something, but it requires alertness and ambition and courage. Adam in Eden was a fine creature, but he became a living soul when he was driven from his ease to work for his living. One must face up to life with seeing eyes and meet its hardships head on. He must be a rebel against the brutalities of nature that he might win the victories which have harnessed the forces of nature to his own well-being."

Dean Emmerson then pointed out that blind selfishness is the cause of oppression, but that that very quality creates the kind of rebels the world needs today.

"He rebels by the will of God who may yet bring order out of this awful chaos and establish among men that kingdom which is righteouness and justice and good will," he said.

Dean Emmerson will speak under the auspices of the Episcopal Church club of Chicago each noon this week at Kimball hall.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

will get just the ordinary quiet release.

Most unusual stage operating in Hollywood is Gregory La Cava's, where "Unfinished Business" is being made, for La Cava has no script. He has—as Irene Dunne, Preston Foster and Robert Montgomery have discovered—plenty in his head, but little on paper. He believes that if a movie is to be a picture of life, it must record something that just happened. Forever in pursuit of spontaneity, he gives his actors no more than five minutes, and usually no time at all, with the lines they are going to say. And he does not even dictate the lines. He offers them and then says, "if you want to think of another way of saying it, go ahead."

This, of course, is a system unlike any other in Hollywood, and actors who have not worked with La Cava before don't know what to expect. Such a one was Preston Foster, when he reported for "Unfinished Business." He was nervous because he was facing the unknown. La Cava, having anticipated this, had prepared a gag that broke down Foster and had him taking things easy in five minutes.

The director, knowing that Foster would be stewing, wrote two speeches of a couple of hundred words apiece and sent them with word that shooting would start in five minutes. Montgomery helped by saying the boss was in a nasty mood, and for five minutes Foster studied in a cold sweat—because the speeches almost made sense but not quite. When he had had enough torture Montgomery and La Cava let him out of the sweat box and from there on he took the picture as it came—which is what the boss wanted.

You doubtless have heard that Earl Carroll's portrait is all over big billboards hereabouts, with the legend, "For Whom the Belles Toil." But do you know what else is on the sign? There's a footnote: "Posted as a pictorial contribution to the highways of America by 60 of the most beautiful girls in the world." Just think of the Carroll profile lurking round the bend the length of U. S. 6, U. S. 40, and other transcontinental routes—and think of the western railroads billboard slogan: "Next time try a train and relax."

Bob Hope, fast becoming Paramount's top man, will have the Bill Gaxton rôle in the film version of "Louisiana Purchase." . . . J. Carroll Naish, the film villain, starts a concert tour soon. He's never been in a musical picture, but yahs ago he toured with Gaby Deslys' tune shows.

One-a-penny, two-a-penny, hot cross buns! Between now and Easter Sunday, April 6, we're going to be baking and eating a good many of these delicious, traditional hotbreads.

They differ from the usual yeast bun in containing a little cinnamon and lemons, and some currants. Their mark of distinction is the cross made on the top of each bun by slashing it before baking, and filling the slashes, after baking, with icing.

Hot Cross Buns.

1 cup scalded milk
¾ cup sugar
5 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 teaspoon salt
1 or 2 cakes yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 egg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg, if desired
About 3½ cups sifted flour
¾ to 1 cup currants
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind

Add sugar, butter and salt to scalded milk, and cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water [one cake is enough, but two will speed action], and add to milk. Add beaten egg, flour and spices. Beat batter vigorously until it becomes smooth. Work in washed, drained currants. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Shape into fat buns by pinching off pieces of the dough and rolling them between the palms. Place on greased pans an inch apart, or place them in greased muffin pans. Cover with a clean cloth and let rise until light, about an hour. Cut a cross in the top of each bun with two slashes of a sharp knife. Brush over with slightly beaten egg white diluted with two tablespoons of water. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from the oven and fill crosses with frosting made by blending sifted confectioners' sugar with cream, and flavoring with vanilla or lemon.

The dough is supposed to be a soft one, so it is better not to add much more than the amount of flour specified in the recipe. A beatable, not a kneadable dough, is the object.

A good imitation of the real thing may be made from biscuit dough. Add cinnamon, currants, and a little lemon to your baking powder biscuit recipe, along with a little sugar to sweeten the buns slightly. Or follow this recipe.

Quick Hot Cross Buns.

[1 dozen.]

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup butter or other shortening
½ cup milk
1 egg
¾-1 cup currants
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, and sugar. Cut in shortening. Combine beaten egg and milk. Stir into the dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Add currants and lemon rind. Turn out on a slightly floured board and knead gently for 30 seconds. Do this by patting the dough out and folding it over several times. Don't overdo this kneading process or the biscuits will not be tender. Cut off pieces of dough and roll lightly between the palms to form balls. Place on baking sheet and bake 12-15 minutes in a 425 degree oven. Ice while hot with uncooked icing, forming a cross on each bun.

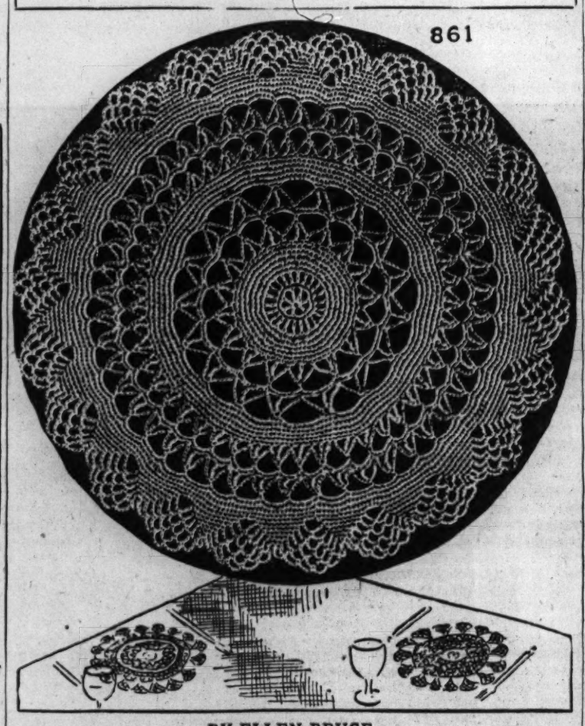
Circular Crocheted Doily



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This unusual, crocheted, circular doily was created especially to be used under salad plates at bridge luncheons. It is lacey and openwork, composed of wheel and cluster designs which lend themselves successfully to lovely crystal plates. Mercerized crochet cotton is suggested for the more formal type of doily, while carpet warp may be used when doilies are to be employed under the gay fiesta ware.

For instructions in crocheting the circular doily of cluster and wheel design, No. 861, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

As explained yesterday and all last week, the responses to an opening two-bid have been made more natural and, thereby, more flexible. The opening two-bid itself has not changed. It still must be based on an excellent hand which contains strong probabilities of game, and upon a minimum of four and one-half honor tricks even with the most freakish distribution. With more normal distribution, a minimum of five, and usually more, honor tricks are required.

But altho the technical requirements for an opening two-bid remain unchanged, the method of determining whether or not a given hand is worth a two-bid has been improved. Heretofore the Culbertson rule of thumb has been: Assuming a minimum of four and one-half honor tricks, bid two in your longest biddable suit if your hand contains more honor tricks than losers.

In a technical sense this rule was satisfactory, but many players had trouble with its application. Therefore I have formulated a new rule which will do the same work and, I hope, do it more easily and accurately. Here's the way that you should now determine whether or not the "big hand" you pick up justifies an opening two-bid in a suit:

Count your honor tricks. Unless you have four and one-half or more, do not make an opening two-bid. [Usually five or more are needed.] Count your winners. Add your honor tricks to your winners. If the total is 13 or more, you may open with two in a biddable suit.

Every one knows how to count honor tricks, so there is no difficulty there. The count of winners is slightly more abstruse, but should give no trouble to any one who will put his mind to the matter for five minutes. This is how to count winners:

If you have a suit such as A K 6 3 2 you know that the A K will produce two tricks. You also know that the length is worth something, that is, that after you have conceded one or two tricks to the opponents, your fifth card should produce a trick. Thus the winners in such a suit as mentioned are three, two top cards and one for the five card length. In a six card suit you should count the tops, plus two winners for length. In a seven card suit you are entitled to count four long card winners. In a four card suit the value of the fourth card is only one-half a winner.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	2 spades	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the jack of hearts and dummy's queen lost to East's king. East returned the deuce of hearts, knocking out dummy's ace.

South ran all five trumps, discarding low diamonds from the dummy. West held doggedly to his clubs, discarding three hearts and the nine of diamonds; East discarded a heart on the last trump.

The ace and king of diamonds dropped the 10 and jack from the West hand, and South now indulged in some serious thought. West could not have the only missing high diamond, the queen, since then his opening lead would have been the diamond queen [from Q J 10 9] instead of the heart jack. The heart discards and East's return of the heart deuce at the second trick proved that West had no more hearts. All he could have was four clubs.

This was not very good news, but something could be done if East's doubleton included either the jack or 10. South therefore led the nine of clubs to dummy's ace. A low club to the king then dropped East's 10. Finally, South led the four of clubs and finessed North's eight spot.

Former Winnetkan's Troth Is Announced in East.

Of interest to the Chicago friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Perry Gillies of Rye, N. Y., formerly of Winnetka, is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marshall Cornwall of Southport, Conn., are making of the engagement of their daughter, Aline Paige, to Mr. Gillies Jr. Miss Cornwall, a graduate of Miss Porter's school at Farmington, is a member of the Bridgeport Junior league.

Mr. Gillies attended the North Shore Country Day school and was graduated from Yale university in 1938. He and Miss Cornwall plan to be married in September. Mr. Gillies has two sisters, Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie of Winnetka and sub-deb Ruth Gillies, who attends Farmington.

The Hugh M. Seyfarths' little daughter, who arrived on Friday morning at the Highland Park hospital, is the first baby girl to be born for two generations in the Seyfarth family. She has been named Anne Tweed for a great-great-grandmother.

Anne and her brother, Hugh Jr., are grandchildren of the Robert Buckleys of Barrington and Robert Seyfarth of Highland Park. Mrs. Seyfarth was Miss Mary Grubbs.

Son Born in Honolulu to Junior Arthur Farwells.

Cables from Honolulu told the Arthur Frederick Farwells of the birth on March 11 of a grandson, Arthur Frederick Farwell III., at Pearl Harbor, where his father, Ensign Arthur Farwell Jr., is stationed. Mrs. Farwell Jr. is the former Marlyn Ruth Shaw, daughter of the Coma C. Shaws of Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Farwell Sr. is planning a trip to Honolulu this summer with her daughter, Miss Frances Farwell, and the latter's fiancé, Frank A. Reker Jr.

The Chicago Chamber Music society will present the Russian Trio in its next to the last concert this season at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Arts club. Following the recital Ralph Magelssen of "The Student Prince" cast will be a special guest at luncheon.

The Crilly Court Badminton club courts double as a ballroom on Tuesday nights when Mrs. Joseph W. Valentine teaches the waltz, rumba, conga, and "boogie-woogie," the last named by request only. Mrs. Valentine studied dancing in New York and since coming here as a bride last fall her friends have prevailed upon her to share her skill.

Best Amateur Model to be Picked at Luncheon.

Luncheon guests today at the Key club will select the best amateur model from six young women competing in a fashion show. They are Miss Joan Littlefield, Miss Beverly Roach, Miss Nadine Kinney, Miss Jeanne Stenson, Miss Patricia Floto, and Miss Althea Cunningham.

Tonight's dinner guests at the Tavern club will have "An Evening with a Camera Hunter above Timberline." Following dinner at 6 o'clock, Harry C. Phibbs will show his colored motion pictures of wild animal life around Cody, Wyo.

Mrs. Scott McKeown will tell the Chicago Vassar club about the "Valley Vagabonds" following luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today in the Arts club. As Nancy Wolcott, Mrs. McKeown was one of eight Vassar students who organized the amateur theater group and trouped up and down the Hudson valley region presenting plays of regional interest.

New Ensembles for Spring

MISS' SPRING COSTUMES.

For the young and slim, two new costumes. One is a jumper model with buttoned shoulders and buttons on the left side all the way to the hem. There are clever little Dutch boy pockets, and the skirt is shirred below the set-in waistband. Bows trim collarless neckline and sleeves of the blouse. Make this costume of all silk, silk and cotton, woolen and either cotton or silk.

The other outfit consists of jacket and skirt with which one may wear either blouses or sweaters. The topper is double breasted and reminiscent of navy uniforms, while the skirt is a simple, flared model. The emblem for the sleeve of the jacket is made with pattern No. 11207, available for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 2894 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material for jumper, with 1⅝ yards for blouse.

Style No. 2854 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 54 inch material for jacket; one yard for skirt.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Bags for Spring Combine Swank and Capacity

BY REA SEEGER.

This spring you'll see and carry gigantic bags. No one with any sense of accuracy would dare call them handbags. They're all so big they're an armful in any language. Huge envelopes faithfully copied from the pattern used for commercial styled paper envelopes are so long that even a fashion sleuth hesitates to tell the inches. Anyway such envelopes will be seen, appreciated and clutched under the arms of all shoppers who like capacity with plenty of fashion swank.

Next see the stunning felt bags, the felt unusually pliable so that big bags of this dull textured fabric are also easy to carry. Trick new arrivals made of this felt boast a cut-out effect that shows a contrast color under the flaps of the cutout design. It sounds complicated, but it isn't.

Navy with red, black with beige, brown with green are some of the color effects. Swanky, bulky looking models with and without metal frames showing are the best finds. Also some white felts look terrifically sophisticated with all black or any other dark colored costumes.

The shine of patent leather flashes on all sides, in pouch bags with carry straps, in pouch bags combined with other dull leathers and in the effective large bags studded with gold metal nail heads as big as dimes. There are exceptionally clever black patent leather bags lined with scarlet, square cut or oblong. This opens and reveals an unusually capacious interior with all kinds of extra compartments and slits for the accommodation of all the trifles you need to take you thru a busy day.

Spring bags for the money are everything that is new, fresh, and eye catching and most of them are tagged with extremely modest price marks. You can match every costume you own which is something!

Midafternoon Fatigue Robs You of Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Along about three or four o'clock in the afternoon do you suddenly feel sleepy, and resolve that you're going to get to bed early?

The cause of this mid-afternoon fatigue may be that you have been working in a room in which the air has become stale, or that you may have eaten too heavily at lunch. If you feel that way because you have kept late hours recently, then the only "cure" for you is more sleep. When one is tired, nerves are more easily frayed, and one's facial expression is not pleasing, as it should be. Beneath all your paint and powder are taut facial muscles, and your makeup is nothing more than a false front for the real you that you could be, but are not.

So many women do not eat properly at lunch time. They either overeat, or do not eat enough of the right kinds of foods to sustain their energy for the afternoon. Subsisting on salads and sandwiches, with coffee or tea to wash down your food, is not enough for you to eat, if your work is strenuous mentally or physically.

One good luncheon menu is: Fruit or tomato juice [rich in vitamins], green vegetables and lean meat, a glass of milk, stewed or fresh fruit. Another: Hot, clear, meat broth, fruit salad, tea or coffee, bread and butter, custard or pudding.

During the afternoon, stop your work and drink a glass of water. Stand in front of an open window and breathe deeply thru your nose. Hold your breath to allow the fresh air "to burn up" the stale air in your lungs. Exhale slowly with your mouth open.

Let every one "kid" you about your sudden interest in fresh air, but your boss should notice that your work and, perhaps, your disposition, have taken a turn for the better.

Universal Day—Wind up odds and ends but wait until tomorrow to start anything new.

Personal Days—Today's list makes a complete one for the nine personal days which if added to your personal chart give you complete guidance for every day of the year.

Nine-Days—Broadminded - Liberal - Impulsive - Emotional - Temperamental - Understanding - Imaginative. Avoid temper, emotional scenes, looking backward, living in the past.

Your judgment might not be good if you let your heart rule entirely as you might on a nine-day. Always culminate and end what you are doing—never start new ventures, make new friends, or plan a trip on these days. Finish, don't begin. Give out as much universal love as possible rather than stress the purely personal love. Think in big terms. Relinquish gracefully.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Joe Louis never ran the advertisement shown above . . . and probably never will. If he had, you wouldn't have applied for the job, would you?

As a matter of fact, there is such a thing as being too good. Joe Louis and other topnotchers have experienced it. It's lonely up there.

Without undue egotism, The American Weekly has experienced this feeling. Although it carried $6,000,000 worth of advertising in 1940—the pages of this magazine should have been more crowded.

Why weren't they? Because a good many important national advertisers have fallen into the strange habit of regarding The American Weekly as a force too potent for their daily needs. They use a color page in The American Weekly when they want to move mountains—to distribute coupons in greater numbers and at a lower cost; to put on a sales drive that will have every man on his toes; to open a thousand new outlets; to put window displays in thousands of stores.

That is one kind of job that The American Weekly can do and has done so repeatedly that it has become the traditional "powerhouse" of American advertising.

And in this very fact is the strongest proof that The American Weekly is best equipped for the regular, 52-weeks-a-year job—the strongest proof that The Weekly should be commissioned to keep the national advertiser on friendly terms with more than 7,000,000 homes, THE BIGGEST SINGLE MARKET IN THE WORLD.

To illustrate the point, a woman in Newport, North Carolina, wrote a letter to the Editor of the Housewife's Food Almanack, a feature which appears regularly on the second from last page of each issue of The American Weekly—far "back in the book." Her letter was printed in tiny type near the bottom of the column on the next page. She asked:

"Does any Almanacker have a recipe for real old-fashioned sticky cinnamon buns, the kind they used to make in Philadelphia?"

Over 400 women, of the thousands who read that little appeal, went to the trouble of writing and sending in their recipes.

Isn't this little incident a tip-off on the human relationship of The American Weekly and its readers—the key not only to the formidable strength of a color-page smash, but to the equal effectiveness of smaller black-and-white advertisements, for those advertisers who have learned to use them week by week?

It surely is enough, for the majority of advertising appropriations, to reach more than 7,000,000 homes. There's no question about that. Entering these millions of homes through The American Weekly, week after week and month after month, is sure to bring results.

The American Weekly contends that most advertising appropriations go too many places and try to do too many things; that the modern "scientific" conception of an "adequate" advertising schedule is simply mental indigestion—brought on by overdoses of statistics; that the basic principle of consecutive blows on a single market of sufficient size and buying power will produce a greater sales volume.

This subject should be interesting enough for a frank discussion. The American Weekly would like to talk about it with any national advertiser in America who realizes that these are days when it is necessary to risk being unusual.

S. CHAPMAN'S HOMER IN 9TH BEATS CUBS, 12-11

PHYSICIANS FILL MAJOR ROLE IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Staff Ever Watchful of Boxers' Health.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters, who now are training for the Inter-city matches with New York in the Stadium March 26, give and take so many hard punches in the course of their campaign that many boxing fans wonder why no one has been seriously hurt during these last few weeks of terrific slugging. Dr. William Rothman, chief of the Golden Gloves medical staff, yesterday advanced three reasons.

In the first place, Golden Gloves tournaments have made most of the contestants so health conscious that they get ready for action by taking excellent care of themselves.

In the second place, the medical staff has taken all precautions that scientific ingenuity and human conscientiousness can devise to prevent any boy from getting into a Golden Gloves bout when he is in any way below par physically.

Speed and Efficiency.

In the third place, if any youngster does get jarred up a bit, the medical staff has the facilities to take immediate and effective measures to avert serious consequences.

"When I was engaged six years ago to take over the medical supervision of Golden Gloves fighters, the sponsors told me the most important thing in the tournament was the welfare of the boys who fought in it," Dr. Rothman said yesterday.

Dr. Rothman gave an outline of how this staff is organized to operate with a remarkable efficiency.

"We establish first aid rooms in every Chicago arena where Golden Gloves bouts take place—novice or otherwise," he said. "There we have cots, blankets, and all emergency equipment including an oxygen tank —which fortunately we have never had to use.

Physician Has Last Word.

"Every boy has two physical examinations before he goes into his first bout. Thereafter he is examined every night on which he fights. During the bouts there is always one doctor at the ringside and several others in the first aid room.

"Whenever there is any question of a boy's fitness to continue fighting, the referee will stop the bout temporarily and will bring the youngster over to a corner for an examination. If the doctor on duty decides the bout should be stopped, it is stopped regardless of the opinion of the boy or his seconds.

"And the supervision doesn't end there. Whenever any bout is stopped, whenever there is a knockdown, or whenever a contestant is dazed, the boxer in question, whether he's a winner or loser, is brought to the first aid room for a careful examination. If he needs rest, he is wrapped in blankets and told to lie down on one of the cots. He isn't allowed to leave the building until he has received the doctor's O. K.

Safeguards Pay Dividends.

"As a result of these measures, there has been nothing more serious than some cuts or bruises during the six years of my experience with Golden Gloves despite the fact that many thousands of boys have taken part.

"Tho we turn down quite a few boys in the preliminary examinations, don't get the idea we're just ruthless in dealing out rejections right and left. Whenever a youngster presents himself for a Golden Gloves tournament—whether he ever fights or not —we look upon him as our personal responsibility. If we reject him, we tell him why we reject him. We try to get in touch with his parents or his trainer to explain our reasons. In many cases, this has uncovered and checked the progress of ailments which the boy himself didn't know about."

ATHLETICS NIP RALLY TO WIN THIRD IN ROW

Rookie Stefani Is Losing Pitcher.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—Sam Chapman, who knocked a first inning homer with the bases loaded yesterday, today cleared loaded bases with a triple in the seventh inning to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 9 to 7 lead and, after this lead had been swept away, slammed a ninth inning homer with two on to put his team ahead 12 to 10. The Cubs made only one run in their end of the ninth, so they were obliged to accept their third whipping in three games with the Philadelphians.

Sam Chapman.

It was the ninth Philadelphia victory in 10 exhibition games played by Connie Mack's boys.

The Cubs outhit the Athletics, 17 to 9, but could muster no such power as the well-conditioned Athletics have displayed in the series.

Little Things Happen.

Larry French pitched the first three innings, yielded one hit, and would have got by without being scored on if he hadn't loosed a wild pitch at precisely the wrong time.

Bob Henriksen, 17 year old Hollywood high school phenom, pitched two innings and was wild. His greatest distress came, however, when Felix Mackie nee Felix T. Macklewicz, of Chicago and Purdue, busted a homer with Fred Chapman on base.

Then came Vern Olsen for two innings, followed by Ray Campbell and Chick Stefani. Stefani, a Chicago boy, around to supply batting practice pitching for the Cubs, supplied it for Chapman in the ninth and was the losing pitcher.

Wild Pitch Lets In One.

The first hit of the game, and the only one by the Athletics in French's three inning term, bloomed into the first run. With one out in the second inning, Dick Siebert doubled along the right foul line, took third while Myers was throwing out Sam Chapman, and scored on a wild pitch. Pete Suder flied to Lou Novikoff.

The Kid Is Nervous.

Henriksen showed some boyish nervousness when he took over at the start of the fourth, but he escaped

Near Zero in the Park, but Glovers Have Spring

The battle for the 1941 Illinois high school basketball championship roared into high last night when eight teams scored victories on four battlefronts, thus becoming the only survivors of an original field of more than 800 quintets.

At Elgin Morton High of Cicero defeated East Rockford, 46 to 32, after Waterman had eliminated Freeport, 27 to 12. The two winners will meet tonight in a battle regarded as a toss-up. Earlier in the year Morton lost to Waterman, 26 to 24, in overtime. Tonight's winners in the four tournaments will advance to the semi-finals Friday in Champaign, with finals being played Saturday night.

Morton Puts on a Spurt.

Morton, trailing by two points with one minute left in the first half, put on a spurt which gave it a 22 to 19 lead at intermission time. Its attack was led by Leitner, center, who made eight field goals and three free throws.

Waterman had an easy time with Freeport, leading 9 to 0 at the end of the first quarter. Freeport failed to score until the 11th minute of play. The winners had a 21 to 5 margin at the half and coasted the remainder of the way.

Centralia, the hot favorite to win the state title, romped to a 45 to 24 triumph over Paris. An overflow crowd of 3,500 packed Trout gymnasium in Centralia and 2,000 other fans had to be content to sit in the high school auditorium to hear a play by play description over the public address system.

Eddleman Gets 24 Points.

Dwight Eddleman, the state's prep player of the year, accounted for 24 points. Tonight Centralia will meet Carbondale, which edged out a 27 to 25 victory over Mattoon. The defeat ended a winning streak of 15 games for Mattoon.

Eddleman, however, yielded scoring honors to Fred Green, 6 foot 4 inch Urbana center, who led his team to a

Harvey Dubs Gets Revenge; Wins Over Gene Ward

Harvey Dubs, Windsor, Ont., lightweight, administered a sound beating to Gene Ward in a 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. It was sweet revenge for Dubs, who had been stopped by Ward in nine rounds in an earlier meeting.

Members of the Chicago Intercity Golden Gloves team, which meets New York's best in the Stadium March 26, were introduced. The gathering of 944, which paid a gross gate of $1,084, gave each a big hand.

Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee welterweight, won a decision over Johnny Ryan of Detroit in a five round semi-windup. Ritchie Mitchell, great lightweight of 15 years ago, seconded McKnight.

George Eschman, 153 pound newcomer from Cincinnati, held George Feltes of Milwaukee to a four round draw. In other matches over this route Vito Rizzo beat Jesse Yarber, and Mickey Potter conquered Buddy Wright. It was Rizzo's sixth straight.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE story about the ball player who ate an individual pie on a paper plate, plate and all, and remarked that the pie was fine except that the crust was a little tough, was revived the other day by Dutch Ruether in the Cub training camp. . . . Within an hour the experience had been attributed to six old time players. . . . Mike Jacobs, who celebrated his 61st birthday a week ago, plans to continue as a boxing promoter until he is 100, after which he will retire to his Rumson, N. J., estate and raise flowers. . . . In his long career with the White Sox Ted Lyons has worried about his arm only on two occasions. . . . In a spring exhibition game against the Giants his arm gave way under the strain of throwing a curve and the injury didn't disappear until the middle of the following season. . . . He again strained his salary wing just before the end of a season, forcing him out of the city series with the Cubs, but by the succeeding spring the ailment had vanished. . . . Greg Rice, former Notre Dame distance runner whose consistent performances have earned him a place among the track's immortals, was so ill the afternoon of the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden he didn't think he would be able to compete. . . . That night he ran two miles in the third fastest time on record. . . . Earle Meadows, who pole vaulted 14 feet 7½ inches for the world's indoor mark on the same card, hopes to get a radio job as a lyric tenor. . . . If you observe carefully some of the new United States navy posters, you may see the face and figure of Don Siegel, former Michigan tackle. . . . He was used as a model. . . . Gus Mancuso, veteran catcher, refused to be classified as a coach only. . . . He expects to catch for the Cardinals for three more seasons.

Actor Bill Farnum and Lefty O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals, have an act in which Farnum recites "Casey at the Bat" and O'Doul acts out the story in pantomime. . . . It wows them on the Pacific coast, but Commissioner Landis has turned down suggestions that the stunt be given as pre-game world series entertainment. . . . Charley George, Cub rookie catcher, knows the rules of any card game you can mention. . . . Ted Strain, senior guard on the University of Wisconsin basketball team, will remember his 21st birthday when all the others are forgotten. . . . It was March 1 and that was the night the Badgers clinched the Big Ten championship with a victory over Minnesota. . . . Skiing is a recognized interscholastic sport in New York state. . . . The Giants should have little trouble with the Phillies this season. . . . Pitcher Bob Bowman, now a Giant, defeated Philadelphia nine times without a setback in his two years with the Cardinals. . . . Brooklyn football fans are burned up because the Dodgers weren't picked to represent the National Football league in the eastern All-Star game, a miniature of the annual Chicago enterprise. . . . The Giants again were chosen, altho their 1940 record was below Brooklyn's.

Hold Back the Dawn.

Hold back the dawn
If it means desolation;
Hold back the spring
If it means ruin and death;
Let not this waiting end if only carnage
Attends the coming of the first warm breath.

Hold back the spring
If tyrants lie in waiting
To launch anew a carnival of gore;
Hold back the spring
If war gods now are champing
To strike anew, afresh, and evermore.

Hold back the spring
If this fair time of planting
Means only sowing seeds of fear and hate.
If this be all the world is now awaiting,
Hold back the spring,
It cannot come too late!

Detroit Board Gives Greenberg 1-A Classification

Detroit, Mich., March 17 (AP).—Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tigers' slugging outfielder who is reported to hold a $50,000 contract for this year, may be in the army before the 1941 season is more than a few days old.

His draft board placed him in class 1-A today, but announced it had decided to refer his case to the medical advisory board for a report and would reconsider the classification if the medical board found him unfit for general military service.

Greenberg took his first examination at Lakeland, Fla., where the Tigers are training and was reported to have been recommended for deferred status because of flat feet.

New York Discovers Its Golden Glovers Pack Punch

BY BILL MURTHA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 17.—For the first time in years the New York Golden Gloves squad has firing power behind the first line commensurate with the abilities of the shock troops.

The bugaboo of all coaches—inadequate reserves—isn't keeping Coach Spike Webb and his associates awake these nights.

"In almost every division I have boys capable of stepping in and giving my first choices the fights of their lives," Webb said today. "If anything happens, and I'm praying nothing will, I'll still will not worry about the 16 who face Chicago on March 26."

They're Getting Better.

So capable are these reserves that after four days of training several of the classes previously believed to be settled have been thrown wide open.

The ranking heavyweights right now appear to be Tim Still, the big Newark, N. J., steel puddler, and Lloyd Williams of Syracuse. Both these boys are big, tough and hard hitters. They remind observes of last year's Cyclone Williams whose two round knockout of Ernest Nordman was the highlight in the Intercity bouts.

But in the last few days Johnny Vetcher, the Russian-American office clerk who was the New York champion, has been opening the eyes of Webb and company.

Vetcher isn't as punishing a hitter as Still nor as likely to end a bout with one wallop as Williams, but he's an accomplished one. His loss in the first round of the tournament of champions was excusable. He drew the eventual winner. Regardless of the nominees when this training period is ended the eastern heavies will be well able to meet the challenges of any opponents Chicago can round up.

An Irishman Stands Out.

An unsung Irish featherweight, appropriately enough, chose St. Patrick's day to make a spectacular bid for the featherweight alternate assignment. Little Walter McDermott, not in the least awed by the fact that clever Ray Robinson was his sparring partner, stepped three speedy rounds and ended with a flourish that had his professional opponent backtracking.

"He sure looks good," Robinson commented.

McDermott is a surprise entry in the featherweight class. He was placed on the team because of his superb showing against Bantam Champ Al Linton in the finals. Ninety per cent of the Madison Square Garden crowd thought the little Irish lad had won.

He's growing fast and had trouble making the 118 pound limit, so he's bidding for a featherweight berth and his added weight has become a tremendous asset.

Davis also has been impressive and he has no illusions about the ability of his probable opponent, Jack Haley.

"Haley may be as good as they say he is," Davis said, "but I'm not going to Chicago just for the ride."

Lee Savold Knocks Out Henry Wacker in Second

St. Paul, Minn., March 17 (AP).—Lee Savold, 190 pounds, Des Moines, knocked out Henry Wacker, 189½, Chicago, in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight. Wacker was down for a nine count just before the bout ended.

GOOD FIELD . . . NO HIT!

That's the way a baseball scout once reported on a player his bosses thought was a promising rookie. The player didn't get the job. You'll be in the no hit class, too, with your wife or sweetheart if you fail to get tickets for the 14th Intercity Golden Gloves bouts between New York and Chicago in the Stadium the night of March 26. Step up your batting average by obtaining seats now. The prices:

$1.10, $1.65, $2.20, and $3.30

Make checks or money orders payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and address Golden Gloves Ticket manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago, or call in person at the Tribune public service offices, 1 South Dearborn (9 a. m. to 9 p. m.) and in the lobby of Tribune Tower (8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.).

3 MORE TEAMS ADDED TO LOYOLA TOURNEY ENTRIES

Seventeen Fives from 10 States Enrolled.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

There were many Doubting Thomases during the early weeks of December who believed Loyola university's national Catholic prep basketball tournament would be removed from Chicago's sports calendar, but officials of the meet yesterday continued to watch acceptances roll in from widespread areas. Three more quintets were added to the list, completing half the field which will seek the title in Loyola gymnasium March 26 to March 30.

The latest entries were St. Gregory of Shawnee, Okla.; Regis of Denver, Colo., and Campion academy of Prairie du Chien, Wis. St. Gregory and Regis are holders of state championships. Campion is consistently among the outstanding teams in Wisconsin. The Badger squad also is one of the pet quintets of Loyola tournament fans because of several Chicago players in its lineup.

Ten States Represented.

In addition to Oklahoma, Colorado, and Wisconsin the states with representation in the field include New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Louisiana, Texas, Indiana, and Illinois. Invitations to the winners of New York City's Knights of Columbus tournament and the eastern states meet in Newport, R. I., also are being considered.

John [Hicks] Connelly, chairman of the invitation committee, glanced at the field of 17 teams and predicted the national championship race would be the most interesting since the meet started in 1924. Connelly based his prediction on the number of state championship quintets entered and several other squads which failed in the 1940 meet, but are returning considerably strengthened for the 1941 venture.

Leo Among Favorites.

Among the favorites will be Leo, which last Saturday night won its second consecutive Catholic league championship by routing St. George of Evanston, 40 to 22. It was Leo's 32d victory in 34 games, the south siders losing only to Quigley and Loyola academy by two point margins.

BRUINS PUT OUT OF TOURNEY BY TOLEDO, 43 TO 33

Chuck Chuckovits, who stole the show by scoring 21 points against the Sheboygan Redskins in first round play, last night proved to 9,500 fans that his scoring spree was nothing unusual. Against the Chicago Bruins, Chuckovits scored 22 points to lead Toledo to a 43 to 33 victory in a quarter-final game of the world's pro basketball tournament in the International amphitheater. The score was tied, 19 to 19, at the half.

INDUSTRIAL FIVES CLASH.

The Knickerbocker hotel basketball team will play Montgomery Ward in the Lake Shore gymnasium at 6:15 o'clock tonight. The teams are members of the Lake Shore Industrial league.

Teachers Near End of League Bowling Play

Bowling made up of Chicago elementary and high school teachers, both men and women, are nearing the end of competition in regular leagues, and soon will begin playoffs. The leagues, operating under auspices of the Chicago Teachers' union, are bowling in a dozen recreation centers. The teachers' leagues are new and were organized in response to a demand resulting from the success of the high school students' circuits. H. E. McGovern is directing the operation of the leagues and working out a schedule of playoffs. Trophies are to be presented the winners and the school they represent.

The leading match in Schalk's Beverly Major league Friday will bring the first place Walter C. Eden and second place Harry Hart teams into competition. SAM CHAPMAN'S 3 RUN HOMER BEATS OUR CUBS, 12-11 with one run and a tie score. He walked Benny McCoy and Bob Johnson, who moved up on Hancken's sacrifice. Siebert singled to left scoring McCoy, but was trapped after rounding first too far, Novikoff to Hack to Waitkus. Sam Chapman walked, then Suder struck out.

The Athletics took the lead in the fifth. F. Chapman opened with a double, advanced on Vaughn's sacrifice, and scored on Mackie's homer. McCoy flied to Dallessandro, Johnson walked and stole second. Then Hancken flied to Nicholson.

Cubs Tie It Up.

The Philadelphia lead did not survive the inning. Nicholson walked at the start of the Chicago fifth. Dallessandro lined to Johnson, but Herman doubled to left center, scoring Nicholson to effect a 4 to 4 tie. McCullough flied to Mackie and Myers struck out.

Vern Olsen's first act on taking over the pitching job at the start of the sixth, was to walk Frank Hayes, who batted for Siebert. S. Chapman hit into a double play, Lou Stringer to Myers to Waitkus. Myers threw out Suder.

Olsen got the Chicago sixth underway with a single to right, then Hack reached first when Vaughn made a poor throw on his sacrifice. Waitkus beat out a bunt, loading the bases. Novikoff tapped to McCoy, Olsen scoring. Bill Nicholson fanned. Dallessandro singled to McCoy back of second, Hack scoring. Waitkus also got home on the play when Hancken dropped Hayes' relay.

My, My! Those Chapmans!

F. Chapman started the A's seventh inning marauding with a single to left. Kahle batted for Vaughn and walked, but was forced by Mackie. McCoy walked, loading the bases, and Johnson walked, forcing F. Chapman across the plate. Hancken walked, sending Mackie home. Hayes fanned. Then S. Chapman tripled scoring McCoy, Johnson, and Hancken. Hack threw out Suder.

Novikoff opened the Chicago eighth with his second hit of the series, a double off the top of the left field wall, and scored on Nicholson's double to center. Dallessandro was safe when Harris dropped Hayes' toss at first. Then Stringer singled, Nicholson scoring. Dallessandro reached third on Scheffing's long fly and scored on Myers' long fly. Campbell struck out.

Cubs' Threats Fail to Bother White Sox Boss

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 17.—James Dykes, the White Sox boss, appears to be scheming—with the Cubs as the object of the plot. It seems some spokesman in the latter camp informed Dykes he would be pushed about a bit as soon as the Chicago National leaguers could catch up with him, which won't be long now.

Having received the warning, the Sox chieftain plans to conduct his affairs accordingly. Dykes' answer will be found in the regular members of his pitching corps, all of whom are quite eager to respond.

Finds Ideal Remedy.

In the past it has been the custom for Dykes to give more thought to research on his rookie pitching talent than to whipping his pet foes. Even with that sort of mound mixture he was able to cause the Cubs plenty of embarrassment. But now his ire is aroused and he has fixed up what he thinks will be the ideal remedy for at least the first encounter with Jim Wilson's charges on Wednesday in Los Angeles. The remedy will be John Rigney, Eddie Smith, and Jack Hallett, the giant who looked impressive after being brought up last fall.

Dykes' response to the threat from Cub headquarters should inject some happiness into the life of Frankie Frisch, the lugubrious manager of the Pirates. The Sox are going up to San Bernardino tomorrow to exhibit themselves in combat with Frisch's baseball talent. Dykes, if he wishes could drop at least one of his better pitchers into the show but, having the Cubs in mind, he is going to feed only the rawest of rookies to the Pittsburgh batswingers. He'll entrust the job to Jess Dobernic, Orval Grove and Warren Martin, the 18 year old baby of the squad.

Three Still Convalescing.

Until the week-end when three more battles with the Cubs come up for disposal Dykes will be somewhat shorthanded in the pitching department but hopes to get along one way or another. Three of his prospective regulars, Thornton Lee, Bill Dietrich and John Humphries, are still convalescing from their struggles with the flu bugs. Lee was in uniform yesterday but did little work. The two others expect to get back into their baseball flannels tomorrow. Taft Wright also may resume training after a nine day layoff.

The hitting the Sox have gotten to date indicates that, barring accidents, Dykes' crowd is going to command a lot of respect in the impending pennant race. In three exhibitions, one with the Pirates and the others with Hollywood, the Sox have piled up a total of 45 hits most of them by the regulars who played only parts of the games. And this was done even without Wright, the second best bat wielder in the Dykes' ensemble.

Knickerbocker Plays Well.

The three games also brought forth proof that Dykes made no mistake when he grabbed Bill Knickerbocker from the Yankees and immediately labeled him the regular second baseman. Bill has been skipping around his position in flawless fashion, not only covering plenty of ground but teaming perfectly with Luke Appling on force plays and double plays.

Pastor, Down 6 Times in First, Defeats Thompson

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17 (AP).—Bob Pastor of New York got off the floor six times in the first round and went on to ruin the title hopes of another California heavyweight tonight. He defeated Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles in one of the best fights seen here in years. Pastor captured seven of the ten rounds, with Thompson getting two. Pastor had his 21 year old Negro foe on the canvas three times—once in the third and twice in the eighth.

NEW YORK WINS.

New York last night won the roller Derby races against Chicago, 20 to 18, in the Coliseum. Chicago, however, still leads in the series, 11 to 8.

Cold Weather Keeps Purple Eleven Inside

Coach Lynn Waldorf's hopes of starting spring football practice at Northwestern university yesterday were thwarted by the cold weather. Instead of a workout on the practice field in Dyche stadium, the players viewed movies of last year's games.

Less than a dozen letter men will take part in spring practice. A large number of football players are participating in baseball and track. Among the veterans who will be on hand are Capt. Elect Tuffy Chambers and Jim Furlong, backs; Leon Cook and Warren Karlstad, tackles; Bus Heagy, Paul Kiefer, and Nick Burke, guards, and Gene Mundy and Don Johnson, centers.

Altho the official opening of practice has been postponed until warm weather, the freshmen candidates got in a week of drills before the cold spell arrived. About 35 yearlings, who will be varsity candidates next fall, worked out last week.

The coaches plan to concentrate on the freshman candidates in an effort to find replacements for the 10 letter men who will be lost by graduation in June.

Hawks Make Plans for Test with Canadiens

Manager Paul Thompson and his Blackhawks indulged in a lengthy discussion yesterday of ways to circumvent the Montreal Canadiens, whom they meet Thursday night in the Stadium in the first of their best two of three game Stanley cup play-off series.

While the Hawks-Canadiens' game is in progress the Toronto Maple Leafs will meet the Bruins in Boston in the first game of a best of seven series and the New York Rangers will engage the Red Wings in Detroit in the first clash of a best of three game series.

The Blackhawks will start the matches with a team considerably taped, which will also be handicapped somewhat by the absence of Bill Thoms, the team's leading point maker, who suffered a cut ankle in last Sunday's game. Bill Carse will also be out of the first series.

We start this springtime treat along in the fall when the barley and hop crops come to market. We pick out the finest we can find to give Meister Bräu Bock Beer its extra richness and mellowness.

We brew it with extra care and give it special attention all winter long—until it's at the peak of flavor.

Then we bottle it with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created right in the brew itself. So it comes out of the bottle with natural life and sparkle and all the goodness of these specially selected ingredients.

It is the most popular bock beer in Chicago—a sell-out year after year—so you can bet its flavor is something you won't want to miss.

DAY'S TAX SCORE: O'BRIEN, $10,759; TOMAN, $11,589

Two Collection Drives Bring Results.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien yesterday continued his drive against personal property tax delinquents whose obligations have been reduced to judgments in the courts. Twenty-one visits brought the county $10,759.

The sheriff's action consists of the following: Accompanied by a custodian, he or a deputy enters the delinquent's place of business, presents the judgment, and announces:

"Either pay up or we'll sell the place out at auction in 10 days!"

On his visits last week, the sheriff accumulated $5,489 from nine taxpayers. More than 100 judgments remain in his files, he said, and the state's attorney's office has announced it will take action to open the thousands of judgments that have become dormant in past years.

Places Visited.

Those visited by the sheriff yesterday and the amount collected from each were:

Stone-Field corporation, 1301 Congress street, $1,639; Met-L-Wood corporation, 6755 65th street, $776; Western Tire Auto stores, 1339 South Cicero avenue, $311; Safety Wet Wash Laundry company, 2937 Van Buren street, $400; S. Kaufmann & Co., Inc., 5615 Cermak road, Cicero, $400; Maleceks Clothes, Inc., Berwyn, $95.

Taussig's Packing House, Inc., 6401 Cermak road, Berwyn, $70; Atlas Forgings company, 1501 South 55th court, Cicero, $361; Frenzens, Inc., 6515 West 22d, Berwyn, $168; Ostrander Seymour company, 1874 South 54th avenue, Cicero, $1,629; Grant Works Fair, Inc., 5011 14th street, Cicero, $294.

Hart Motor Company, Inc., 4611 Madison street, $538; Colonial Fireplace company, 540 North Cicero avenue, $272; W. Z. Gibson, Inc., 500 South Throop street, $1,247; Friends Tire company, 1923 State street, $445; Royal Laundry and Linen Supply company, 2529 Wabash avenue, $249; Standard Laundry company, 1818 South Wabash avenue, $200.

Crerar Adams & Co., 3550 Morgan street, $1,324; C. R. Randolph company, 422 South Dearborn street, $82; Fred B. Tidd Typesetting company, 525 South Dearborn street, $100, and Flues-McKenzie, Inc., 1335 South Michigan avenue, $160.

Sheriff O'Brien said he will continue the drive tomorrow.

Toman Collects $11,589.

Meanwhile, County Treasurer John Toman, in his own drive against personal tax delinquents, reported the collection yesterday of $11,589 from 138 individuals and businesses.

Of 20 concerns whose properties Toman threatened to seize for the taxes in letters sent out Feb. 21, five have paid in full and two have made partial payments, the total amounting to $25,237. The others have promised to pay, Toman said. Taxes owed by the 20 totaled $303,113, but one of the companies, which owes $207,921, is protesting the threatened seizure in court. Twenty other concerns have been warned that they face seizure and sale of their properties by Toman unless they pay their personalty taxes totaling $55,749 by March 26. Fifty more delinquents will be threatened this week with seizures in 15 days unless they pay their taxes, Toman said.

The county treasurer may act only against delinquents whose indebtedness has not yet been reduced to judgments. On the other hand, the sheriff may act in tax matters only after a judgment has been entered.

PLAN TO CHOOSE JURY TODAY IN POLICE SLAYING

The selection of a jury is expected to be started today before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Criminal court in the second trial of Jerry Mangano, 22 years old, on a charge of murdering Park Policeman Harry Francois.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Devine announced that he would qualify the jury for the death penalty. Mangano, who admitted the shooting in the previous trial, has indicated a willingness to plead guilty for a sentence less than death, but the state's attorney's office refused to bargain with him.

Policeman Francois was slain Nov. 20, 1939, when he interrupted Mangano and two companions in a robbery. Mangano was tried alone and sentenced to death, but the Illinois Supreme court set the verdict aside. Mangano's companions, Joseph Russano and Italo Begani, were later sentenced to life and 20 year terms, respectively.

Auto Overturns; Driver Escapes with Bruises

Joseph Thomas, 28 years old, suffered slight injuries last night, altho [1] his automobile struck a safety island, [2] it skidded and turned completely around, and [3] it overturned. The accident occurred in the 2900 block of Archer avenue at Arch street. Thomas was driving northeast at the time. He told police, who took him to People's hospital, that another driver forced him into the safety island. Thomas is a mechanic and lives at 830 Waveland avenue.

Civic Federation Opposes Bill for a New City College

The Civic federation yesterday announced its opposition to a bill pending in the state legislature to set up a four year college in Chicago to be operated by the Chicago board of education. The federation asserted that the passage of the bill would add 2 million dollars a year to Chicago's tax bill and require an initial expenditure for buildings of 6 millions.

TITULESCU DIES; ONCE RUMANIAN FOREIGN MINISTER

BERNE, Switzerland, March 17 (AP).—Nicolas Titulescu, former foreign minister of Rumania, died tonight in Cannes, a dispatch from there said. He was 59 years old. He had suffered from anemia and nervous depression in recent years.

In August, 1936, Titulescu was ousted from the cabinet, presumably due to pressure from Fascist influences. He was a stalwart proponent of collective security. Banished from Rumania for three years, Titulescu returned to Bucharest in October, 1939, and presented King Carol with a report asserting friendship with France was wise and that good relations with Russia were still possible.

MRS. J. H. MOEKE, HOLLAND, DIES.

Producer Hal Roach's Wife Dies of Pneumonia

Hollywood, Cal., March 17 (AP).—Mrs. Marguerite O. Roach, wife of Hal Roach, veteran movie producer, died of pneumonia today. She was stricken last Tuesday, shortly after returning from a Honolulu vacation. Her husband, against whom she recently dropped a separate maintenance suit, was at her bedside. With him were their two children, Hal Jr., 21 years old, a director, and Margaret, 19, an actress.

KNUDSEN WARNS SKILLED LABOR POOL EBBS FAST

Asserts Plants Must Run to Capacity.

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—Industries engaged in armament work were reported officially today to be facing a rapidly dwindling supply of skilled labor at the very moment the government is preparing to increase armament orders more than 60 per cent.

William S. Knudsen.

To forestall an actual shortage of capable workmen, management and union representatives were urged by high administration officials to add a vast program of apprentice training to the routins of work-jammed factories.

William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, asked, too, that every manufacturing plant, including the small ones, having suitable machinery now idle, be enlisted in the armament program.

Says Contact Regional Offices.

He told how any factory owner can get in touch with the proper officials and find out the procedure for getting contracts.

"Write or go to the regional office of the defense contract service at the federal reserve bank or branch bank which serves the region in which you live," Knudsen said. "Your own bank can tell you the location of this federal reserve bank or branch bank."

In his statement he asked major contractors to sublet as much of the work as possible to smaller manufacturers.

"Spreading the armament job into every available plant is the best possible way to speed up urgently needed deliveries now and to increase total production," he said.

Capacity Operation Needed.

"Nothing short of the practical limit of our available productive capacity is sufficient for the job we have now undertaken."

The current labor situation was described when metal trades management and labor representatives, including shipbuilders and aircraft makers, conferred with Knudsen, Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM; Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and other officials.

Opening the conference, Knudsen asserted that the seven billion dollar British aid program, together with orders yet to be placed for United States military work, would require an increase of at least 60 per cent in the activity of the war materials industries.

Need 18 Billion Man-Hours.

The total of orders placed to date, he said, called for more than 18,000,000,000 man hours of work.

"We've got to go into production in America on a scale that has never even been approached before," Knudsen declared. "Our need for machinery, our need for ships, our need for propulsion machinery for ships and tanks and planes is so great that upon you will rest the responsibility of training more people in the shortest possible time in order that we may meet the deliveries that are so sorely needed both here and abroad."

The shipbuilding yards furnish one example of need for workers, Knudsen said. If the number of skilled workmen has to be spread out thinner in order to lay the keels of more ships, he said, the results may not be satisfactory.

Suggests Three Helpers Per Man.

He then urged shipbuilders specifically to "give every skilled man three helpers to learn his work" so that when the time for expansion comes there will be labor supplies available.

A. F. Hinrichs, acting commissioner of labor statistics, cited figures to show that pools of skilled men in armament industries were rapidly being exhausted. "We have lost much needed time," Hinrichs told the conferees, "but we still have some. Whether or not the job is done depends on you and you alone."

Steel Industry's Schedule Sets New 99.4 Pct. Peak

New York, March 17 (AP).—Steel production this week will reach 99.4 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated today, as the industry strained to utilize every piece of equipment. Current output will set a new record for the third week in a row with a rise of .6 of a point from last week. A month ago output was at 94.6 per cent of capacity and a year ago 62.4 per cent.

Await Further British Sales of U. S. Assets

The British owned properties in this country that may go under the hammer were the subject of interest yesterday in financial quarters. The sale of the American Viscose corporation, subsidiary of an English concern, to a New York banking syndicate was announced Sunday.

With this sale the British treasury began the liquidation of direct investments in the United States valued at $900,000,000 as of last Jan. 1. Sir Edward Peacock, a director of the Bank of England, is in Washington as a special representative of the British treasury to negotiate the sale of the assets.

British corporations and individuals own manufacturing plants, insurance companies, sales branches, distilleries, farm lands, cotton plantations, and cattle ranches in this country.

Further Sales Indicated.

Altho Sir Edward did not reveal what other companies the British were offering, he indicated that there would be further sales. Among the American subsidiaries or affiliates of British companies which may enter Sir Edward's deliberations with prospective buyers the following have been mentioned [parent company in brackets]:

Insurance Holdings Large.

The British direct holdings include investments in the textile, chemical, oil, rayon, tobacco, soap, distilling, and food industries, but the most valuable group are the fire, marine, and casualty insurance companies.

The largest American branches of English insurance companies include the Commercial Union, Liverpool and London and Globe, London and Lancashire, London Assurance, North British, Pearl, Phoenix, Royal Insurance, Scottish Union, Employers' Liability, General Accident, European General, London Guarantee and Ocean Accident.

Altho the sale of American Viscose was made to an investment banking group headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. and Dillon, Read & Co., it was intimated that several groups of investment trusts are continuing negotiations begun with Sir Edward more than a month ago.

STEEPEST ADVANCES OF YEAR RECORDED IN BUTTER, EGG FUTURES

Distant deliveries of butter and egg futures shot up for the largest advances of the year in heavy trading yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The November butter contract soared 0.95 cent a pound to a peak of 32 cents before profit selling cut the closing gain to 0.45 cent at 31.50 cents. Sales of that contract involving 1,344,000 pounds, were the largest of the year.

October eggs opened 0.80 cent a dozen higher at a three year top of 21.75 cents and closed with a net gain of 0.55 cent at 21.50 cents.

Traders were unable to explain the steep climb of November butter, but attributed strength to the rise in egg futures to the severe cold, relatively high government prices for country purchases, and boosts of ½ to 1 cent a dozen in the cash market.

3 SEIZED IN PLOT TO SELL FAKE OIL EXPORT ORDERS

New York, March 17 (AP).—Federal officials announced today three men had been arrested in connection with a reported plan to float false certificates permitting delivery of Texas crude oil to purchasing commissions of foreign governments.

Assistant United States Attorney Maxwell S. McKnight said the plan had gone so far that Japanese interests had negotiated for 5,000,000 barrels of crude oil for $5,750,000. No money actually was received by the men arrested, McKnight said.

Januar D. Bove, 44, of New York, a broker, was arrested here and held in $6,000 bail for grand jury action on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. McKnight said that Robert H. Lightfoot, 40, was arrested in Dallas, Tex., and Harry Bergman in San Francisco. The latter two were described as presidents of oil companies.

McKnight said Japanese officials, in negotiating for oil, gas, steel, and cotton, had arranged with New York banking instutions to set up a $25,000,000 fund, with Japanese government bonds deposited as collateral.

WARTIME CURBS SURMOUNTED BY INT. NICKEL CO.

Sales, Production Set Records.

Many of the world markets of International Nickel company of Canada, Ltd., were cut off in 1940 by the war, and its business was regulated by the Canadian and British governments. Despite all this, sales and output of metals established records, Robert C. Stanley, chairman and president, said yesterday in his annual report to stockholders. The report showed taxes nearly doubled, but profit dipped only moderately.

Robert C. Stanley.

Arms needs of the British, Canadian and American governments were "fully and promptly met," and the company progressed with an expansion program.

Supplies U. S. and Britain.

"Primarily, all efforts are being directed toward meeting the war requirements of his majesty's governments, and the program for defense of the United States and aid to Britain," Stanley asserted.

"The company's business was conducted under wartime conditions during the entire year. World markets which had been developed thru years of technical effort were lost temporarily and the company's activities were restricted to the British empire and the western hemisphere. All sales of nickel, copper and platinum metals in these remaining markets were made under government permits with full approval of the Canadian and British authorities.

Profit Is 35½ Millions.

Profit declined to $33,544,772, equal to $2.30 a common share, from $36,847,466, or $2.39 a share, in 1939. The following table gives comparisons of earnings, taxes, and other data for 1940, 1939, and also 1937, which was a temporary recovery year [all monetary figures in the company's report are United States dollars]:

Treasury Halves Bill Offers; Reveals Loan Plans Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—After this week the treasury will revert to issuance of 100 million dollars in bills weekly instead of 200 millions, as was done in the last two weeks, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today.

Details of the financing for 500 million dollars in "new money" and refunding of 504 million of 1⅜ per cent notes which mature on June 15 will be announced on Wednesday, Morgenthau said. Except for an offering on behalf of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in April and the weekly bill offerings there will be no more financing until May 1, when the big drive for armament funds begins. The amount of the RFC financing has not been determined, Morgenthau said.

No Tax Requests Made.

As far as taxes are concerned, Morgenthau declared that the treasury had not been requested yet to give congress recommendations on a new tax bill, which is expected to raise upward of 1½ billion dollars to help finance war aid to Britain and the domestic armament program.

Morgenthau said that he has received word from Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, that a tax bill cannot be considered before April 1 because of pending legislation. This will give the treasury time to analyze the March 15 quarterly instalments on 1940 federal taxes.

No definite recommendations on new taxes have been formulated nor discussed with congressional taxmakers, Morgenthau indicated. However, President Roosevelt reiterated Saturday night that there will be higher taxes and reduction of profits.

Various Plans Mentioned.

Various proposals for increasing revenues have been mentioned. Among these are a flat tax of 1 to 10 per cent on gross salaries. A 5 per cent tax of this sort on weekly pay checks of $25 and up would raise 3½ billion dollars annually, according to some congressional sponsors.

Another suggestion is raising the normal income tax rate on individuals from 4 to as high as 10 per cent. Boosting the normal corporation income tax rate from 24 to 30 per cent or more is also under consideration. Tightening of the present tax of 25 to 50 per cent on what are considered excess profits of corporations also is believed a definite part of the program, altho this may come after income and excite taxes are disposed of. The excise, or nuisance taxes, come up for renewal prior to June 30.

BANKS LIFT VOLUME OF BUSINESS LOANS 24TH WEEK IN A ROW

Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans by reserve system member banks climbed $87,000,000 in the week ended last Wednesday, carrying the upward trend thru the 24th consecutive week, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The increase, said the board, reflected industrial activity in connection with the rearmament program. The total of the loans was $5,374,000,000, which represented a gain of about $1,000,000,000 over the volume reported for the corresponding date last year.

Following are the principal assets and liabilities of the federal reserve system member banks as at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

BILLS TO SPREAD ARMS CONTRACTS GIVEN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—Bills to create a commission to "farm out" military contracts to small factories and machine shops thruout the country wherever possible were introduced today in both houses of congress.

Under the measure, governmental loans for expansion of plants would be subject to approval of the commission, and loans would not be approved where subcontracting was found feasible as an alternative.

U. S. MAY BOOST PURCHASES OF CHILEAN COPPER

Kennecott President Predicts Trend.

With domestic production falling short of meeting increasing demands for copper under the armament program, the United States this year will draw upon Chile for larger supplies of the metal, E. T. Stannard, president of the Kennecott Copper corporation, predicted in his annual report yesterday.

In giving a general review of the copper situation, he also told stockholders that production of ore and copper and shipments of the metal during 1940 were the largest in the company's history. Kennecott, which operates mines in this country and Chile, ranks as the largest domestic producer of copper and is one of the two largest copper mining enterprises in the world.

"With the armament program gaining impetus, the demand for copper in the late months of 1940 considerably exceeded the supply from domestic sources," Stannard said.

Shares Large Order.

He reported that the Braden Copper company, a subsidiary which operates Chilean mines, will provide 57,000 of the 200,000 tons which Metals Reserve company, federal government agency, has ordered from Latin American sources. Chile's markets were limited last year because of the war, he said.

"With the entrance of Italy into the war and the military collapse of France in June, shipments to these countries were terminated," Stannard

Nurses are Nice . . .

. . . but the comfort they'd give you if tomorrow you were hospitalized would hardly compensate for the hundreds of dollars your disability could cost. Chances are you'd get well faster if all your expenses—doctor, hospital, nurse, x-ray, surgery, and others—were covered with adequate accident and sickness insurance.

Protection against financial loss resulting from disability is but one of the many ways in which Continental can serve you, your family, and your business. A pioneer in this field since 1897, Continental provides broad, low-cost protection against almost every conceivable hazard.

Ask your own agent or broker to give you full information about the complete range of insurance and bonding services offered you by this strong Chicago institution.

Plan now to minimize such troubles next year. Freedom from income tax confusion is one of the important advantages you enjoy when you use the Agency service of The Northern Trust Company.

Under an Agency arrangement, this fifty-year-old institution takes care of the burdensome details of security ownership, while you retain full control of your holdings. Interest and dividends are collected and promptly credited to your account. Orders for sale, purchase, or delivery are executed upon advice from you. You are offered the benefits of experienced management of all or part of your securities. And this service includes the keeping—in clear and convenient form—of the complete and accurate records you need to prepare future income tax returns.

OLD LINE MARKET FAVORITES DRIFT; PREFERREDS RISE

Senior Utility Shares Up on Power Outlook.

New York, March 17 (AP).—Senior utility issues pushed up as much as 3 points in today's stock market but many leaders were unable to extend Saturday's rally. Steel and shipbuilding stocks led an early advance, then backed away. Rails, motors, coppers, rubbers, and mail orders failed to get anywhere in particular.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 41.7. Dealings picked up in the forenoon, but slackened as prices wavered.

Utility preferred stocks apparently reflected the brightening outlook for this industry as power needs expand in line with heavier armament spending. Favorable earnings reports brought in modest bidding for individual stocks.

Mounting Taxes Curb Buying.

On the other hand, thoughts of mounting taxes continued as a speculative handicap and many potential buyers seemingly held aloof because of the cloudier war outlook and fears this country might become involved in the conflict.

This week's steel mill operations advanced to a new record high but Bethlehem was the only prominent stock in this group to emerge with a plus sign. United States Steel and Youngstown Sheet finished lower. Part of the diffidence exhibited in this group was attributed to possible labor difficulties.

Anaconda ended unchanged at 24⅝. Blyth & Co. offered 140,000 shares of this issue for private purchase after the close at the final quotation. The block was understood to have represented British holdings.

CHICAGO LIST FALTERS.

Stocks on the Chicago Stock exchange ended on a downward slant yesterday after opening unchanged to fractionally higher. Of the 80 active issues, 31 declined, 25 advanced, and 24 closed unchanged. Transfers totaled 16,000 shares.

North American Car, one of the volume leaders, set a 1941 high at 7⅝, up ⅛. William Oil-O-Matic also established a new record at 2¾, up ¼. Aviation corporation, the trading favorite, closed at 3⅞, unchanged, in turnover of 1,050 shares.

Only two dually listed issues traded from 2 to 3 o'clock recorded changes from the New York close, both gaining ⅛ point. W. B. Jarvis finished at 12⅜ and Swift & Co. at 22½.

BANK STOCKS

Harris Trust shares, selling ex-dividend, and Northern Trust were each 3 points lower yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Issues of the other larger banks were unchanged.

WESSON PLEADS TO END DELAYS IN ARMS PROGRAM

Warns Against Difficulties Arising in Future.

Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, the army's ordnance chief, last night reported that delays already had cropped up in the armament program, pleaded that selfishness not be allowed to add to the difficulties, and urged that the vast arms producing facilities now being created be retained after the emergency has passed.

Gen. C. M. Wesson.

He spoke before 1,200 business men at a dinner meeting sponsored by the Army Ordnance association, the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association.

Other speakers were Fred A. Preston, chief of the army's civilian controled Chicago ordnance district; James S. Knowlson, president of the Stewart-Warner corporation; Robert M. Gaylord, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and Lieut. Col. L. A. Codd, editor of the publication, Army Ordnance.

Warns of Interference.

Gen. Wesson warned against future difficulties which he said "may interfere seriously with our production program."

"Delays are beginning to crop up in a number of instances, due principally to the failure to obtain scheduled deliveries of machine tools and special equipment," he said. "Intelligent use of priorities is essential.

"We are coming to grips with these real interferences, and are hopeful that no artificial interferences will be added. I refer to delays arising out of selfishness, fear or arrogance on the part of government, or on the part of management or labor.

"All hands have to realize at once that there must be teamwork. Our national security is serious business and only serious people have the slightest warrant for being connected with it at all."

Geared to Larger Army.

Gen. Wesson said that the present ordnance and plant constructive program was based on the objective of providing equipment for an army of two million men, altho an army as large as this has not been authorized.

"If we, after the world war had held on to our productive capacity in noncommercial items instead of scrapping the plants, our present task would be much lighter," he said.

"The plant facilities now being built should be retained in stand-by condition to meet our armament needs for years to come. As their machinery becomes obsolete it should be replaced. We should consider such expenditures of public funds on a par with the replacement of obsolete destroyers, battleships, airplanes or guns."

Gen. Wesson expressed the hope that private industry would continue to operate the factories newly built for armament production. He said he favored government plants only when "absolutely necessary."

Exceeds Hopes, Says Preston.

"The question of profits has become secondary to accomplishment," Preston said. "I doubt if the most optimistic had any idea how our free institutions could concentrate on our defense production — how almost everything else could become of passing importance — personnel, plants, laboratories, money—all directed unselfishly into this effort. It is succeeding beyond our most hopeful imagination."

Knowlson told of how Stewart-Warner, which has received a substantial amount of government orders, adapted its facilities for turning out military products. He termed the American machinist "a great guy" in helping smooth out production problems.

Gaylord said that "one most important task we now have is to so manage our businesses that the chances of disappointments or disaffections, which lead to strikes, will be lessened."

Lieut. Col. Codd described the membership and purpose of the Army Ordnance association, a national organization of 8,000 executives and engineers interested in "keeping alive" the armament facilities of the country.

DEPOSITS OF ILLINOIS STATE BANKS CLIMB 125 MILLIONS IN YEAR

Springfield, Ill., March 17 (AP).—The state auditor's office reported today that deposits in Illinois' 502 state banks totaled $1,366,838,085 last year, ah increase of approximately $125,000,000 over the 1939 total of $1,241,894,168.

Total current income of the banks last year was $33,188,687, compared with $23,188,687 the year before. However, despite an increase of approximately $35,000,000 in securities holdings, bond income declined from $13,788,017 in 1939 to $12,881,487 last year. Loan income increased to $11,718,304 from $10,787,515.

Total operating expenses in 1940 were $23,163,298 compared with $22,607,430 for 1939. Losses were $7,118,730 last year compared with $8,690,232. The net left to undivided profits was $9,313,355 and in 1939 the net was $8,690,149.

2 NEW DIRECTORS OF CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY NAMED

James M. Miller was elected vice president and general counsel of the Chicago City Railway company yesterday and was also named a director, replacing the late Harry P. Weber in both positions.

Shareholders at their annual meeting elected Guy M. Peters, an attorney, as director of the company to replace John W. Kearns. Harvey B. Fleming, president, and other officers and directors were reëlected.

For the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 the company had a net loss of $443,342. The loss in the preceding year was $764,941. Fleming said that work on the subway "has seriously damaged the company's property."

V. L. & A. SPORTS STORE OPENS IN ITS NEW HOME

Harrison Buys Gold Shells from 50 Year Old Firm.

Von Lengerke & Antoine, Chicago sporting goods company started 50 years ago, yesterday opened its new six story home at 9 North Wabash avenue, with facilities much larger than at the former location at 33 South Wabash avenue.

The new building is one of the few other than "taxpayers" [small structures to earn taxes on the property] that have been erected in the loop in recent years. Along with the retail sales departments, the company's mail order facilities are housed in the new building.

The company occupies seven and one-third floors, counting the basement and mezzanine, in the new building, which is 180 by 45 feet. The old quarters were in four and one-third floors of a structure 180 by 40 feet.

Needs for All Sports.

The new building, which incorporates suggestions of department heads for the convenience of customers, houses equipment for every sport, from the billion dollar fishing sport with more than 12 million enthusiasts to hunting, golf, tennis, baseball, and football.

Jacques de La Chapelle, vice president of the company and son-in-law of its co-founder, Charles Antoine, is in charge of the store.

The store includes a number of new features in merchandise display, construction, and lighting. The paneling and design of the interior has an old world atmosphere. The clocks on each floor have dials decorated with pictures of game birds, animals, and other subjects. All of the display cases have been built with the newest type fluorescent lighting.

Displays Among Largest.

In some of the departments the size of the merchandise displays establish new records for American sporting goods stores, it was said. For example: the gun department on the second floor has one of the largest collections of sporting firearms in the world with 592 different kinds of rifles and shotguns.

On hand for the opening were many old customers and friends, including Carter Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago. The former mayor, at present collector of internal revenue, became the first customer of the new store when he purchased a box of gold plated cartridges specially made for the occasion by the Remington Arms company.

Bankers' Bills Show First Decline Since September

New York, March 17 [Special].—Bankers' dollar acceptances outstanding at the end of February totaled $211,865,000, the Federal Reserve bank of New York reported today. The figure was $912,000 below that of January, and was the first decline since last September. A small increase in acceptances issued to finance exports, however, was the first since last May. The total volume was $21,150,000 less than at the end of February, 1940.

MILWAUKEE ROAD PUSHES APPEAL ON CAPITAL PLAN

Terms Action at This Time Premature.

Submission of a reorganization plan for the Milwaukee railroad to its creditors at this time before appeals have been determined "is premature and unauthorized," attorneys for the railroad said yesterday in an answer filed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

The answer was made in opposition to motions filed by the Interstate Commerce commission, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, banks and other large investors, asking that a stay order granted by the court Feb. 18 to halt voting on the plan be dissolved.

Approved by Court.

The reorganization plan as submitted by the ICC has been approved in federal court on Nov. 13. Under it all equity of the stockholders was wiped out.

Terming the plan unfair, the railroad appealed. Appeals also were taken by holders of the general mortgage bonds, preferred stockholders, some of the holders of the road's adjustment bonds, and the trustee under the general mortgage bonds.

However, before the appeals could be perfected and heard in court, the ICC announced that it would submit the plan to the road's creditors for a vote. If they approved the plan would become effective, providing appeals were unsuccessful.

Vote Is Delayed.

On Feb. 17 the railroad asked the court to issue a stay order halting the vote on the plan until the appeals could come before the court. The order was issued and the vote held up. Ten days ago the ICC, RFC, and others asked that the stay order be dissolved.

"There is evidence those opposition groups desire to push thru a plan openly favoring them even if it necessitates riding roughshod over idividual creditors," attorneys for the road stated in their answer. "We fail to see how any party would be injured by maintaining the stay order and delaying submission of the reorganization plan until the appeals have been determined."

said. "Altho these foreign outlets have been lost, the United States promises to be a larger consumer of Chilean copper in 1941, since domestic mines cannot supply the total requirements needed for civilian consumption and the armament program.

The company's 1940 net income, largest since 1937, amounted to $43,837,330, equal to $4.05 a share, compared with $33,947,443, or $3.14 a share, in 1939.

Gold Production Gains.

Production of gold, silver, and molybdenite showed a substantial gain over 1939, Stannard reported. How production and shipments of copper have increased was shown in the following table [000 omitted]:

	Tons ore treated.	Lbs. copper produced.	Lbs. copper delivered against sales.
1940	43,784	962,481	947,551
1939	34,530	763,509	807,116

1932	8,472	225,057	262,888
1929	35,929	767,408	741,985

Stannard said that 1940 production at the company's Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and New Mexico properties came to 721,766,162 pounds, making an average of slightly more than 30,000 tons a month. The company's general offices are in New York City.

Holding Company Reports.

The North American company, holding company controling large utility operations, reported consolidated net income of $20,316,500, equal to $1.92 a share, for 1940. The 1939 income was $20,718,862, or $1.99 a share.

"In their major fields of operations our subsidiaries reached new peaks of electric output and revenues," Edward L. Shea, president, said. "Even tho net earnings were somewhat lower than in 1939, the record shows greater service to consumers and forward planning to make sure that no power bottlenecks occur to hinder the armament program."

The Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., realized January net income of $588,115, compared with $657,749 a year earlier. Both figures were after adjustments in connection with the company's air conditioning investment.

Futures Trade in Grease Wool Starts on New York Exchange

New York, March 17 (AP).—About 750,000 pounds of wool still attached to live sheep's hides were traded today in the nation's newest market—the grease wool futures division of the New York Cotton exchange.

This is enough wool to furnish the uniforms for 5,000 United States soldiers, and present operations of the textile industry indicate all the wool traded today may be devoted to army use. [Wool men say it takes 146 pounds of grease wool to supply the uniform requirements of one soldier.]

Start Trading at Noon.

Trading in future deliveries of grease wool, which is the product just as it is shorn from sheep and before processing, began at noon.

Frank J. Knell, president of the Wool Associates, a division of the cotton exchange, and J. H. Mehl, chief of the Federal Commodity Exchange administration, took part in the ceremony opening the new market.

Mehl asserted the new futures market would give wool growers more opportunity to participate in trading.

First Sale at 97 Cents.

Knell bought the first contract, 6,000 pounds, for May delivery at 97 cents a pound. Other contracts were placed at 95 cents a pound for July delivery and at 94 cents a pound for October.

Before the final bell rang, 121 contracts had been bought and sold, with all but the October delivery slipping in price. May closed at 96.3 cents bid and July closed at 94.8 bid.

The grease wool prices consistently ranged 23 to 28 cents below prices on the same months for "wool tops," the semiprocessed wool which has been traded on a futures basis for many years. The spread represents the cost of cleaning and otherwise processing wool before it can be converted into yarn.

HOG PRICES SOAR 15 TO 25 CENTS; REACH $8.25 TOP

The sharpest advance in 38 days occurred in the hog market at the stockyards yesterday. Top loads of young hogs reached $8.25 a hundred pounds, the highest price paid since Feb. 7. The average for the session was 20 cents higher at $7.80.

Buyers and sellers attributed the lively action in the market to an abrupt drop in receipts as a result of the week-end storms and cold wave, recent advances in lard prices, and a rise of 50 cents to $1.50 a hundred pounds in fresh pork prices.

Broader buying orders came into the cattle market for steers and yearlings. Prices were strong to slightly higher. Prime 1,289 pound averages reached the $15 top, equaling the highest cattle price in 26 days.

Strong to 10 cents higher prices were paid for fat lambs, with the best loads reaching $11.25 equaling the highest lamb price since last July.

Cattle receipts, 12,000; shipments, 2,500.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES CHICAGO MILK UNION PLEA

Washington, D. C., March 17 (AP).—The Supreme court refused today to reconsider its Feb. 10 decision holding that picketing "blended with violence" may be enjoined. A local of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union of Chicago sought reconsideration of the decision which enjoined it from picketing retail stores selling the product of a "cut rate" dairy.

Joseph Padway, counsel for the American Federation of Labor, asserted in the petition that the ruling "will serve to encourage employers to attempt to solve their economic problems by seeking an injunction instead of competing in the market place or resorting to the aid of the legislature."

In another ruling the court refused to reconsider its Feb. 17 decision holding constitutional provisions of the Iowa use tax act which requires out of state corporations to collect a 2 per cent tax on mail order sales to Iowans. A rehearing was sought by Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co.

WASTE MATERIAL DEALERS DEVOTE SESSION TO ARMS

Hundreds of members of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers registered yesterday at the opening of a three day national convention at which problems in connection with the armament program are being discussed.

Today Donald Wallace of the Office of Production Management at Washington, D. C., will address the convention, which is being held at the Hotel Sherman. Tomorrow W. L. Finger, also of the OPM, will speak.

"A critical situation has developed with regard to the supply of such important scrap metals as aluminum, zinc, and copper," C. M. Haskins of New York, managing director of the association, said.

RETAIL TRADE RISES TO 10 YEAR PEAK IN 1940 AT 45½ BILLIONS

New York, March 17 (AP).—Retail trade in the United States totaled $45,500,000,000 last year, establishing a 10 year record, the National Industrial Conference board estimated today.

This record, previously surpassed only in 1929 and 1930, compared with retail sales of $42,000,000,000 in 1939.

The board, a research organization sponsored by private industry, said the 1940 total was only 6 per cent smaller than the peak reached in 1929 and added: "In view of the circumstances that retail prices were lower in 1929, it is apparent that in physical volume 1940 retail trade was larger than in 1929.

"That this is actually the case is further indicated by the number of employés reported in retail stores, which in 1940 amounted to about 5,300,000, compared with about 4,300,000 in 1929."

GLOVE COMPANY CITED IN LABOR BARGAINING ROW

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday ordered the Boss Manufacturing company and three of its officers held in contempt for allegedly refusing to bargain with a labor union under an order originally issued by the National Labor Relations board.

Thomas R. Stokes, president; Thomas H. Blair, vice president, and C. W. White, superintendent, were cited. The Boss plant is in Kewanee, Ill. The Chicago office is at 222 West Adams street.

After citing a series of instances in which the company reputedly declined to enter into a bargaining agreement with the union, the Appeals court opinion declared, "such an attitude shows a total want of good faith, and makes genuine collective bargaining impossible. Mere pretended bargaining will not suffice."

The union involved is local No. 85 of the International Glove Makers of America [AFL]. The dispute dates to Aug. 27, 1937 when the labor board, after a hearing, ordered the company to bargain with the union.

COAL CONFEREES STILL SEEKING A 'STARTING POINT'

New York, March 17 (AP).—Joint labor-management negotiators for the nation's soft coal industry today were still seeking a common ground on which to debate demands of approximately 450,000 miners for a $1 a day wage increase.

A subcommittee representing bituminous operators in the eight state Appalachian area and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] announced that it had reached no decision of any kind and probably would have to continue preliminary discussions for at least two more days before attempting to compose differences on wage proposals.

The operators propose to continue the present contract for two more years after April 1. Miners, thru their president, John L. Lewis, demand the wage increase, 200 guaranteed work days a year, and paid vacations.

50 YEAR OLD SHIP FIRM MAKES 1ST INCOME REPORT

New York, March 17 (AP).—The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company today made public for the first time an annual report of operations which showed a 1940 profit of $4,383,176, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $4.97 a share on the common stock.

The company has been operating for more than 50 years but it was privately owned until August, 1940, when a syndicate of investment firms acquired control and distributed securities to the public. A report released at the time of this transfer showed 1939 net income of $2,480,111.

Mexico Reported Seeking to Buy Rayon from Japan

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (AP).—The Mexican rayon control agency is negotiating for purchase of about 6,500,000 pounds of rayon from Japan, it was learned today. Mexico is turning to Japan for rayon because the European war has terminated a barter deal with Italy. Mexican sources said American rayon cost more than the Japanese product.

CUNEO PAYS $3 TAXES FOR EACH $2 IN DIVIDENDS

Net Earnings Dip to $3.10 Per Common Share.

Cuneo Press, Inc., Chicago, paid $916,358 to various taxing bodies in 1940, compared with $644,831 paid in dividends to stockholders whose investment made the business possible, the annual report of the president, John F. Cuneo, showed yesterday.

John F. Cuneo.

As taxes went up [the 1939 tax bill was $737,506], profit dipped with consolidated net earnings last year amounting to $1,216,714, against $1,330,470 in 1939, Cuneo reported. Per share earnings on the common stock were $3.10 last year and $3.41 in 1939. Taxes in the respective years were equivalent to $2.67 and $2.06 on the common. The company paid the regular dividends of $6.50 a share on the preferred stock and $1.50 a share on the common.

Current Profits Steady.

Cuneo reported that "profits for the first quarter of 1941 will be in line with those for the first quarter of 1940," and said all of the company's important contracts expiring in 1940 were renewed.

Additions to equipment made during the year "should add to the company's profits in future years," Cuneo said, describing the machinery buying policy as follows:

"During 1940 the company departed from its policy of limiting its purchases of new equipment to amounts approximating depreciation charges, and extended $1,376,917 in the purchase of new equipment.

Machinery Hard to Get.

"The wisdom of this policy has been demonstrated, since, because of the government armament program, printing and binding machinery equipment is difficult to secure, and when secured is only had after delayed deliveries."

SOY BEANS RISE HIGHEST SINCE LAST NOVEMBER

Soy beans developed independent strength after an early dip yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, and advanced around 2½ cents a bushel to the highest prices since last November. May sold at $1.63¼ at one time, or within 1¾ cents of the seasonal high. Closing trades were ⅝ cent higher.

Short covering and a ⅛ cent a pound rise in soy bean oil was responsible for the rapid upturn in beans, brokers said.

Wheat showed an easy undertone and closed ⅞ to 1 cent lower on selling induced by an inconclusive conference in Washington Saturday between administration officials and the congressional farm bloc, which is seeking higher loan levels on the 1941 crops.

Corn was firm thruout the day and closed ¼ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye was ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower.

CHECK VOLUME FALLS IN WEEK BUT TOPS 1940

Business done by check thru member banks of the federal reserve system in the week ended March 12 aggregated $8,914,000,000, the federal reserve board announced yesterday. This compared with $10,329,000,000 in the preceding week and $8,383,000,000 in the corresponding week last year.

In the seventh [Chicago] reserve area bank debits to deposit accounts last week totaled $1,285,169,000, compared with $1,527,898,000 in the preceding week and $1,129,404,000 in the corresponding 1940 week. For the last 13 weeks debits in the seventh district were 11.6 per cent above a year ago.

In the city of Chicago, member banks reported deposit account debits totaled $693,680,000 last week compared with $657,814,000 a year ago.

RAILS BOLSTER BOND MARKET WITH FAIR RISE

New York, March 17 (AP). — Quiet buying bolstered the rail division of the bond market today. Several speculative industrials and utilities followed the upturn. Gains generally were limited to fractions.

Buying of rail lines apparently was motivated by recently published statistical analyses predicting large increases in net income on the basis of expected 1941 gross traffic.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Pride of the Farm

March 17, 1941.

THE pride of the Fox River farm is the splendid Aberdeen-Angus breeding herd that has been built up since 1934. The herd consists of 77 breeding cows and 21 heifers being raised for inclusion in the herd.

There is a total of 130 Angus on the farm, however, counting the fattening steers in the feed lot and the steer calves from the 1940 calf crop.

The herd was founded seven years ago with the purchase of 10 purebred cows. Since then a few more have been bought, but in the main the herd has grown thru keeping the promising heifer calves. Of the 77 breeding cows, 44 are to calve this month and next. The remaining 33 are heifers bred in November and December. The average gestation period of a cow is 283 days.

17 Steers on Heavy Feed.

Of last year's calf crop, 17 steers are in the feed lot on heavy feed. The farm manager hopes to have the young steers grow fat instead of first getting their growth and then putting on weight. To do this the steers were grained as soon as they were taken from their mothers. Altho they were born last May, they weigh about 450 pounds each.

The heifer calves from last year's crop have been separated from the steers and are being fed about 5½ bushels of oats, all the hay they need, and a little silage. The farm manager plans to keep all of them and put them into the breeding herd. This will increase the number of breeding cows to 98. Breeding herds of this size are relatively scarce in the corn belt, as most farmers buy their feeding cattle from western ranges instead of raising them.

The cows are given excellent care. Each is fed about 30 pounds of corn silage a day, along with all the hay they can clean up. During the day they wander into the fields, where they work over stalk fields and an old hay field. On their way out they often linger around the straw stack, eating some for roughage, and using the stack as a windbreak. The farm hands are careful to see that the cows get plenty of exercise so they will have strong calves. Lack of proper exercise can cause considerable trouble when calving time comes.

Kept in Good Flesh.

The cows are kept in good flesh, having plenty to eat and easy access to water and salt. The farm manager is anxious that they do not get too fat, as a heavy cow becomes lazy and is not likely to produce a vigorous calf. The cows are not fed grain, as it is not only unnecessary but also expensive.

In the feed lot are 15 Angus steers from the 1939 calf crop. These cattle were pastured thru summer and allowed to get a cheap growth. In November they were placed in the lot and put on full feed.

They are getting 16 pounds of shelled corn, 10 pounds of silage, and all the clover and timothy hay they want. They average about 900 pounds now, and probably will be ready for market in 60 or 90 days, depending on the market and how well finished they look at the time.

COTTON

Heavy commission house and professional selling developed yesterday in the cotton market following the announcement that President Roosevelt is opposed to parity prices for the 1941 crop. Bombay interests were credited with early sales of 20,000 bales. While the market rallied at one time, it weakened and closing trades were near the bottom with losses of .19 to .30 cent a pound, the latter equal to $1.50 a bale. New crop months led the decline

Exports of cotton last week were 17,200 bales, including 4,300 bales to the United Kingdom and 6,900 bales to Indo-China. During the corresponding week last year exports aggregated 161,000 bales.

Cash cotton closed .20 to .31 cent lower, with New York, 10.95 cents; New Orleans, 10.68 cents; Houston, 10.40 cents, and Galveston at 10.33 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

WESTERN AND SOUTHERN.

I read an advertisment of the Western and Southern Life Insurance company and became interested in an insurance plan it described. Will you please send me a brief report on the company?—G. B.

Answer: Fifty-three years old last month, the Western and Southern Life Insurance company is controled by the Charles F. Williams family of Cincinnati, O. It writes ordinary and industrial insurance on a nondividend basis.

	Admitted Assets.	Insurance in Force.
1936	$153,527,000	$809,255,000
1937	163,928,000	868,875,000
1938	171,599,000	881,096,000
1939	180,805,000	938,674,000
1940	188,772,000	993,553,000

Capitalization of the company is 20 million dollars. Surplus at the end of 1940 was $7,787,481 compared with $6,383,923 at the end of 1939.

BROKERAGE BANK.

What is meant by a "brokerage bank"? Are there any in existence? —M. G.

Answer: The formation of a brokerage bank that would act as a central depository and lending agency for stock brokerage firms has been proposed. The bank would assume the banking and custodial functions now performed by the brokers themselves in handling margin accounts and other customer business. It would also hold customers' idle funds and securities and make loans on margin.

Such a bank, altho discussed in the financial community, has never been established. It was proposed by Securities and Exchange commission officials as a measure to safeguard customer funds and securities against loss thru stock brokers' insolvencies.

After the Whitney defalcations William O. Douglas, then chairman of the SEC, proposed such a bank in May, 1938. The proposal was renewed more than a year later by Jerome Frank, Douglas' successor as SEC chairman.

A public examining board appointed by the president of the New York Stock exchange studied the suggestion and reported in 1939 that the brokerage bank, altho ingeniously conceived, was not feasible.
